PRIMATE IN NEW PERIL

Archbishop Mora May be Tried

Mexican Officials Suspect Violation of Law in Prelate's Words

Church Restriction Eased as Catholics Placed on Control Boards

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12. (AP)—The possible arrest and trial of the most Reverend Mora y del Rio, venerable archbishop of Mexico and the most prominent personage of the Catholic church in this country, was the chief topic discussed by Catholics today.

The talk was occasioned by a statement from the Ministry of Interior that an asserted interview given by the archbishop to an American newspaper is to be investigated by the Attorney-General on the ground that it may have violated the Constitution. The special clause cited is that which prohibits clergymen from criticising the fundamental laws of the Mexican government.

Reporting of a concession on the part of the government is seen in connection with the committal of the Mayor of Mexico City having charge of the Catholic churches from which the priests were driven on July 31, simultaneously with the going into effect of the new regulations. The Mayor has stated that these committees may be composed of five citizens appointed by the municipality and of five others. Up to now the committees have been made up only of municipal appointees.

HAY BEER AMENDMENT

The religious situation continues unabated, and the archbishop says that the boycott of the League for the Defense of Religious Liberty fails to force the government to yield, it does not yield otherwise. the boycott will continue deadlocked indefinitely, because the archbishop will not accept papal instructions not to do so, under any circumstances, the ecclesiastical regulations.

The only course left then, the archbishop says, is an attempt to obtain amendment to the Constitution. This requires a two-thirds' vote of the National Congress and approval by a majority of the State legislatures.

A commission of experts appointed by the Department of Agriculture recently has begun its investigation of the economic situation in an effort to find a solution to the exchange disorders, brought on by the depreciation of silver currency and the general business depression. Although reports coming from various sections of the country indicate that the boycott, by which many Catholics are showing their disapproval of the religious regulations is adding to the already bad financial and business situations the government does not admit that the church is responsible for the apparent failure of the commission.

Arrest in Mexico Brings Action

Sheffield Intercedes in Behalf of Angeleno Held Week Without Hearing

Kellogg Planning His First Official Notice of Church Complication Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Two developments turned the attention of the State Department toward Mexico today as Secretary Kellogg was preparing to leave for White Pine Camp to talk over departmental problems with President Coolidge. Ambassador Sheffield reported that he has interceded with the Mexican Foreign Office on behalf of another imprisoned American, J. H. Grande of Los Angeles, who was arrested a week ago and held without hearing on a charge of fraud in connection with banana sales.

While officials were assessing the possible consequences of that incident, Mr. Kellogg made an appointment for tomorrow which will give the American government its first official contact with the religious controversy in Mexico. He arranged to see J. J. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, and receive from him a resolution adopted at the recent Philadelphia convention of the order, asking that the United States intervene to protect Catholic churchmen in their dispute with President Calles.

REPORT TO COOLIDGE

Doubtless both of these subjects, as well as the uncompleted negotiations with the Mexico City government over the new oil and land laws, will be discussed by Secretary Kellogg with his chief during the four or five days he will spend at the Summer White House. He plans to leave Washington Saturday morning, and remain at White Pine Camp until Wednesday, when he is to speak at Plattsburgh, N. Y. He will probably return to the camp on Thursday for further conference before he returns to the capital to meet Ambassador Sheffield, who is to reach Washington late next week.

Meantime the department will seek further information about the imprisonment of Grande. The only charge against him reported to Washington is that of violating the Mexican constitution.

The Secretary will receive the Knights of Columbus official tomorrow at the instance of the President, who referred the petition for government intervention to the State Department.

Many other communications regarding the religious conflict have reached the department, but there has been no indication thus far that officials are preparing to take any action. They have regarded the controversy as a domestic issue to be settled by Mexico herself.

Nor is there any indication here of a stiffening of the government's attitude in the oil land controversy.

CUMMINS'S DAUGHTER CHIEF HEIR

Will of Late Iowa Senator Bequeaths Estate Valued at Approximately $50,000

DES MOINES (Iowa) Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Hollis A. Rawson of Des Moines, daughter of the late Senator Albert B. Cummins, is the chief heir to her father's estate, the value of which is believed to approximate $50,000, it became known this afternoon when the Cummins will was filed here for probate.

The Senator made five bequests to his sisters and grandsons. His sisters, Margaret R. Cummins and Annie R. Cummins, with whom he made his home, after the death of his wife, are each to receive $1500. Another sister, Louise McHenry, is bequeathed $1000, and the Senator's grandsons, Albert Cummins Rawson and Thomas Scott Rawson, are each to receive $1000.

"I make no bequest to my sisters Ella and Alice," the will said, "because I assume they are otherwise provided for and not because I have less affection for them. They are equally dear to me."

The Cummins estate is listed in the will as consisting chiefly of the homestead in Des Moines, 320 acres of Minnesota farm land worth from $35,000 to $40,000 at the time the will was drawn in September, 1920, but of less value now; securities and insurance aggregating $33,000, and the Senator's library of 4000 volumes in Des Moines and Washington.

The bulk of the estate, after specific bequests have been cared for, is to go to Mrs. Rawson. Mr. and Mrs. Rawson are named executors to serve without bond. Senator Cummins listed among the assets of the estate "certain notes of long standing," and provided that "such of them as are not paid in my lifetime and which antedate this will are to be canceled."

ALCOHOL TO BE HARMLESS

But New Process Will Make Industrial Output Smell Bad and Taste Worse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Something stronger than gasoline—just what has not been determined—is to be put in industrial alcohol in an effort to outwit the resourceful bootlegger. Prohibition officials reached this decision today, and passed on to government chemists the problem of finding an effective denaturing process. Whatever is used, it was predicted, probably will smell bad, and make the alcohol taste bad, but will be "harmless."

After a conference with Frank Dow, acting chief of the prohibition forces, and James M. Doran, chief chemist of the prohibition unit, Acting Secretary Winston of the Treasury admitted that gasoline and other ingredients put in industrial alcohol to render it unfit for beverage use had not proven sufficient deterrents to crafty bootleggers, and that a new denaturing substance must be found.

The problem of working out a new and effective formula is one of the many, connected with prohibition enforcement, which will confront Assistant Secretary Andrews, chief of the prohibition forces, on his return to Washington tomorrow from his mission to London.

Andrews has been emphatic in declaring that the government has not sought to treat industrial alcohol so as to make it deadly if used as a base for bootleg liquor, and it is the intention of prohibition officers to guard against adoption of a denaturing formula that would prove so.

Wood alcohol, gasoline, kerosene and pyridines, officials insist, are now used in such insignificant quantities in denaturing alcohol that they would not poison drinkers even if not eliminated from it.

Doran informed Secretary Winston today that the recent order to place one-half gallon "approved gasoline," in each 100 gallons of industrial alcohol was proving more effective than any of the other denaturing substances, but that the bootleg chemist was gradually finding means to eliminate it.

PANIC HURTS SPECTATORS OF OIL FIRE

Blazing Liquid Boils Over at Kansas Tank Farm and Crowd Runs in Terror

CANEY (Kan.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Several persons were injured and a small panic started at 8:30 o'clock here tonight when the burning oil tank at the Prairie Oil and Gas Company's farm near here boiled over, sending burning oil several hundred feet in the air.

The 35,000-barrel tank, which was struck by lightning and set afire early this morning, had attracted nearly 2000 persons to the scene. Cars were parked near-by, the curious spectators flocked into the farm and efforts of employees to keep them back were futile.

When the tank boiled over the spectators near it began to run, the owners of the cars started them up, a number of teams ran away, and in the confusion that resulted several persons were burned and trampled.

None of those injured is thought to be in a serious condition. Three received treatment here, several were treated at Tyro and a number went to Coffeyville to obtain treatment for minor burns and bruises.

Workers at the farm believed tonight they had the fire under control. There are 124 tanks of 35,000-barrel capacity on the farm. Steam was being pumped into those nearest the fire and an effort was being made to transfer some of the oil to tanks in a more remote position.

Officials of the oil company estimated damage done so far at $91,500.

CHINESE VICTIM OF TONG WAR DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Victim of a tong war on the Pacific Coast, Chin Fook Sing, 60-year-old Chinese, died today in a hospital at San Mateo. Chin, a member of the Bing Kong Tong, was shot last night by two Chinese youths in the kitchen of a Menlo Park hotel where he was employed.

JOHN D. HEIR AFOUL OF LAW

Four Thousand Seven Hundred and Sixty-two Dimes Go to Pay Customs Fine

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Uncle Sam dipped a punitive hand into the Rockefeller millions today to withdraw $476.20 as penalty for the attempted tariff violation of one of the family's youthful heirs. J. Sterling Rockefeller, 22-year-old son of the late William G. Rockefeller and a grandnephew of John D. Rockefeller, was caught in the net set for those who would bring back mementoes, duty free, of their trips abroad.

After the fine had been paid, customs officials expressed the opinion that young Rockefeller had attempted to evade the customs regulations in a spirit of bravado.

But George E. Downs, a representative of the William G. Rockefeller estate, who paid the fine in cash, believed that "some one on board ship must have given young Mr. Rockefeller some bum advice, because he's a good kid and there's nothing wrong with him."

The youth ran afoul of the customs men when he started to walk hastily toward the customs barrier last night after debarking from the liner France, wearing a top coat with bulging pockets.

An inspector who believed anyone wearing an overcoat on a 90-deg. day needed closer inspection, halted him and searched him. In the top coat pockets were found an expensive English pipe, a pair of binoculars, two ornamental automobile radiator caps and fourteen razors, none of which had been declared, although the youth had made a regular declaration and paid duty of $109.70 on other goods he brought back.

Seizure of the undeclared goods followed and the case was referred to Philip Elting, Collector of the Port. The fine of $476.20 was arrived at by assessing the value of the goods plus a 100 per cent personal penalty. The articles were returned as soon as the fine was paid.

NEW PLAN IN RUM WAR

Andrews to Send Men Abroad

Prohibition Chief Reveals Project for Control of Liquor Importation

Bielaski's Employment as Secret Agent Upheld by General

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Immediate organization of a "bureau of foreign control," in the prohibition department, to direct the practical application of the prohibition agreements between this country and foreign nations, was announced today by Brig.-Gen. Andrews.

It is even possible, he acknowledged, that the work of this new bureau may entail sending prohibition men to foreign ports.

Gen. Andrews, who returned last night after reaching an agreement with English statesmen on the liquor-smuggling situation, spent this afternoon at the University Club in conference with U. S. Atty. Buckner and an assistant. Later he was scheduled to see Maj. Chester P. Mills, local administrator, before leaving for Washington.

"My first work in Washington," he said, "will be to build up the machinery that will put into practical effect the compacts we now have with Canada, Mexico, Cuba and the European countries, and especially the agreement just consummated with England. I plan to establish a new, small bureau of foreign control, which will have active supervision of this work."

ANDREWS ELATED

Although he would not disclose details of the agreement with England, Gen. Andrews was highly elated with the result of his trip.

"I believe we are now on the high road to effective enforcement," he said.

"Foreign governments are working with us to eliminate smuggling and we are making good progress toward the absolute control of the diversion of industrial alcohol."

During his talk with newspaper men Gen. Andrews was asked concerning the status of A. Bruce Bielaski, who testified during the trial of members of the Dwyer rum ring that he was a special agent of Mr. Andrews here receiving about $1100 a month.

The Dwyer defense pictured Bielaski as a mysterious "under-cover" man and an official investigation of his status resulted in a report by Controller-General McCarl in Washington that the name of Bielaski did not appear on government rolls.

BIELASKI WORKING

"Mr. Bielaski is a secret agent," Gen. Andrews said today. "That is why there is no record of him. He is not paid $1100 a month or any other salary. He is paid for what he accomplishes and that might amount to $20,000 a year. He is paid out of a fund for the purchase of evidence which Congress provided at my request."

Gen. Andrews said that last year there was a $50,000 fund for the purchase of evidence in prohibition cases, but that at his request Congress had raised the amount to $250,000 this year.

"Why all the uproar about the 'invisible government of Bielaski' raised by the Dwyer defense counsel?" he asked. "Do they expect us to get evidence by standing on the street corners? There are other men working like Bielaski in other parts of the country. I would be a fool if I did not have them."

INJUNCTION IN JARDINE CASE DENIED

Court Refuses to Restrain Federal Aid for Fruit and Vegetable Industry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Suit for an injunction to restrain Secretary Jardine from putting into effect a plan for Federal co-operation with the fresh fruit and vegetable industry, filed by a group of Cincinnati growers, was dismissed today in the District of Columbia Supreme Court on motion of government counsel.

The court held that even if Secretary Jardine was not authorized by Congress to establish the proposed board for the adjustment of disputes among growers of fruits and vegetables, and for co-operation by the government with that industry, S. A. Gerrard Company and Leonard, Crosset & Riley, lacked such interest in a plan to entitle them to sustain the action.

"The scheme of 'proposed co-operation,' between the Department of of Agriculture, and the handlers of fresh fruits and vegetables," said Justice Jennings Bailey, "is not, in my opinion, a compulsory regulation but an offer by the defendant of a purely voluntary co-operation."

Bay City Takes Suspect Wanted in Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Charles B. Weaver of Grass Valley, Cal., was arrested here today on the request of Los Angeles police authorities.

FEARS FOR TAFT'S LIFE EXPRESSED

Chief Justice Seriously Ill at Canadian Resort of Heart Attack

QUEBEC, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court, former President, is seriously ill of a heart attack at his summer residence in Murray Bay, according to information reaching Quebec this evening, and fears are entertained that he may not recover.

The Chief Justice, who has been summering in Murray Bay for a number of years, was ill when he left Washington a month or so ago, but he expressed the hope when quitting the Capital for Quebec, that he would greatly benefit by his sojourn at the Quebec watering place.

For the first two or three weeks of his stay, he is reported to have greatly improved but, a couple of days ago, is said to have been laid low by another heart attack.

TREASURY CHIEF GOES TO GENEVA

Mellon Denies Visit to League Seat Significant; Declines to Talk Politics

GENEVA, Aug. 12. (AP)—Still maintaining his policy of silence on international problems, Andrew W. Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, arrived here today from a week's visit in Rome, where he had several informal conversations with Premier Mussolini and Finance Minister Volpi.

The Secretary was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. David Bruce, wife of the American Vice-Consul at Rome. A private secretary also was in the party. Several Swiss detectives carried out a discreet surveillance as Secretary Mellon walked through the station and took the bus for the Hotel Beaurivage, overlooking Lake Geneva.

Mr. Mellon told a correspondent for the Associated Press that he had nothing to say about international problems. He added that too much importance had been given his visit to Europe. His stay at Geneva was really to pass the time until Saturday, when reservations at the Hotel Royal at Evian, France, thirty miles up the lake will be available.

The Secretary will motor to Evian Saturday, where he expects to rest for a week or ten days. He said he will decide later whether or not he will go to Paris.

PROHIBITION BLAMED FOR CRIME WAVE

Chief of Police in Chicago Lays Terror Reign There to Illicit Rum Selling

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Prohibition was blamed as the font from which murder, bribery and gang war terrorism have sprung to produce an "almost hopeless situation" in Chicago, in dealing with gang murders, in a statement tonight by Morgan Collins, Chief of Police.

He added that while the police department tried to prevent all murders, society was hurt least when a gangster was killed. Prohibition, he said, is virtually impossible of enforcement here partly because reputable citizens who will not stoop to bootlegging, yet will patronize gangster bootleggers, thus causing the illicit liquor dealers to weld strong organizations into which they bring many hitherto honest citizens as aids.

Meanwhile, the police were attempting to determine whether John Sbarbaro, Assistant State's Attorney, may have been the target when gunmen invaded Michigan avenue a couple of days ago and fired several shots. Sbarbara however, was denied that he was the target.

DEVIL LOSES MINE PREY

Men Saved Tell of Prayers

All Five Imprisoned Deep in Shaft for 153 Hours Had Made Peace With God

Four of Rescued Appear in Good Condition Despite Ordeal in Black Pit

SALEM (Ky.) Aug. 12. (AP)—A story of prayer meetings rather than of human suffering was brought out of the Hudson zinc and spar mine today by five miners imprisoned in its depth for 153 hours.

It was a cheerful tale, as bright as the "Hello, boys, I ain't sick," of Randolph Cobb, first of the quintet to see the sunlight again. It recounted how during the long hours without food and with but little water the men became convinced in the simple fashion of the Western Kentucky folk that their souls were saved.

One of them did not yield until long after the others did, and he was the subject of long prayer. When they emerged this morning on their cloth caps was penciled the message:

"If we are dead when you find us, we are saved."

Seven men were working on a special night shift at the mine near here when collapse of a wall blocked their outlet at 10 o'clock last Thursday night, two of them escaped and Roy James could have saved himhelf, also, but he ran farther back to call the other four and found himself cut off.

CLOTHES CUT OFF

The five, George Castiller, Harry Watson, U. B. Wilson and Randolph and James, ranging from 27 to 35 years of age, and all married save Wilson, spent their time in prayer and song. When they finally were rescued by the unrelenting toil of a force of 200 men working in relays, they were in fairly good condition, except that Castiller had wrenched his back in falling off a scaffolding when the cave-in occurred, and was suffering severe pain and had a cold.

Their clothes, heavy with the mud of the mine pit, were cut from their backs at the mine's first-aid station, where they were taken amid cheers of the workers and the mingled laughter and tears of friends and relatives, and then they were ready to go home and tell their stories.

Cobb told an Associated Press correspondent about what happened underground as follows:

"Two of the boys were on the ground at the time of the accident and one of them shouted 'the cut's pillin', boys!' and rushed for the shaft. Two of us just fell off the sloping scaffolding on which we were working and met the rushing waters.

CLIMB FROM WATER

"The water hurled Wilson and James down but they caught some timber and climbed clear of the water. The rest of us climbed up, too, and began figuring. We figured the water was gorged below. We did not know it was to the shaft.

"We lay there till Friday morning, I guess, and then we all got victory from God, except James. He failed.

"We prayed on then until Sunday morning. We had only our carbide lamps. I told them I was going to do some writing. I turned to James and said, 'Roy, are you right or are you wrong? I'm going to put down what you say.'

"Roy said 'I don't know what to do.' then turning his face toward heaven, he said: 'Put it down I'm saved.'

"We held a grand and glorious meeting then and were living on the Lord's love when the found us."

Cobb then recounted their efforts to get water and how they huddled together to keep warm. The men had carried no food into the mine and had only a small supply of water, but when it gave out they caught drippings in a tobacco can.

FOUR MATCHES

They had four matches between them and their carbide miners' lamps and by burning the lamps one at a time they maintained a little light for a long time. They did not know how long, for one of them said they lost count of time and were glad of it. It was not so hard to wait when they could not count the days.

The others, whose stories were along the same lines as that of

STORM ENGULFS NEW YORK

Terrific Rain and Incessant Lightning Paralyze Traffic and Cause Wild Turmoil

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Black clouds which rolled in from the northeast and southwest met over New York City late today and spilled a rain and thunderstorm that for fury and damage exceeded all Weather Bureau records for a storm of such short duration. Rain continued to fall thoughout the evening, but the full force of the storm hit the city and territory within a radius of fifty miles from 4:30 to 5:40 o'clock.

During that period such torrential rains fell that subway, bus, elevated and trolley lines were paralyzed, electric-light and telephone systems put out of commission, cellars and streets were flooded, automobiles abandoned by the score, building and subway excavations caved in, railroad rights of way washed out, and the city's millions were thrown into a welter of fright and confusion as they struggled frantically to escape the lashing rain and the cracking lightning that for a time broke the blackness of the heavens at the rate of fifteen flashes a minute.

ONE FATALITY

In all of the wide area affected by the storm only one fatality was reported, that of a 15-year-old boy, who was struck by lightning while crossing a field near Heightstown, N. J. Probably a score of persons in Greater New York were injured, either by the lightning directly or being cut by glass after a building had been struck. The only serious injury was received by Patrick Riley, an Interborough motorman, who was severely burned by flames which burst from his control box as he drove a train into the elevated bridge at Plaza Station on Long Island. He collapsed and the train was driven into the station by the conductor, while the passengers milled about in a panic.

No estimate of the damage caused by the lightning and the rain was possible, but it will probably be not less than $500,000 for the greater city and may possibly reach as high as $1,000,000. In Staten Island alone several merchants familiar with conditions said they believed $100,000 worth of merchandise had been ruined by water in cellars and ground floors of commercial houses. At least 100 buildings in the five boroughs were struck by lightning, and in Queens fifteen alarms for fires caused by lightning were turned in within thirty minutes.

All the electric light companies suffered great damage to their property in the outlying districts, and all night repair crews worked to repair

Cousin Also Seized While Officials Declare Clean-Cut Case in Murders Has Been Made

SOMERVILLE (N. J.) Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Willie Stevens and Henry De La B. Carpender, charged with the murder of Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, were held without bail by County Judge Cleary in Somerville tonight and were locked in the Somerset County Jail. Stevens is a brother and Carpender a cousin of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, who is accused of complicity in the crime and is at liberty under $15,000 bail.

The warrants for Stevens and Carpender were issued late this afternoon by Judge Cleary at the behest of Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, and were sworn to by Capt. Lamb of the New Jersey State police, on "information and belief." Following their arrest at the home of Mrs. Hall in New Brunswick, Stevens and Carpender were rushed to Somerville by automobile, fingerprinted at State police headquarters there and then arraigned.

HEARING TODAY

They will have a preliminary examination before Judge Cleary at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Courthouse at Somerville, when their counsel will ask that they, like their woman relative, be admitted to bail pending submission of the case to a grand jury late next month.

The arraignment took place at 8 p.m., in Judge Cleary's private law office.

"Not guilty," Stevens and Carpender answered when the complaints were read to them and they were asked how they would plead. Judge Cleary then ruled they should be held without bail until the hearing tomorrow.

They walked with the officers through a drizzling rain the block between the judge's office and the jail.

"It is ridiculous," was Willie Stevens's only comment to reporters who clustered about the party on the way.

Carpender said:

"I have nothing to fear, I welcome the arrest. The outcome will prove for all time that we had nothing to do with the murder."

THIRD WARRANT

A third warrant was issued today by Justice of the Peace Suthpen for a woman, whose name was withheld, as a material witness to the murder. Late tonight State troopers still were trying to take her into custody.

"After examining fifty-seven witnesses in the Hall-Mills murder during the last week I am convinced we have a clear-cut case," said Simpson, following the arrests.

"There are four more witnesses to be questioned. Two of them, I expect, will materially strengthen our case. At any rate, none of them can weaken it."

Prior to the conference that resulted in the issuance of the new warrants, Simpson had called alone on Judge Cleary, talked to him for a few minutes, and then dashed by automobile to the vicinity of New Brunswick where he visited the Phillips farm and went over the scene of the murder.

"I went there," he explained after his return to Somerville, "to recheck in my own mind the position of physical objects by which several witnesses had fixed the scene of the crime."

STORM ENGULFS NEW YORK CITY

PANIC ON TRAIN

In addition to those who were cut by glass or otherwise injured about fifty were slightly hurt when a southbound Seventh avenue express train stalled between Christopher and Houston streets. More than 1000 persons were on the train when it stopped at 7:45 o'clock, after the first fury of the storm had abated, and after an hour's wait they began smashing windows with their umbrellas and fists to obtain relief from the stifling atmosphere. The crash of the breaking windows increased the panic and by the time the first men had chambered from windows and started to run back along the tracks the whole train was in confusion.

Three ambulance surgeons attended them for shock and slight cuts as fast as they emerged dripping from the subway tunnels.

The subway tie-up was especially serious in the southern part of Manhattan. Officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company said that both the east and west side lines were blocked from 5:18 o'clock to about 6:30 and for two hours afterward trains moved slowly and with difficulty because of the enormous quantities of water that flowed onto the tracks through the ventilator openings in the sidewalks. The B.M.T. was only slightly affected and continued to give good service throughout the storm period, although greatly congested because of the thousands who, unable to take their usual methods of conveyance, crowded onto the trains.

State Banking Chiefs Plan Aid for Bond Sales

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (AP)—A move to evolve a system of reciprocity in the handling of large bond issues in which Pacific Coast brokers and banks participate was taken here today at a meeting of the National Association of Securities Commissioners, western division.

The plan calls for the adoption of a standardized set of regulations by which a bond issue approved in one State will also be recognized in other States of the division.

The meeting closed today after a three-day session with the selection of Seattle as the next convention city.

J. Grant Hinckle of Washington was last night elected president of the western division and John L. Davis of California, secretary.

WHITTEMORE PAYS PENALTY

Maryland Hangs Head of "Crime Trust"

Youthful Leader of Band Smiles to Last

Wife, Bidding Him Good-by, Denied Kiss

MARYLAND PENITENTIARY (Baltimore) Aug. 13. (Friday) (AP)—Richard Reese Whittemore, head of a now-shattered "million-dollar crime trust," was hanged this morning for the murder eighteen months ago of Robert H. Holtman, a Maryland penitentiary guard.

The trap was sprung at 12:08 a.m. Fourteen minutes later, at 12:22, Whittemore officially was pronounced dead—the end of an amazing criminal career packed for the most part, into the months following the fatal beating of the 60-year-old guard with an iron bar when Whittemore escaped the penitentiary on February 20, 1925.

"I wish to say good-by, the best that I could wish anybody"—Whittemore said, simply, just before his body shot through the trap.

"ONLY GOOD-BY"

The 26-year-old slayer entered the death chamber at 12:06 a.m., just two minutes before the trap door opened under him.

He was smiling faintly as he came through the small door leading from the death-cell tier to the gallows platform, eighteen feet above the witnesses.

Chaplain Charles Shannon Biggs talked with the condemned man in the corridor before he entered the death chamber.

"Will you have something to say?" asked the chaplain.

"Only good-by—that's the best I could wish anybody," Whittemore answered.

"I will say it, or you can say it," he told the chaplain.

"I would rather you would say it," Chaplain Biggs answered.

As his arms were pinioned behind him he turned white, but came into the death chamber steadily, and stepped unaided to the trap. His legs were strapped and he made his brief statement in a slightly strained but clear voice. The hood was drawn over his head just a moment before the trap was opened.

Mrs. Margaret Whittemore, the condemned man's wife, bade him farewell early in the evening, entering the penitentiary through the hospital door, from which Whittemore escaped on February 20, 1925, after fatally beating Robert H. Holtman, the guard.

Mrs. Whittemore was not allowed to kiss her husband. A heavy, fine-meshed screen separated them.

Rawlings V. Wittemore, the slayer's father, accompanied his daughter-in-law to the death cell for the last visit. He was not allowed by Warden Brady to witness the death of his son.

Less than twenty minutes after Whittemore walked into the execution room his body had been lowered into his casket and taken out.

Whittemore spent his last hours reading and smoking, his routine differing little from that of previous days.

When the three guards who escorted him to the gallows appeared to lead him from his cell, he was ready. When he stepped out to be bound he left the books he had spent the last several weeks reading, in a flat pile in the corner.

Whittemore was smoking his last cigarette as he shook hands with prison officials.

LONG A CRIMINAL

Although at outs with the law from the age of short trousers, Richard Reese Whittemore's criminal career left him cast in a petty role, until, at 25 years of age, and with a noose dangling above his head, he crowded into the space of a few months most of the highlights of a fiction bandit's life.

He was a comparatively little-known gunman, with a prison reputation for being "hard" when, serving a term for burglary, he walked out of Maryland penitentiary on February 20, 1925, with the keys of a mortally-wounded guard. Thirteen months later, when a New York police night patrol picked him up as a suspicious character after a chase at guns' points from the door of a night club, he was the active head of one of the East's most successful criminal organizations of recent years.

Whittemore went to the gallows for slaying Holtman—the first important act of his brief, spectacular career. Holtman, his skull crushed by an iron bar, died two days after Whittemore escaped. Whether Whittemore actually was guilty of other murders laid by police at his door, or that of his gang, may never be known.

OPERATED ELSEWHERE

Baltimore, New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo were included in the Whittemore gang's scope of operations. Many lucrative hauls were made from New York jewelry establishments. The "million-dollar crime trust," so dubbed later by police because of the fabulous goal set, and reported nearly reached when the crime organization was shattered, revealed itself as an almost entirely self-supporting crime unit when police dug into its secrets. It had its own private "fences" for receiving stolen goods, and maintained its own channels of disposal, realizing a much higher profit on its loot than is usually the case.

The profits were apportioned among the gang members, the apportionment being made by Whittemore, who personally superintended its operations. So successful had the gang's system been, that police at first declined to make public the details of a confession of Anthony Paladino, one of Whittemore's henchmen, on the grounds that it set a dangerous example.

The gang's break-up was rapid after Whittemore and two companions visited the Chantee night club in the early morning of March 19, last. He was trailed from the door by a roving patrol, forced from his automobile several blocks away, and taken to headquarters, where his identity was established. The remainder of the gang were rounded up one by one, largely through the police watch on Mrs. Margaret Whittemore, the bandit chief's wife, who was living with him in a downtown hotel.

Paladino "tipped off" the system in his confession, and incriminated, besides Whittemore, Leon and Jacob Kraemer, brothers, Milton (Shuffles) Goldberg and "Baltimore Willie" Unkelbach as the chief members of the gang. Unkelbach, the last to be arrested, was in Baltimore while search for him was being made in Cleveland, and might have escaped had he not driven in his automobile from Baltimore to New York to retrieve personal belongings. All the male gangsters received prison terms in New York.

FREES HIS WIFE

Mrs. Whittemore also was arrested in New York, but her bandit husband effected her release, on an agreement with Dist.-Atty. Banton, by admitting his part in thefts totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars. Whittemore, however, refused to incriminate any other member of the gang. After her release, Mrs. Whittemore dedicated herself to an attempt to save her husband's life.

She appeared in Buffalo and sat silent in the courtroom as a jury was discharged after failing to agree on Whittemore's guilt in connection with the slaying of a bank messenger in a $93,000 daylight hold-up there. She followed him back to Baltimore when New York State, itself having robbery indictments against the gang leader whose penalties would total 200 years, released him to Maryland, where State's Attorney H. R. O'Conor, whose youthfulness matched that of the prisoner, promised a "perfect hanging case."

Whittemore was found guilty of first-degree murder on May 21. Later both the Supreme bench of Baltimore and the Maryland Court of Appeals denied Whittemore a new trial. Gov. Ritchie of Maryland reviewed the case. Edgar Allan Poe, Whittemore's counsel, contended the evidence justified nothing more severe than a verdict of second-degree murder. Whittemore's defense was that he struck the guard down in self-defense during an altercation, and not for the purpose of escape. Gov. Ritchie declined to interfere.

PLEADS POVERTY

The slayings of "Chicago Tommy" Langrella, an underworld character of Chicago and Baltimore, who was found shot to death in North Arlington, N. J., last February, and of Simon L. Gilden of Baltimore, believed a former member of the Whittemore gang, in New York last December, were attributed by police to Whittemore or his followers. Neither of the crimes, however, was ever fastened directly on the gang. Whittemore admitted shooting Edward (Spike) Kenney, at a Middle River roadhouse on the outskirts of Baltimore, last Halloween night. Kenney recovered in a hospital with a police guard around the building.

Whittemore pleaded poverty when arraigned in Baltimore. What became of his reputed fortune in loot was never developed. Edgar Allan Poe, who was appointed by the court to defend him, was a former State's attorney of Baltimore, former Attorney-General of Baltimore and former president of the Baltimore Bar Association.

Trustees Act to Remove Redding City Treasurer

REDDING, Aug. 12. (AP)—Ouster proceedings were started today by the Board of Trustees against Miss Jessie Dunn, City Treasurer.

The official is accused of refusing and neglecting to do her official duty. She is asserted by other officials to have recently caused a mix-up when she lumped all city funds together. This, according to the Trustees, left unpaid $1600 in claims against the city and a shortage of $6000 in the trust funds, the money having been applied contrary to law to other funds.

serious clashes on the 1st and 2nd inst, in the States of Michoacan and Guanajuato, in connection with suspension of services in Catholic churches, informed the Associated Press today that no Catholic priests have been executed anywhere in Mexico and that no citizens have been killed in fighting between the people and soldiers. It was added that five citizens had been executed for crimes in connection with the religious controversy.

Gen. Miguel Pena, Undersecretary of War, declared that the report of Archbishop Ruiz Y Flores, of the State of Michoacan, of excesses and executions was incorrect. Gen. Pena said one policeman was killed at Zahauyo, Michoacan, when a crowd attacked soldiers. There had been no trouble whatever at Irapuato, where Archbishop Ruiz heard a Protestant woman was murdered.

One Catholic priest and several citizens, Gen. Pena explained, were wounded during fighting at Zahayo, where, he declared, Catholic attacked the soldiers, who used utmost prudence to avoid killing or injuring those in the crowd.

BISHOP FLEES AS RIFLE CACHE DISCOVERED

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 12. (AP) Because five powerful rifles were found in his home, Mexican government officials are seeking Bishop Placencio Moreira of Zacatecas, who has fled disguised and may have come to the United States, a Zacatecas priest said here today.

The priest has just received a letter from his family, he said. The rifles, he asserted, were "planted" in the home of the bishop. Several relatives of the Rt. Rev. Moreira have been placed in jail and are being questioned by police, he said. The 60-year-old father of another priest also is in jail in connection with the matter.

News of the arrests and the flight of the bishop has been unrevealed until now, the Zacatecas priest said, because the government is censoring newspapers in Zacatecas.

despite indications that Ambassador Sheffield would like to see such a change. There are reasons to believe that the last American note on that subject is no less friendly in tone than its predecessors.

Besides Mexican relations, Secretary Kellogg probably will discuss with the President reports made to him by the returning American delegates to the Geneva preliminary arms conference, and after the White Pine conferences it may be possible for the government, speaking through the State Department head, to lay down more definitely its policy toward Geneva as well as toward Mexico City.

EMBASSY TAKES UP CASE OF GRANDE

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12. (AP)—The United States Embassy by means of a note and also through urgent personal representations today took up with the Mexican Foreign Office the case of J. H. Grande of Los Angeles, who is being held in jail, incommunicado, on a technical charge of fraud in connection with banana sales.

Arthur Bliss Lane, first secretary of the American Embassy, who will be in charge until Ambassador Sheffield returns from his forthcoming vacation in the United States, personally went to the Foreign Office to make representations in behalf of Grande, because earlier in the morning American Vice-Consul Lewis was not permitted to see Grande when he went to the jail with a message from Mrs. Grande.

Four different jail officials, Consul Lewis reported, had refused him permission to see the prisoner.

As a consequence of today's representations, the Mexican Foreign Office this afternoon informed the Embassy that Grande could be seen in jail.

Warders of the jail, however, again refused to allow Lewis to see and talk to Grande.

Consul General Weddell said it will be impossible to take further action tonight. The Embassy tomorrow may consider a further protest to the Mexican government against holding the prisoner incommunicado. An inmate of the jail tonight smuggled out word that Mr. Grande was desperately attempting to get a message to the American authorities.

The Foreign Office told the Embassy that Grande will be "consigned" tomorrow, that is, formally indicted and held for trial. Efforts are to be made to obtain his release under bail tomorrow.

The Embassy has been informed that Grande is charged with fraud asserted to have been committed in Los Angeles. Grande is said to have contracted with a Mexican banana company to sell its bananas. Business difficulties developed and the company, asserting that Grande took improper commissions, telegraphed him to come to Mexico City to discuss the situation.

Grande arrived here on the 2nd inst. and was arrested the next day and placed in jail, incomunicado. Later he succeeded in getting a note to the American Consulate-General, which was investigated and is supposed to have obtained suspension of the incomunicado.

The Embassy representations were simultaneous with the courtesy visit which Ambassador Sheffield paid to the Foreign Office to say farewell before leaving on his vacation tomorrow.

The Embassy made it plain that Mr. Sheffield's call was not connected with the Grande protest.

PRAYERS SOUND IN MINE SHAFT

Cobb, agreed that nobody lost hope of being rescued except Castiller, and he gave his comrades final instructions for care of his family in event he died before rescue came. The men were cheered most of the time by the sound of the drills, which three impatient squads of workers were driving under direction of engineers and shortly before they finally were reached they saw a light and one of the entombed men shouted, "we are every one right back here!"

Dick Wright and Freeman Cobb, the latter a brother of Randolph Cobb, were the first to reach the imprisoned men. They found the men in prayer and one of the rescuers told them to keep quiet, but they kept on praying until they were taken out.

The men walked unaided to the shaft with the exception of Castiller, and were hoisted to the surface in buckets. Watson's greeting to the crowd was: "Where's my horse? I want to ride him home."

WEAK SMILES

After first aid the men were sent to their homes and family reunions were in progress. Their women folk had clustered around the mine opening for a week, their eyes red with tears and they laughed and cried when word came that their men were saved. Several of the women, overcome with emotion, began shouting, but were calmed by grim-faced mine workers. The men were given a little light food and sent home and put to bed.

Cobb, propped up on a pillow told his story, but later it was decided to give all of them complete rest and not allow them to see any more visitors for a while. They were weak and worn and after their rescue the strain began to tell. Watson, who had so cheerfully shouted for his horse, could only smile weakly and acknowledge the greetings of people at home.

Work of rescue was supervised by Garth Hearne, mine superintendent and part owner, and it was made by harassing mishaps, for the fire by which it was sought to drive a pipe to carry air and pumping water and liquid food were constantly broken by hard rock, and the air pump failed. A longer one was brought from Memphis. This broke down two days ago and others were brought from Memphis by plane.

Conditions at the mine were improving toward normal again today and the National Guard was brought to keep spectators from interfering with workers, last night. Tomorrow a force of men will begin clearing out the mine preparatory to resuming operations.

RIVERSIDE FIRE CONTROLLED

Blaze Started by Indian Smoking Out Gopher Is Yosemite Tourists Give Help

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Battling almost in the shadow of timber they were striving to protect, fire fighters under Warden Beers succeeded in controlling one of the most serious blazes of the season it had swept about 350 acres of brushland on the Cahuilla Indian reservation.

Fanned by a stiff breeze, the fire, which started yesterday, was carried a mile and a half within fifteen minutes, when a small blaze with which an Indian woman was attempting to smoke out a gopher got out of her control, Baird reported.

In its course the fire damaged several valuable watersheds and was kept from an Indian's ranch house only when the entire force of fighters surrounded the property and conducted a successful defense. The blaze swept a wide path within 100 feet of the ranch house.

Shortly before the Cahuilla fire was controlled a blaze on the Soboba Indian reservation five miles east of San Jacinto also was brought under control by a crew of reservation Indians directed by one of Baird's deputies. This fire started at about the same time as the one at Cahuilla by an Indian who was attempting to burn a dead mule.

Although the Soboba blaze devastated 250 acres of brush land, it was not considered as serious as the one at Cahuilla because at no time did it approach nearer than two miles to the timber. When it was [illegible] fire was sweeping up [illegible] you.

VETERANS HEAD FOR SUSANVILLE

Legionnaires Going by Plane, Auto and Rail

Extensive Preparations Made for Entertainment

Several Parades Will be on Convention Program

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—On to Susanville is the battle cry of the World War veterans of California this week. Lassen county will welcome the American Legion visitors from the 15th to 19th inst., when the eighth annual State convention of the organization, and the ex-service men and women from all parts of the State are planning to make the journey to the Susanville convention in greater numbers than ever before, according to State Adjutant Fisk of the Legion.

Veterans will go by train, by automobile and by airplane to the convention, two planes, in fact, will carry members to the convention. Max Dolin, San Francisco orchestra leader and honorary member of the Forty and Eight, the Legion's play organization, is to be one of those who will attend the convention via the air.

From Susanville comes information of an extensive program for the convention, which will rival any similar meeting which the Legion has had since its organization in this State. In addition to the sessions of the Legion, the Forty and Eight society will hold its annual convention the same time.

Today the State headquarters of the Legion, headed by State Commander Bixby and Adjt. Fisk, moved to Susanville to establish offices there for the convention. The entertainment features of the convention include visits to Mt. Lassen, the only active volcano in the United States; a golf tourney, a rodeo with vaqueros from California, Oregon and Nevada presenting, and outdoor barbecue at Eagle Rock and a round of dances and receptions.

Plans will be made for the work of the Legion posts during the coming year; officers are to be selected and the work of the Legion reviewed by the delegates to the convention. Several parades by the World War units will feature the stay at Susanville, where a special auditorium is now constructed to house the convention.

Gen. William R. Gresley, chief forester of the United States, is expected to address the Legion on its program of forest conservation.

Included on the program of events will be addresses by State Commander Bixby, Frank L. Coombs, Napa Assemblyman, former member of Congress and ex-Minister to Japan; Joseph R. Knowland, Oakland publisher, and a number of other notables.

MARRIAGE PACT MAN'S DEFENSE

Elderly Armenian to Resist Young Wife's Divorce Action

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Confessing that the marriage of an aged, wealthy man is almost certain to end in disillusionment, Reteos M. Tashjian, 70 years of age, member of the Tashjian family, Armenian rug dealers, yesterday made ready to offer a unique defense to a suit for divorce filed in the Superior Court by Mrs. Virginia M. Tashjian, 38, who charged cruelty.

Despite his years and his wealth, Tashjian thought, he said, that by taking unusual precautions he could select a young wife who would love him for himself and not for his money. He drew up a marriage contract, which contained all his ideas of what a wife should be. This contract attempted to forestall all the causes which usually disrupt matrimony. It described the manner in which the wife should conduct herself after marriage.

Tashjian and his bride-to-be signed the contract in the presence of witnesses. But only five months after the wedding ceremony last February 15 she filed suit for divorce. Tashjian said he would file the contract and offer it as a defence to the suit and as the basis for a cross-bill for divorce.

WELFARE BODY COSTS REDUCED

Industrial Board Reports on Gain in Efficiency

Higher Wages Obtained for Women Workers

Savings on Annual State Fair Also Cited

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Administration expenses of the State Industrial Welfare Commission have been reduced 34 per cent during the past three and a half years, while the efficiency of the department has been increased, particularly with regard to the enforcement of the California minimum wage law.

This information is contained in a report filed by the commission today with Gov. Richardson. One of the outstanding accomplishments of the departments in the period has been to increase the wages of women workers.

WAGES INCREASED

"In May, 1923," says the report, "7.4 per cent of the women and minors in the merchantile, laundry and manufacturing industries were receiving wage rates under $16 per week. In 1925, only 5.4 per cent of the women and minors in these industries, totaling 63,000, received wage rates under the minimum.

"In May, 1923, 92.6 per cent of the female workers in the above industries received $16 per week and over, while in October, 1925, 94.6 per cent received $16 per week and over, or a gain of 2 per cent. The commission has been responsible for an increase in the piece rate scale paid in the canning industry and has collected for the workers $181,000. In the motion-picture industry a survey has been made and an order of the commission has materially improved the conditions under which the women extras work.

"So successful has been the commission's educational campaign that there has been no attempt in California to test the constitutionality of the minimum wage law as was feared following an adverse decision of the Supreme Court."

A report of the State Board of Agriculture shows that $82,000 has been saved in promoting the California State Fair during the Richardson administration, while the scope of the exposition has been materially improved and the activity of the board greatly enlarged.

IMPROVEMENTS

"Moreover," declares Robert A. Condee of Chino, president of the board, "the State Board of Agriculture has been granted under this administration additional funds aggregating $260,900 for the erection of a much-needed grandstand, horse barns, the purchase of property, the paving and improvement of the highway in front of the fair grounds, and for nonstructural improvements.

"This being the only appropriation made to the State Agricultural Board for permanent improvements in a number of years, the board of directors feels gratified for the opportunity given them to make the State fair a credit to the people of California."

Officers Named by Pythians for Next Two Years

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—The Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias spent virtually all of today electing officers for the next two years and in receiving a flood of new business which kept it in session until nearly night.

Richard S. White of Milwaukee, who had served two years as Supreme Vice-Chancellor, was rewarded by elevation by acclamation to Supreme Chancellor. Next Tuesday, the closing day of the convention, he will succeed John Ballantyne of Boston.

Since precedent has it that two years' service as Vice-Chancellor means election for the supreme office, seven members of the order waged a hard fight for the honor. Alva N. Lumpkin of Columbia, S. C., was successful. He is 40 years of age and one of the youngest men ever so honored by the Pythians.

For six-year membership on the board of control of the order's insurance department, William R. O'Neal of Orlando, Fla., and Judge Raymond H. Buck of Fort Worth, Tex., were chosen.

WIFE OF PRISONER WINS NOMINATION

Mrs. John W. Langley

Mrs. John W. Langley, who waged an intensive campaign for "vindication" of her husband, easily won the Republican nomination in last Saturday's primary. Mr. Langley, formerly a United States Representative, is serving a two-year term for "conspiracy to violate the prohibition law."

If elected, Mrs. Langley, whose home is in Louisville, Ky., will succeed A. J. Kirk, who is serving her husband's unexpired term in Congress.

GRAVES HAS SLIGHT LEAD IN ALABAMA

Anti-Tammany Candidate Depends on Second Choice; Black Ahead of Bankhead

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Bibb Graves, candidate for Governor, who told the voters that if he were elected "Alabama would not be the tail for the Tammany tiger," was leading his nearest opponent, Charles S. McDowell, Jr., by 3377 votes tonight. A count of second-choice votes will be necessary, but McDowell's friends concede that Graves's second-choice votes will exceed McDowell's.

First and second choice votes are combined for each of the two higher candidates in any race where the high man fails to receive a clear majority of all votes cast.

Graves's campaign was featured by an attack upon the larger newspapers of the State, which he said were seeking to dominate not only State politics, but favor Al Smith in his Presidential aspirations. He was believed to have received the vote of the Ku Klux Klan.

With about 290 precincts missing out of 1800, the returns gave:

Graves, 54,632; McDowell, 51,255; A. H. Carmichael, 50,002; A. G. Patterson, 37,552.

Hugo Black held a lead of about 20,000 over his nearest opponent, John H. Bankhead, and was believed to have won the nomination for the Senate to succeed Senator Oscar W. Underwood, whose term expires March 1, 1927.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Aug. 12. (AP) Though still maintaining he ultimately would be the victor, Gov. Terral tonight apparently had been defeated for renomination as Governor of Arkansas by Judge J. E. Martineau, one of the candidates defeated by Terral two years ago.

With 276 precincts still missing from unofficial tabulations of Tuesday's Democratic primary, Gov. Terral, who his opponents claim refused to pardon convicts or to permit the parole laws to work, was 13,394 votes behind Judge John E. Martineau of Little Rock, his only opponent. The Governor this afternoon, however, refused to concede the nomination of his opponent whom he had charged with intemperate use of intoxicants. The vote, unofficially tabulated with 1733 out of 2009 precincts in the State reported, was: Martineau 100,804; Terral, 86,830.

NEW TREND IN MELLETT DEATH SIFT

Canton Grand Jury to Call Newspaper Men Concerning Liquor "Affidavits"

CANTON (O.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Eight newspaper men who have been covering the story of the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, and its subsequent investigations, are to be summoned before the Stark county grand jury, it was announced late today by Prosecutor McClintock.

They are to be called to tell what they know of the existence of affidavits purported to have been drawn up by bootleggers, charging Canton and Stark county officials, business men and manufacturers with liquor deals and various indiscretions. McClintock holds that the affidavits were designed by the bootleggers as a part of a blackmail plot.

The newspaper men are summoned in an effort to trace the origin of the affidavits, McClintock said. Several newspapers printed the affidavits, saying they had been procured from Canton bootleggers and their attorneys. Judge A. W. Alger said today he is preparing a special charge to the grand jury concerning blackmail and perjury.

LAWYER FLAYS NEW TAX MOVE

San Francisco Attorney Sees Injustice

Asserts Government Will Reopen Suits

Community Property Statute to be Attacked

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Any action by Department of Justice officers in reopening litigation with regard to the estate tax in California is an injustice to California and unheard of in jurisprudence, said a statement issued here today by Carey Van Fleet, of counsel in the case of Robbins against the United States and Blum vs. Wardell.

"The government has sent its officers here to prepare a test case in order to reopen this litigation," said Mr. Van Fleet. "A test case already has gone through the courts of California and the Supreme Court of the United States on this identical question of the wife's interest in the community in California upon the death of the husband.

"That was the case of Blum against Wardell, that went through all courts to the Supreme Court of the United States, which denied the writ of certiorari, thereby putting an end to the litigation in Blum against Wardell and making final the judgment of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, holding that the widow's interest in the community, upon the death of the husband, is not taxable by the government of the United States under its revenue law.

LAWYERS SATISFIED

"In the petition for the writ of certiorari the same position was presented by the law officers of the government as will be presented in the test case now sought to be taken.

"Two attorneys-general have accept d the finality of the decision in Blum against Wardell. The government is seeking to predicate on this case a reopening of all the litigation in California with reference to the estate tax.

"The question involved in the case of Blum against Wardell was the interest of the wife in the community upon the death of the husband. In the case of Robbins, incidentally, the Supreme Court discussed the rights of the wife during the lifetime of the husband, but this was not the turning point of the decision in the Robbins case.

"The turning point of the decision was whether in California, as in all other community States, the Congress of the United States can compel the making of returns by the husband alone. It follows, therefore, that the government, under these circumstances, and in view of the closing and finality of the litigation in Blum vs. Wardell, is perpetrating an injustice upon the citizens of California for the reopening of this litigation will mean the reopening of estates which have been closed. It may lead to the bankruptcy of some estates. It undoubtedly will compel the mortgaging of real property involved in other estates. It will compel executors and heirs, where estates have been closed and distributed, to make preparation to fight this litigation and imperil their property until this litigation is finished, which may not be for years.

VIOLATES JURISPRUDENCE

"This violates the most fundamental principle of equity jurisprudence, which is that there must be an end to litigation some time. It goes still further; it violates the constitutional principle that property shall not be taken without due process of law. Due process of law means not only that property shall not be taken without law, but that property rights shall not be continuously harassed by law.

"However this may be, there is no excuse for our government, through its Treasury Department, violating the very principles of equity jurisprudence which it demands that its own citizens shall respect between themselves. The reopening of litigation which is long since finished goes further than the mere technicalities of the law, it confiscates the property rights of the citizens of the sovereign States and of the United States."

Van Fleet's statement was issued in connection with the presence here of Frederick W. Dewart, special assistant to the United States Attorney-General, who is in the city making a study of the several suits arising from Washington interpretations of the community-property law.

Dewart said that of these cases the one most representative of California's contentions will be taken before the United States Supreme Court for a decision.

EL PASO (Tex.) Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Arrested here on a warrant charging swindling, Caesar Farjas, said to be a confidential agent of the Mexican government, has been released on a bond of $1000. The warrant was sent here from Houston and was served by the Sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Ed Bryant said the Mexican consular authorities told him that Farjas was employed by the Mexican government and he was released through the efforts of E. B. Elfers, attorney for the Mexican general consulate here.

Pay Roll Parcel With $34,000 Missing in Mail

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Disappearance of $34,000 in currency sent in a registered parcel from the Federal Reserve Bank here to Westwood, Cal., was being investigated by postoffice inspectors today. The package was mailed Monday to meet a lumber mill pay roll.

When the Lassen County Bank reported the money not received investigation was started which has showed that the parcel was checked through the regular registry channels from the main San Francisco postoffice to the Ferry postoffice and to the Ferry Building for transfer to Oakland. Its further route the post office officials declined to disclose.

FOOD LAGGING BEHIND RACES

Production Less Than Gain in Population

Soil Exhaustion Worrying Land Experts

Political Institute Hears of Decadent Nations

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug. 12. (AP)—How to coax greater productivity from the soil is one of the major problems facing mankind of the future, Dr. C. J. Brand, executive secretary and treasurer of the National Fertilizer Association, told the Institute of Politics today.

He said that civilizations have declined as the original fertility of their soils was exhausted, and warned that this country, still in the period of soil exploitation, is rapidly approaching the point where artificial fertilizers must be relied upon to keep production high enough to feed America's millions. A decadent civilization will result if robbing the soil of its fertility without building up or conserving it is continued indefinitely, he believed.

Dr. Brand sees in the farming conditions in this country an outstanding factor in the problem of food supply. The burden of production without fair profit does not rest upon agriculture, he said, but is a political as well as economic problem for the whole nation to consider.

FOOD PRODUCTION LAGGING

"Food production is not keeping pace with the growth of the world population," he asserted, "largely because there is insufficient financial remuneration for doing so at the present time, particularly in the United States. World production of wheat, rye, corn, oats, barley, cotton, wool, hogs and potatoes was less in 1924 than in 1913, while the population of the world has increased 400 per cent in as many years."

The present food surplus in the United States, he said, shows there is no need for greater production at present, but within the next fifteen or twenty years the increase in population will have consumed this surplus.

The Washington disarmament conference was characterized as a "piece of British strategy" designed to halt America's naval supremacy over England by Rear Admiral Rodgers, retired, speaking at the institute today. He served on the citizens' committee of advisers to the American delegation at the disarmament conference.

DESTROYS SUPREMACY

"The conference," said Admiral Rodgers, "was called because Great Britain objected to the United States having a merchant fleet and navy bigger than her own. She held up as a bait the idea of settlements in the Far East as an objective, together with an abrogation of the Japanese alliance.

"The whole result of the conference was that, for the advantage of England, the treaty destroyed the threatened American supremacy on the seas and left England as the leading sea power in merchants and in fleet, for it is developing its cruiser class, which the treaty left unlimited. Further, it released her from the Japanese alliance which Canada would no longer tolerate. With the limitation of armaments, the United States consented to the four-power treaty by which Japan is made secure in her status quo on the continent of Asia, until Russia offers an objection or until China herself becomes strong enough to do so."

The treaty, participated in by the United States, England, Japan and France, gave Japan a considerable advantage and double security. Admiral Rodgers said, by limiting the United States and England in the construction of further fortifications in the Far East.

British Miner Strike Peace Draws Nearer

LONDON, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Negotiations of coal operators and miners probably will occur in a few days if the two sides can agree on a basis upon which they can be conducted, it was learned tonight. On the miners' side, greater anxiety is growing to resume negotiations and it is significant that the Radical leaders, Mr. Cook and Mr. Smith, who have held out for an uncompromising settlement, are now urging districts which voted down the bishops' plans to make new moves.

Such steps were forced upon them because the men drifting back to work in increasing numbers daily and resuming their occupations on local agreements, mostly on the basis of an eight-hour day, a point on which heretofore they were adamant.

Prime Minister Baldwin returned to Downing street this morning, his principal object being to receive reports concerning the chances for peace developments.

Soviet Imposes Trade Boycott on Neighbors

RIGA, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Soviet trade delegations in Riga will be closed shortly and the soviet government has decided to begin an economic boycott on Latvia and Esthonia.

According to a report received here today, Moscow is displeased with the actions of its Baltic neighbors, accusing them of intrigues with Poland to form an anti-Bolshevik bloc among the states along Russian frontier.

Lithuania is not included in the economic boycott and the trade delegation at Kovno will remain open.

ARMY MYSTERY AIRPLANE READY

"Cyclops" Said to be World's Largest Bomber

Speed Announced as 135 Miles Per Hour

Machine Guns Placed on Top and Bottom

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12. (AP)—The "Cyclops," the mystery plane of the United States Army Service, was christened yesterday at the Huss-Daland Airplane Company in Bristol, near here.

The plane, said to be the largest bomber in the world and to have the largest V-type Packard airplane engine, was christened by Miss Eleanor Godley of Trenton, N. J., who broke a bottle of ginger ale over its nose.

The speed of the Cyclops is given as 135 miles an hour and without carrying ammunition it is said to be capable of a twenty-four hours flight. Many of the features of the new craft are veiled in mystery, pursuant to instructions from the War Department. A novelty is the arrangement of the two machine guns, one on top and one at the bottom. The lower weapon can be regulated by a movable platform which army flying officers assert will prevent an attack from below.

Weighting 17,000 pounds, the plane has an 825 horsepower motor and its designers assert it will be able to cruise for eight hours while carrying 4000 pounds of bombs. This was said to exceed the capacity of any other bomber previously designed. It has a wing spread of 86 feet, the wings being made of chrome molybdenum steel tubing.

Under the terms of the contract, the plane must be delivered to McCook Field, Dayton, O., before the 26th inst.

Elliott Daland, vice-president of the Huss-Daland Company, said the Cyclops was the forerunner of a double engine superbomber of 2550 horsepower which will be started at the plant in a short time.

SANITY TEST FOR SUSPECT IN MURDERS

Asserted Strangler to be Examined by Los Angeles Crimonology Expert

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 12. (AP)—Paul Cameron, alias Philip H. Brown, confessed strangle murderer of Mrs. Ollie Russell in Santa Barbara on June 24, last, will not be arraigned until after J. Clark Sellers, Los Angeles criminologist, has been consulted in the case, District Attorney Clarence C. Ward, said today.

The alleged strangler today told officers that his true name is Cameron and that he will use that name hereafter.

Although questioned all morning, he refused to reveal information beyond that he gave officers yesterday.

He told officers today that he intends to plead not guilty and demand a jury trial. Mr. Ward, however, said he will have him examined by a sanity commission.

Albanian Troops Driven Across Line by Rebels

VIENNA, Aug. 12. (AP)—Belgrade reports that Albanian government troops fleeing before insurgents have crossed into Jugo-Slavia territory, where they were disarmed and interned. The revolting forces are said to be composed of Albanian malcontents recruited in Italy for the most part.

Fighting is reported to be proceeding in the provinces of Shilja and Malessia, with some success, the local population openly aiding the rebels.

BELGRADE, Aug. 12. (AP)—Advices from the Albanian frontier tend to show that the recently reported revolt in that country, started by emigrants who had returned from Italy, is spreading. Prince Ahmed Bey is said to have fled to Durazzo, escorted by armored cars. If he is further pressed, it is asserted that he will seek protection aboard an Italian warship anchored in the port of Durazzo.

Alien Chambers of Commerce in Turkey Closed

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 12. (AP)—Foreign chambers of commerce, in accordance with a recent government order, today received formal notice from the police to cease operations beginning from today.

The order of the Turkish government at Angora for the closing of foreign chambers of commerce, was said to be directed particularly at the American, British, French and Italian chambers. The action came as a considerable shock to American business interests, who are at a loss to explain it. The government has given no reasons for its orders as yet.

In some quarters, it is believed that the Turkish government views these commercial organizations as a perpetuation of the principle of extraterritoriality, whose abolition was sanctioned by the Treaty of Lausanne.

BOBBED HAIR HERE TO STAY BUT CAMOUFLAGE WILL RULE

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Bobbed hair's favor with American women today tightened its hold.

Exhibiting seventy-five models at the fifth annual fur show here, Mme. Louise, beauty expert, today showed hair cut long on one side of the head and bobbed the rest of the way around.

"Hair for formal wear next season," she said, "will be cut to suit the type and draped about the head to simulate long hair.

"Bobbed hair will never go. It's too comfortable, but it's to be camouflaged to look long. It will be cut much as a piece of goods is cut on the bias, one might say.

"Longer hair will bring back the long bouffant frocks. Instead of draping, this style will wear the hair on one side of the head in two or three curls down the line of the chin.

"Another—the Madonna type—will have hair parted in the middle and worn smooth with a small knob at the nape of the neck, across which will be worn a rhinestone or enamel buckle.

"Ears will be out this year and tinted from flesh color to cerise.

Pure As Mountain Dew

is this remarkable water, drawn from the springs in the fresh, early morning and in your home the following day.

FROM one of the most famous Spas in the world comes a rare drinking water, as fresh and as pure as Nature can make it.

High in the mountains, at Arrowhead Springs, it seeps through great walls of granite, bubbling to the surface sparkling, cool and clear as crystal.

Its virgin purity is one of the features that has spread the fame of Arrowhead Springs throughout the world. Thousands come to this place to drink its water and to see the natural springs and the healthful mineral baths.

We take the water to "the thousands," too. Every morning we draw it from the spring, place it in huge glass-lined tank cars and rush it to our Los Angeles bottling plant. The same day, or the next, it is delivered to hundreds of homes throughout Southern California, as fresh and as pure as it was at the springs.

7,000,000 gallons were consumed in the vicinity of Los Angeles alone last year, more than all other bottled spring waters combined. Mothers tell us, and Doctors, too, that it is noticeably better for children, because of its guaranteed purity.

Telephone WEstmore 5231 today and ask to have a five-gallon bottle delivered to your home. Remember, the water you get has just come from the springs. And the cost—less than a half cent pays for a glass of this famous water.

Arrowhead Springs, seven miles from San Bernardino, is one of the world's most famous health and pleasure resorts. Thousands come each year, stay at the famous Arrowhead Springs Hotel, and rest or play as they choose. Twenty-three different kinds of mineral springs, steam and natural mud baths are here, and are known to science as possessing remarkable curative properties.

Arrowhead Springs

USING the famous, naturally pure water from Arrowhead Springs as the base, we add Jamaica ginger root and 21 spices from India and all parts of the world to make Arrowhead Ginger Ales, both Standard flavor and Pale "Dry." They are exclusive beverages, made unusually good because of their rare blending properties. Scientists say that a pure, mountain spring water is superior for this purpose. That is why "Arrowhead" stands alone among high-quality ginger ales.

LONG HUNT FOR MINERS UNAVAILING

Canadian Officers Return From 800-Mile Journey in Search of Missing Men

VICTORIA (B. C.) Aug. 12. (AP)—An unavailing 800-mile hunt over trackless snow wastes for two American prospectors who have been missing a year was recounted here by D. D. Muirhead, constable of Prince George, 325 miles north of Victoria.

He and Constable Fenton of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police broke trail for 100 days from Prince George into the Cassiar district of Northern British Columbia. They shot rapids in crudely constructed rafts, and were forced to kill their packhorses when deep snow was encountered.

They found a cabin where the prospectors, named McClair and Saunders, had wintered, but soon lost trace of them and were forced to trek back to Prince George.

Planes in Ford Reliability Run Reach Lincoln

LINCOLN (Neb.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Twenty-one planes entered in the Edsel Ford reliability tour landed at a private air field several miles south of Lincoln today while a crowd of more than 5000 persons looked on.

Plane No. 13, a Woodson ship piloted by Walter Carr, upheld the superstitious belief about that numeral. It was forced down near Henderson, Iowa, with a broken crankshaft. Walter Beech in plane No. 2, a Travelair, won the sixth leg of the journey, Des Moines to Lincoln, making the trip in 1h. 22m. 3s.

Several innovations in aeronautics were displayed. One of these was a Fairchild monoplane with wings which can be folded back on hinges, permitting the ship to enter a garage.

The pilot plans to take off for Wichita, Kan., tomorrow about 10 a.m.

Bootleg Found in Underground Chinatown Dive

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (AP)—In a raid on underground Chinatown Federal prohibition agents late today arrested five Chinese and confiscated more than 100 gallons of liquor.

The officers surprised the orientals as they are asserted to have been bottling the liquor in a cellar located far below the street level beneath two other subterranean apartments.

Shanghai, China, has a broadcasting station that is giving programs in both Chinese and English.

Dry Crusader Fails to Prove Gaming Charge

BALLSTON SPA (N. Y.) Aug. 12 (AP) Orville S. Poland, head of the legal department of the New York State Anti-Saloon League, had no personal knowledge to substantiate his charge in a public statement, issued last Saturday, that gamblers understood the Saratoga Springs gambling investigation had been "fixed" with Gov. Smith so that the accused officials would be cleared.

Testifying today in response to a subpoena from Supreme Court Justice Heffernanan, he said he based his statement on an affidavit by Sol Rosenberg, said to be an employee of Abraham Weinberg, a private detective, who has testified regarding gambling at Saratoga Springs. In this affidavit Rosenberg quoted Frank Kehoe and a man named Goldman to the effect that they operated at Riley's Hotel and the Arrowhead Inn after the investigation was started because "they did not have to worry; everything is fixed."

"Have you any knowledge Gov. Smith has been approached on this question?" asked James A. Leary, attorney for Sheriff Wilmot.

"No," was the reply.

Royal Fingers Used to Enjoy Hawaiian Luau

HONOLULU, Aug. 12. (AP)—Sweden's Crown Prince and Princess, Gustavus Adolphus and Louise, without knives, forks or spoons, used their fingers at a real luau, or native feast, last night. Afterward they applauded hula dances and Hawaiian songs by natives. They said they had a good time.

The Prince and Princess were the only white persons invited to attend the party given in their honor by Princess Kawananakoa, widow of one of the last legally recognized Hawaiian princes. The feast, consisting of every native delicacy, was served strictly in accordance with the old Hawaiian court procedure.

Yesterday was parade day at Wrigley Field. Marty Krug paraded his best pitchers and Nick Williams paraded his best sluggers, and the result was a 15-to-8 victory for the cellar-guarding Seals over league-leading Angels. And so the 3000 fans on hand were treated to the unusual spectacle of watching the bottom of the loop rise up and smack the top of the heap amidships.

NICK WILLIAMS

The Seal slugging parade in a truly tiresome manner, ramming out no less than twenty-one safeties off Mr. Krug's best hurlers. Sometimes Mr. Krug's best hurlers are good, but yesterday they were decidedly bad, and so the Seal sluggers didn't have such a hot time carrying out their end of the parade. Reading from bad to worse, the Seraph slabsters were Vitry Glazner, Ralph Stroud and Orin "Pea Ridge" Day, with the second-mentioned gentleman getting clarped with the Angel defeat.

Dick Moody, who started on the mound for the Seals, also can be classed among yesterday's bad hurlers, but Oliver Twist Mitchell, who relieved Moody in the fifth, was much better, but he didn't have to be so good to protect the lead his mates kept piling up for him at the expense of the Seraph chuckers.

BROWER AND JOLLEY

Leading the parade of the Seal sluggers were Frank Brower and Snead Jolley, who each poled out a home run and two singles. It was these two guns that cinched the contest for the Seals in the sixth frame. When the round started the Seals were trailing, 6 to 5, but when it ended they were ahead, 10 to 6. Brower and Jolley were responsible for the visitors' spurt to the front,

Nichols Predicts 400,000 Fans Will See Games at Memorial Stadium

BERKELEY, Aug. 12. (AP)—Eleven football games at the University of California this season are expected to draw a total of 400,000 persons as compared with an attendance of 343,000 for thirteen games last year. Luther Nichols, general manager of the associated students, in making the announcement today said that 74,000 tickets already had been printed for both the "big game" with Stanford November 20, and the University of Southern California contest on October 23. Six to ten thousand more pasteboards will be turned out later for the Stanford game.

Jimmy Back from North a Lightweight; Brother Comes South Too

Jimmy McLarnin—probably the most popular bantam and featherweight Los Angeles ever had—arrived back here yesterday from Vancouver, B. C., a full-fledged lightweight.

JIMMY McLARNIN

The title of "Little Jimmy" hardly fits this boy any more. He has broadened the shoulders and has grown over an inch in height. But the same friendly smile, the same manner of politeness, is still a part of Jimmy's charm outside the ring.

"I want to introduce to you my brother Sammy," smiled Jimmy, as he was met at the boat in San Pedro by a party of friends. "Sammy is a little bigger than I am and he can

Bell is Upset by Seligman in Torrid Match

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (Exclusive)—Julius Seligman, squat, chunky New Yorker, who looks more like a guard on a football team than a tennis player, today pranced about the turf courts of the South Side Tennis Club with the agility of an esthetic dancer, and when he finished prancing he found he had crushed Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., 6-3, 6-2, in the most astonishing upset of the national junior tennis championships. The victory put Seligson in the semifinals with Emmet Pare, Chicago, Robert Seller, San Francisco, and John Doeg, Santa Monica.

JOHNNY DOEG

Bell, who was seeded at the top of the draw, and whose brilliant play on eastern courts had made him the outstanding favorite for the title, was expected to trounce the pudgy easterner with ease. Instead, Bell found himself outclassed and was swept to defeat before the gallery was aware of what was transpiring.

New York Bodies Clash in Edicts Concerning Dempsey; Mullins Starts Bare-Fist Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—The State Athletic Commission today gave its unqualified approval to the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight title battle, and ordered Promoter Tex Rickard to go ahead with all arrangements to stage the fight at the Yankee Stadium on September 16, next, in spite of the fact that Dempse yhas not yet received his license and hos no immediate prospect of getting it.

While the commission was jamming through this action in a snappy half-hour session, declaring Dempsey in good standing on all counts and recommending that he be given his omcial permit, the outer offices of the boxing board were thrown into an uproar by a fiery tilt between the champion and Paddy Mullins, gray-haired manager of Harry Wills, that nearly ended in the pair coming to blows.

SETS SPARK

Mullins, incensed by the refusal of the commission to give him a further hearing, and the apparent shelving of his lingering hopes of matching his big negro with the champion, set off the spark on a long smouldering feud by spurning Dempsey's greeting as they bumped into each other in a crowd of newspaper men and other onlookers.

Drive Ludolph From Box in First Frame to Pile Up Enough Runs to Win Out 11 to 5

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Hollywood made it three straight over the Missions by winning today, 11 to 5. As was the case in the two previous games, Hollywood got a big start early in the game and held on to it.

Wee Ludolph was knocked out of the box in the first inning before he could get a man out. Frederick greeted him with a double; Gooch tripled, O'Doul was passed and Zoellers singled. That was enough for Ludolph and Ed Bryan went on the job. Coumbe bunted the runners along and Kerr beat out an infield hit. Bobby Jones made things worse by throwing wild to first and the runs kept pattering over the pan. Lee forced Kerr at second, but Cook kicked in with a two-bagger. Singleton finally ended the round by striking out.

"SHERIFF" SINGLETON.

Bryan got going after that and escaped unhurt until the sixth when he was batted out of the box, after three runs were in. Eckert pitched to one man to retire the side and then retired in favor of a pinch hiter. Gowell Claset from Kalamazoo, a gigantic left-hander, finished the game for the Missions and he was nicked for three runs in the ninth.

Sheriff Singleton struck out nine, getting Jimmy McDowell three times, and he walked five. Three of his passes were issued in succession in the sixth and before he got the side out three men scored. Gillespie doubled in that round to score two of them, but Finn could not keep the attack going.

With his team seven runs behind

MARY BROWNE, TILDEN WIN

RYE (N. Y.) Aug. 12. (AP)—William T. Tilden and Miss Mary K. Browne gained final brackets in the men's and women's New York State championships at the Westchester Biltmore Country Club today. Rain prevented semi-finalists in the other half of each draw from finishing their matches.

Tilden, who won his way into the semifinals by doubling up last Sunday, the first day of the tournament, met B. I. C. Norton today and easily vanquished him, 6-1, 6-3. In the finals the national champion will meet the survivor of the Vitcent Richards-Francis T. Hunter and Alfred H. Chapin, Jr.-Luis Heyden quarter-final matches.

MARY BROWNE

Miss Browne's trip into the finals was gained at the expense of Mrs. Helen G. Lockhorn of Connecticut, State champion. Miss Browne won without difficulty, 6-1, 6-1. Helen Wills, playing her semi-final match with Mrs. Helene Pollak Falk of New York, won the opening set at love and stood two-all in the second set when rain halted activities for the day.

One surprise today was the defeat of Cranston Holman of Leland Stanford University, No. 9 in the national ranking, at the hands of B. I. C. Norton of St. Louis, ranked 10, by the score of 6-2, 7-5.

Richards easily won two matches against Ernest Kuhn of New York and Nathaniel W. Miles of Boston. He started his semifinal match against Hunter, but this was stopped by rain.

The finals in the women's singles will be played Saturday and the men's singles on Sunday.

MRS. SHEEDY DEFEATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Mrs. Brent Potter, former woman's city golf title-holder, defeated Mrs. Frank Sheedy, last year's winner, 4 and 2, in a semifinal match of this year's tournament, over the Lincoln Park course here, today. oFr her opponent in the finals tomorrow, Mrs. Potter will have Mrs. Louis Lengfeld, who today won from Mrs. H. P. Braddock, 6 and 4.

DENY WARNER RESIGNATION

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12. (AP)—Reports from San Francisco that Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, veteran football coach, was considering leaving Leland Stanford at the close of next season to return to the University of Pittsburgh find little credence among university officials here.

Commenting on the report, University of Pittsburgh authorities pointed out that Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, Pitt football coach, last week signed a contract that will not expire until 1929. In addition it was pointed out that Pittsburgh has adopted the graduate system of coaching.

A BOUT a month ago I drew and discussed some innovations of tennis apparel.

Since then I saw some pictures of a costume golf party, at which the contestants all appeared on the links dolled up as George Washington, clowns, ballet dancers, football players and so forth. It strikes me that the baggy "plus fours," the multi-colored sweaters (that would put Joseph's coat to shame) and the dizzy stockings, caps and shoes affected by some of our leading exponents of the Scotch pastime are no sillier than some of the outfits worn by the golfers at this costume tournament.

"Clothes make the man," says the old expression (or do the tailors say it?) but they do not make the golfer, and I get a great kick out of seeing a slovenly-dressed "tramp" trim one of these pretty-looking birds who is dressed like a Maxfield Parrish picture. Walter Hagen is known as the Beau Brummel of the links, and Walter is a great golfer in spite of the clothes he wears. Long Jim Barnes refuses to wear plus fours, or use grease on his hair and he managed to win the British open championship just the same. Which reminds me that H.R.H. the Prince of Wales shocked all ultrafastidious golfers in the "Tight Little Isle" two years ago by playing golf without a coat. Horrible, wasn't it!

The Englishman, Dr. Joscelyne, who played the Rodyr course in forty-four minutes in June, 1909, using a cleek only, had the right idea. No baggy pants handicapped his "freedom of the knees." But he had bet that he could go around in less than three-quarters of an hour. A Los Angeles golfer, Irving C. Franklin, played in a suit of armor once, too, as well as Harry Dearth. You don't need to yell "fore" when the player ahead of you is dressed like that.

Golf was either "invented" in Holland or in Scotland, but that is no reason for playing it in wooden shoes or ice skates, or while wearing kilties.

URGE SWIM TO ISLAND BE PUBLIC

Dash to Catalina Would Attract Other "Sharks" Than Ederle, Claim

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 12. — William Wrigley, Jr.'s offer of $5000 to Gertrude Eberle for an attempt next fall to swim the twenty-mile channel between here and Catalina, resulted today in a request that the offer be thrown open to all long-distance swimmers.

E.C.

Replying to questions put over the telephone, to his home at Avalon, Catalina Island, Wrigley said he told representatives of South California long-distance swimmers that all arrangements were in the hands of the Chicago Tribune, which considers Miss Ederle its protege, but that there were "no strings attached to the offer," and he would like to see the feat accomplished this year.

Preparations already are under way here and at Long Beach for an attempt to swim the channel in September. Tryouts will be held over a three-mile course late in August to select members of an eight-man relay team which will test the currents and other difficulties of the crossing.

SERAPHS SLUGGED BY SEALS

Cellarites Bump Trio of Angel Hurlers for Total of Twenty-one Hits and Win, 15 to 8

for both of them picked out this particular inning in which to slam their homers and each circuit swat arrived with Seals on the sacks. Brower scored one ahead of him, while Jolley drove two men over the plate. After that five-run splurge, which was the second in two innings made by the visitors, the ball game was cinched, but the Seals kept on scoring just the same.

The Angels started out in front by making one in the first inning when Statz singled, took third on Brazill's hit to right, and scored when Weis rolled out to Camilli. In the fourth the Home Guards added two more to their total on a walk to Jacobs, Staley's double to center, and Hannah's single to right.

However, the Seals wiped out the Angels' three-run lead with seven successful swishes of their bats in the fifth, poling out seven safeties that produced five runs and drove Glazner to the showers. Baker opened the inning by driving out a long fly to deep center that Statz snagged with one hand after a long run. After that Vargas got a freak homer when his hit down the left-field line bounced into the box seats. And then the deluge of bingles started. Mitchell singled to center and Browne smashed a single to right. Eddie Mulligan tripled down the right-field line, temporarily tying the score. Averill's single to right scored Mulligan and sent Glazner on his way. Stroud took up the hurling burden which was made heavier when Jolley and Suhr singled, the latter's poke bringing in the fifth run of the inning. Camilli and Baker obligingly grounded out to halt the excitement.

Jolley's swat was one of the longest ever made in Wrigley Field, the ball landing in the bleachers away out in deep center. Clyde Day had just relieved Stroud before Jolley performed his herculean stunt and the eminent hurler from Pea Ridge, Ark., stuck it out under fire for the rest of the contest. The only time Pea Ridge flinched was in the ninth when Gussie Suhr soaked a single off his foot. However, by that time Mr. Day's feelings had been hurt so much by Seal base hits that that swat on the hoof landed on numb territory.

WEIS HITS HOMER

The Angels came back with three more markers in their half and forged to the front again. Statz fanned and Brazill drew a walk. Moody balked and Brazill took second. Mitchell grounded out but Art Weis caught one of Moudy's fast ones and rode it over the right-field bricks, the ball hitting on top of the barrier and then bounding high over the wall. That tied it up. Hood doubled to right and Jacobs walked for the third time. Mitchell then took charge. Hemingway replaced Staley at bat and singled over second, Hood scoring to put the Angels in front.

As has been previously hinted, Brower and Jolley hit their home runs with mates aboard the bases in the sixth and the Seals took the lead to stay in front.

TWIN BILL TODAY

There will be two games today, the first game starting at 1:30 o'clock. Dr. Wayne Wright, the Angels' medicine man from Big Stone Gap, will pitch one of the games for the Seraphs and attempt to turn in his eleventh straight victory. Doc is the league's leading hurler but is liable to find the Seals a tough bunch to beat. Score:

DEMPSEY BOUT ORDERED HELD

then called the champion a "liar" as the latter denied sending a telegram of reassurance from Los Angeles last March on articles signed with the Coliseum Club of Chicago. In spite of his white hair and fifty years, the squat-figured Mullins jumped to his feet, his face livid with anger, as Dempsey turned away with a remark that "It's a good thing you're too old."

"I'm not too old to take you on," shouted Padd", raising his fist. "If you won't fight my fighter I'll lick you."

Intervention by calmer spirits, including Gene Normile, one of Dempsey's business agents, prevented the clash from going further, but Mullins flung a final bombshell when he charged that he had been offered and refused $50,000 to withdraw the challenge of Wills for a title match, now on file with the commission. "I won't reveal now who made that offer, but I'll do so at the proper time. This whole thing has been a frame-up and I can prove it."

The flare-up between Dempsey and Mullins provided the most dramatic event of the day, but caused scarcely more sensation than a new rift between the members of the athletic commission and the license committee, thus upsetting prospects that the champion would be granted his license to fight Tunney.

Today's special session of the commission, called at the behest of Commissioner George E. Brower, was designed to iron out what were presumed to be the remaining differences, but the refusal of the license officials, Col. J. J. Phelan and Col. D. Walker Wear, to attend, leaves the final outcome of the controversy still in the air.

Cols. Phelan and Wear not only bluntly refused to sit with the commission, but exhibited an attitude of antagonism which convinced observers they are likely to reject Dempsey's license application. Col. Phelan asserted he believed it "advisable, in the interest of all concerned, that both bodies function separately," but Col. Wear expressed himself more forcibly in his reply to Commissioner Brower's invitation to attend today's meeting:

"I deeply regret that you did not have the public interests in mind previous to your wire of today, and I could not under any condition so far forget my self-respect by meeting with the athletic commission."

MEET MONDAY

The license committee, according to Col. Phelan, will not meet before next Monday to reconsider Dempsey's application, but Commissioners Brower and William Muldoon, who forced today's action over the dissenting voice of Chairman James A. Farley, made it plain they will leave no stone unturned to clear the path for the Dempsey-Tunney contest.

So far as technical matters are concerned, the commission today settled most of them by receiving and accepting a challenge from Tunney to fight Dempsey, examining and approving contracts for the match submitted by Rickard, declaring the champion in good standing, and formally recommending that he be granted his license.

HEARING TODAY ON CHICAGO CONTRACT

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Aug. 12. (AP)—The verbal warfare in connection with the proposed Dempsey-Tunney match will center in Indianapolis tomorrow when a hearing will be conducted before Superior Court Judge Clinton H. Gavin in an injunction action by which B. C. Clements of Chicago, seeks to prevent the scheduled fight in New York for the world's heavyweight championship.

Andy Weisbert of Chicago, representing Clements, was to leave Chicago tonight for Indianapolis to attend the hearing. He said he expected to be able to prevent any fight with Dempsey as a participant in advance of a meeting between the champion and Harry Wills, negro challenger. He did not explain how he expected an injunction order that might be obtained in an Indiana court could prevent a bout in another State.

DOEG REACHES JUNIOR FINALS

about the court with astounding speed, making startling gets and sending Bell's best shots skimming back across the net, until the Texan was dizzy chasing them. Julius's ground strokes were nearly perfect, his forehand and backhand drives having speed, accuracy and direction. He had little trouble with Bell's vaunted chop strokes and outsteadied the favorite on every rally, taking more than half of his points on Bell's errors.

Emmet Pare raised Chicago into the semifinal bracket with a surprisingly easy victory over Ben Gorchakoff of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2.

Pare was much steadier than on the earlier days of the meet, and was stroking with more power. The Chicagoan seldom came to the net unless drawn there, and was content to remain in the back court and employ a deep driving game, his back hand being his most effective weapon.

After grabbing the opening set, Part twice broke through Gorchakoff's service to lead at 5-1 in the second. He then dropped his own serve, but came back to crack the westerner for the match, Gorchakoff tossing away the final point on a double fault.

SELLER WINS OUT

Bobby Seller of San Francisco and Don Strachan of Philadelphia staged a long whirlwind battle, in which Seller had enough extra punch to win, 8-6, 7-5. Strachan had an excellent chance to take the opening set when he led at 5-3, and again at 5-4. In the ninth game he reached set point, but lacked the punch to crack Seller's service. Both boys employed a hard driving game, and staged many long rallies.

Johnny Doeg, Santa Monica, seeded No. 2 in the tournament, eliminated his fellow-Californian, Dolf Muehleisen of San Diego, 6-3, 6-2, to move into the semifinals. Dolf was no match for Doeg, who won as he pleased.

Another startling upset occurred in the quarter finals of the junior doubles when Emmett Pare and Robert Seller defeated Henry Johnson and Malcolm Hill, national junior doubles champions, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, in one of the most thrilling matches of the tournament.

Pare and Seller played well together. Seller being at his best at the net while Pare scored often on sharply angled cross-court drives. The deciding set went with service until the sixth game when Pare and Seller cracked Johnson's serve to lead, 4-2. Johnson, who had been playing great tennis, cracked at this point and Pare and Seller directed their attack at him to win.

In another doubles quarter final match Gorchakoff and Kussman of California defeated Gustav Feuer of Miami and Maurice Bayon of New Orleans, 8-6, 6-4.

In the boys doubles semifinals Coen and O'Loughlin beat Brace and Schommer, 6-4, 6-0, and Wood and Gledhill beat Noble and Scott, 7-5, 6-2.

Another upset came in the quarter-finals of the junior doubles when Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban, Mass.; the defending junior doubles champions, fell before the brilliant onslaught of Bob Seller, San Francisco, and Emmet Pare, Chicago, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Ben Gorchakoff and Art Kussman, Los Angeles, won their quarter-final doubles junior match from Gustav Feurer, Miami, and Maurice Bayon, New Orleans, 8-6, 6-4.

Other results:

Junior singles, quarter-finals:

Junior doubles, quarter-finals:

Bob Seller, San Francisco, and Emmet Pare, Chicago, defeated Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., Waban, Mass., 4-6, 7-5, 6-3; Ben Gorchakoff and Art Kussman, Los Angeles, defeated Gustav Feurer, Miami, and Maurice Bayon, New Orleans, 8-6, 6-4.

fight like everything. He hasn't had a professional fight yet, but he handles himself like a veteran. I know because I've been boxing with him every day this summer."

Charley (Pop) Foster, who took little Jimmy before he yet weighed 100 pounds and trained him into one of the country's greatest little fighters, is chaperoning the McLarnins.

"They're two fine boys," said Pop, "and both will be champions some day. I believe it and they believe it. Jimmy will face another division of boys now. He's a lightweight. I haven't had him on the scales lately, but he is around 130 pounds, and I think Sammy is about eight or ten pounds heavier. Yes, they're both in shape right now. We just want to get acclimated again and then we are ready."

Both the McLarnins will be featured at Vernon on September 7, next, the show following the Callahan-Gans bout on the 24th inst. No opponents have been named for either yet.

PETE LATZO INJURED IN FALL FROM LADDER

SCRANTON (Pa.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Pete Latzo, world's welterweight champion, will be unable to fight for at least a month as a result of an injury to his arm yesterday. Latzo fell from a ladder while repairing a screen at his home and his arm plunged through a pane of glass, inflicting a deep gash. As a result, his bout with Siminich at Wilkes-Barre next Tuesday has been postponed. Negotiations were also under way for bouts with Tommy Freeman at Cleveland, Bert Colima in Los Angeles, and a title match with Joe Dundee in New York.

Jakie May was solved for twelve hits but kept them scattered after the first inning. The Reds cinched the game by scoring four runs in the third inning. Charley Dressen made four hits, including a homer with one on base in the third.

...osen May Upset Dope in Legion Go

UNDER COVER

Charley Rosen is all ready for the fray tonight, when he meets Dick Hoppe at the Hollywood Legion. Rosen has denied all rumors to the effect that he is of Hindu origin, and states that the towel wrapped around his head is only to keep him from getting a cold after his workouts.

BUD TAYLOR ARRIVES HERE TO FIGHT LA HOOD AT OLYMPIC

"Charley Phil Rosenberg won't run out of his title match with me in Chicago on the night of September 10 because if he does he will part company with $10,000 of his own money."

Bud Taylor, the blond terror of Terre Haute, imparted this information to a legion of friends who swarmed down to the Santa Fe station to greet him yesterday afternoon when he arrived to box Dixie La Hood at the Olympic Auditorium Wednesday night.

DIXIE LA HOOD

The $10,000 represents a part or all of Rosenberg's purse against Joey Sangor in Chicago tomorrow night." Taylor revealed further. "Promoter Paddy Mullens of Chicago made this requirement when he signed the match to get Rosenberg out of a hole. The champion was unable to raise his $10,000 forfeit any other way."

Declaring that Rosenberg has attempted all sorts of ways of running out on him, Taylor said he was breathing easily for the first time since he began chasing the champion. "Imagine Rosenberg demanding 50 per cent for himself, and 5 per cent for me with the further provision that I should give him $10,000 the day he signed the contract.

"Well, that's what he tried to get away with with Promoter Mullens but he was finally cornered and agreed to take 45 per cent and give me 10 per cent. Rosenberg's forfeit is required by the Illinois Boxing Commission."

Taylor looked hale and hearty as he stepped off the train, but he lost no time in hurrying down to the Manhattan gymnasium. "I cannot afford to lose any time," he laughed. "I haven't trained a lick for three days coming west and the meals on the dining car were awfully good.

NEGRO ATHLETES CLASH

An interplayground meet between colored athletes will be held in Washington, D. C., the 26th inst.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry

RUMORS of impending fistic engagements in and around Southern California portend some classic struggles. Jimmy McLarnin's opponent at Vernon early in September may be Joe Glick, the hard-socking young man Tod Morgan ran out on back East. Hayden Wadhams first had Johnny Dundee in mind, but the bounding Italian signed for a Morgan scrap in San Francisco September 9. Glick would be better.

Then there is that young eastern sensation, Ruby Goldstein, whose career was temporarily stunted by what Ace Hudkins did to him, itching for a fight and willing to grab the winner of the Rosen-Hoppe fight at Hollywood Legion stadium tonight. And, finally, there is considerable foundation for the whisper that Mushy Callahan will meet Tommy O'Brien at Tia Juana, September 6. Although Georges Carpentier seems to have definitely withdrawn as Eddie Huffman's foe, the sailor will still be on the card. Loss of Carpentier has not fazed the Tia Juana promoters at all. Don Hutchinson, the peerless news purveyor, is in receipt of a letter from Promoter Crofton, saying he will soon be in need of a first-class p. a.

It was great news for the committee which will select the Olympic swimming and diving team in 1948—the birth yesterday of the Pinkston twins. Offspring of a father who is the national champion and a mother with a similar title from the ten-foot platform—and both of them former Olympic champions—the Pinkston twins certainly ought to be heard from some of these days.

* * *

Speaking of swimming, a letter from Vance Vieth, who in the good old days was swimming instructor at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, announces that he is doing fine and is putting the Dallas Athletic Club over in fine fashion, in spite of the heat and a few other distracting things down in Texas.

John DePalma Lines Up Some New Mat Faces

New faces will be the principal feature of John DePalma's next wrestling show at Vernon, August 31, if satisfactory terms can be reached with a dozen or more grapplers that the promoter wired yesterday.

Wayne Munn is sought by the Vernon promoter as one of his headliners, and it is extremely likely that Joe Malcewize, Utica "Panther," will be on the card. DePalma expects an answer from both men in the next day or two, and is going ahead with his card for that date.

Among the other men sought by DePalma are Jos (Toots) Mondt, already in Los Angeles; Mike Romano, Italian heavyweight champion; Howard Cantonwine, Iowa heavyweight and pupil of Earl Caddock; Bill Demetral, Greek heavyweight champion; Chief Jim Clinckstock, Sioux Indian; John Evko, Jugo-Slavakian champion; Pat McGill, Irish title-holder; Bill Beth, Michigan lumberjack; Jack O'Dell, Irish sensation, and Stanley Stasiak, holder of the Polish belt and conqueror of both Zbyszkos.

With the exception of Mondt, McGill and Demetral, none of the men has ever appeared in Los Angeles. With Munn on his next card, DePalma is certain that he will draw a big house at Vernon and if he is successful in obtaining Malcewize on the same program, believes that he will turn them away from the historic Doyle arena.

De Palma also announced that he had obtained the promise of Billy Sandow, manager of Ed (Strangler) Lewis to send the champion into action at Vernon in the next few weeks.

JOHNNY LAMAR SIGNS TO MEET AMADOR

After two months of arguments and disagreements, Matchmaker "Sy" Saenz finally signed Johnny Lamar on the dotted line to meet Pedro Amador in the ten-round main event at Culver City next Tuesday night.

Amador has been winning all his bouts at the Culver Club, as well as Pasadena, Wilmington and San Diego. He is a stable mate of Santiago Zorrilla, another Panama boxer, and has a large following around the beach cities. The Lamar-Amador fracas is considered a "natural" by the beach fight fans, and promises to play before a packed house.

Net Stars Gather at Del Monte

FINE FIELD IN TITLE TOURNEY

Championship Play Will be Started This Morning

Tennis Satellites from All Over Coast Take Part

Maury McLoughlin Will Try to Stage Comeback

DEL MONTE, Aug. 12.—The finest field of tennis players gathered on the famous old Del Monte courts since the days of the Pacific Coast championship tournaments in 1908-1909 tomorrow will start play in the annual Del Monte championship. The field is a brilliant one, made up of practically every player of note in the West, with the exception of Bill Johnston, who is now playing in the East.

Gerald Stratford, California champion; Mervin Griffin, bay counties title-holder; Maurice McLoughlin, the "comet," and one of the greatest players of all time; Tom Driscoll of Burlingame, Pacific Coast champion the year that Willie Johnston was born; Allan Herrington, Oregon State champion; Wallace Bates, former California title-holder; Bowie Detrick, Hawaiian Davis Cup star; Morgan Fottrell, former Del Monte champion, and Willis Parker and Neil Brown, California doubles champions, are among those who will take part in this tournament. Of additional interest is the fact that John McCormack, famous Irish tenor, will team up with McLoughlin in the men's doubles.

Fifty-one entries have been sent in for the men's singles, and more than twenty-five teams have been entered in the men's doubles. The field has all the class and brilliance of a national championship.

Miss Avery Follett, fresh from a successful northwestern tour, and Mrs. Winifred Suhr Ottinger head the list of fair players.

Friday will be given over to competition in the men's and the ladies' singles. Doubles play will follow on Saturday, with semi-finals and finals in all tournaments scheduled Sunday. The size of the field necessitates strict adherence to starting times.

ERNIE HOOD DEFEATS LOPES AT PASADENA

Ernie Hood, Pasadena flyweight, defeated Georgie Lopez, flashy Wilmington bantam, after eight torrid rounds in the main event at the Pasadena Armory last night. In the semi-wind-up, Joe Cortez carried off a six-round verdict over Jack O'Brien after another interesting scrap.

Outside of the last two bouts, all the other battles terminated in knockouts, so everyone went home early. In the special event, which was scheduled for six rounds, Battling Evans put Chuck May to sleep in the first round. In the other bouts Avelina Arciniega stopped Al Molina in the third, while the curtain-raiser ended in the first with Strother Phillips a knockout victor over Willis Durham.

BOOT TO BOOT WINS BUM CHECK

Col. Bradley's Purse is Marked "No Funds"

Victory in American Derby Not So Valuable

Bank Returns Draft to Winner in Later Races

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—The check for $89,000, presented to Col. E. R. Bradley, by the Illinois Jockey Club, as the stake won by his horse, Boot to Boot, in the revived American derby, has been returned to the noted Kentucky horseman marked "not sufficient funds."

This was admitted tonight by officials of the Union Bank of Chicago on which the check was drawn. The check, token of the richest stake ever offered in the history of horse racing, was signed by Robert M. Sweitzer, County Clerk, and counter-signed by Thomas E. Bourke, general manager of the Washington Park race course. The course completed a thirty-one-day meeting on the 7th inst.

After the running of the derby, which Col. Bradley's 3-year-old won from a mediocre field, Jockey Club officials heralded the fact that the derby really had been held as vindication of their promises. They had the $89,000 check photographed and copies sent broadcast as further indication that the new track had made good.

The check was sent to Mr. Bradley at Saratoga on the 9th inst. It was returned to Chicago today. Bank officials sent it back to Mr. Bradley with the "N. S. F." indorsement. The officials refused tonight to say by what margin the check topped the Jockey Club's account. They admitted it was impossible for the bank to cash the check until the Jockey Club places more money on deposit.

It was reported that horsemen winning purses during the last two days of the Washington Park meeting received checks which the banks refused to cash. Sweitzer as late as today is said to have told these horsemen that he would make the amounts good before the end of the week.

GERTRUDE EDERLE IN BISSINGEN, GERMANY

BISSINGEN (Germany) Aug. 12. (AP) Gertrude Ederle was resting tonight in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. George Ederle, after two triumphant receptions of welcome, first at Stuttgart, this afternoon and then at this little village, where the thousand or so inhabitants turned out to greet her.

Grandmother Ederle, who has been a village celebrity ever since she traveled to America and back at the age of 75, now has become exultant. She is unutterably proud of Gertrude, who as a 7-year-old girl lived in Bissingen, and had the reputation for being able to climb the highest trees.

Extra Pleasure from an Extra Process

Even without the toasting process, LUCKY STRIKES would rank as very fine cigarettes.

It would be a fine cigarette because it is made of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly aged and blended.

But the costly extra process of toasting lifts LUCKY STRIKES out of the ordinary, gives LUCKY STRIKES three distinctive features.

Toasting at high heat for 45 minutes (1) removes all "bite" and harshness and (2) develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. Then (3) sudden chilling seals in these flavors and the proper degree of moisture which keeps them always fresh.

"IT'S TOASTED" represents a costly extra process that adds the finishing touch to a wonderfully fine cigarette.

BECAUSE IT'S TOASTED
That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

WOLVES KIDNAP CHILDREN

Fantastic Tale Related of Stolen Hindu Babies Crawling on All Fours Like Beasts

CALCUTTA, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Fantastic tales of how Hindu children, stolen by wolves, learn to crawl on all fours in imitation of their abductors until far past the age at which children usually walk are contained in reports from Lieut.-Col. Faunthorpe, magistrate of several provinces of India. During the harvest season women leave their children asleep on the ridges separating the fields, finding later that the babies have disappeared and believing them carried away by gypsies and wild beasts.

Col. Faunthrope, writing in ...ably establishes the truth of the local newspaper, mentions the case of a boy of 8 years who was captured by wolves and later photographed by Faunthrope crawling on his knees and elbows and behaving like a wolf. After his capture, the child died from fright.

The theory is advanced that a female wolf adopts a human child when its own cubs die, finding relief in suckling them. The Hindu tale probably originated when a wolf carried off a child and made away with it before the pursuers could overtake it.

Col. Faunthrope mentions the case of a pack of wolves attacking an antelope in flank formation. As soon as the wolf fighting the antelope is exhausted, it is relieved by another, which carries on the battle until the antelope is vanquished.

Kip Rhinelander Files Appeal for Annulment Suit

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Wealthy young Leonard Kip Rhinelander today had 1455 pages of argument to bolster his appeal from the decision of a jury last December at White Plains that refused to annul his marriage to the daughter of a negro taxi driver.

It was learned that printing of his appeal had been completed at a cost of $5000 and that it was filed today in the Brooklyn Appellate Court. The appeal is in two volumes and sixteen copies of each were necessary for the Appeal Court record.

The appeal consists of the trial records, including the famous but mostly unprintable love letters, one of which was 2000 words long, that figured in the testimony.

The appeal will not be argued until after October 4, and the principals will not have to be present.

PRESIDENT'S LIST FREED OF VISITORS

Coolidge Spends Day on Routine Matters and in Rest from Disturbance

PAUL SMITH'S (N. Y.) Aug. 12. (AP) President Coolidge's engagement list clear of visitors, he spent today at the executive offices attending to government business and in the solitude of White Pine Camp. The mercury stood at 67 deg., as reports were received of temperature around the century mark in Washington.

An overcast sky, with occasional light falls of rain, whipped by a chilly breeze, caused little discomfort to the President and he spent several hours at his desk disposing of matters which were described as routine in character.

A report of business conditions in the country is to be made to Mr. Coolidge tomorrow by Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce, who also will take up a number of departmental matters with the chief executive.

Secretary Kellogg of the Department of State is to arrive by automobile Sunday morning and with Mrs. Kellogg remain at the Summer White House several days. He is to be followed by Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, and a number of others whose names have not been announced, but who will appear here almost every day during the next two weeks.

John Coolidge, son of the President and Mrs. Coolidge, who has been attending the summer school of the University of Vermont, also is expected here soon, upon the completion of his course, to remain until September.

Explorers Find Greek Tomb of Great Splendor

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 12. (AP)—A royal Greek tomb, said to rival in splendor that of the Egyptian King Tut-Ank-Amen, has been unearthed near the ancient city of Asine, on the southern shores of the Peloponnesian Peninsula, Greece, by a Swedish archeological expedition. Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus is the organizer and a former personal participant in the expedtion.

Preliminary reports published here say the discoveries during the fourth annual digging, now about to close, have been greater than those of all the previous ones combined. They include masses of material throwing new light on Greek life as far back as 3000 years before the Christian era.

Vases and ornaments in great quantities have been found, and among the contents of the royal tomb, dating approximately from 1500, B. C., were several ornate gold pieces and unique weapons. One of the first things encoutered in the so-called "Lower City" was what remained of a Roman bath, with marble-lined tubs for hot and cold water. Some of the underground plumbing was found to be in such good condition that it could be used today, Dr. Otto Frodin, head of the expedition, reports.

HUSBAND, WIFE SPOKE DIFFERENT LANGUAGE

EL PASO (Tex.) Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Speak a different language from your wife so there can be no harsh words uttered during the honeymoon; dress in your best for each other and always remember the wedding anniversary. This is C. M. Wilson's recipe for married happiness. He has proved his theory to be the correct one by celebrating his fiftieth honeymoon year with Mrs. Wilson, despite Indian massacres, bad men of the plains and the usual domestic pitfalls.

Wilson married Senorita Rosa Caesares fifty years ago, repeating the marriage vows through an interpreter because he was Scotch and she Spanish.

AUSTRALIA BOASTS

Its 9,000,000-Acre Ranch Said to Shame America's Best

LONDON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Australia yields nothing to the United States in size of farms and ranches.

The Bovril ranch in Northern Australia comprises 9,000,000 acres and produces almost countless millions of little beef tea cubes for consumption in England and other parts of the British empire. Recently a record sale of cattle was made on this huge ranch. It comprised 9000 steers, all bred the same year and all the same breed.

BADGER FARM OPENED

Irishman Will Raise Animals and Sell Pelts

BELFAST (Ireland) Aug. 12. (AP)—An attempt to rear badgers for their pelts is being made by a Donegal man. The farm is in the wildest part of Donegal, close to the Errigal Mountains, and the dens are constructed on lines as near as possible to the native haunts of the animals.

The badger is regarded as a nuisance about the farmhouses of Ulster on account of its liking for poultry. It is said to be the first time on record that an attempt is being made to turn them to profitable account.

INDIAN GIRL TO BE GUEST AT PAGEANT

Okonogan Maiden Winner of Beauty Contest Will Go to Atlantic City Meet

SPOKANE, Aug. 12. (AP)—Jessie Winn, winsome Okonogan Indian maiden selected as "Princess America" at the recent Indian Congress here, today was the recipient of an invitation to be guest of honor, at the Atlantic City beauty pageant next month. She was not asked, however, to compete with bathing girl representatives from over the country for the honor of becoming "Miss America."

While Jessie's parents expressed their willingness for her to make the trip to Atlantic City the Indian beauty could not be reached. She was out in the Okonogan Hills near her home at Omak, Wash., picking huckleberries.

Officials of the Indian Congress expect she will accept and made arrangements to obtain a chaperon to go with her. Jessie, a full blood Indian, is the daughter of Chief Long Jim of the Okonogan Indians. She is a high school student.

Ontario Police Begin Poisoned-Liquor Inquiry

SUDBURY (Ont.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Three deaths in this district during the past few days have caused provincial police to begin an investigation of reports that they were caused by drinking liquor believed to contain wood alcohol.

Two of the dead, Mr. and Mrs. George Carey, are said to have been stricken from drinking liquor given Mr. Carey by a group of tourists from Buffalo, N. Y., as a bonus for acting as their cook on a fishing trip. Four other persons, relatives of the Careys, are said to be ill from drinking from the same bottle.

Neill McGuiness, who died here Saturday night, was reported to have said he had drunk some bad liquor.

FREIGHT CASHIER SHOT

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Clutching a revolver in his hand and with a bullet through his brain, Walter Keeling, freight cashier in the employ of the Union Steamship Company here, was found sitting in a chair in his room at the Dunsmuir Hotel. Keeling had evidently been dead several hours when found, but no person could be found who heard the shot.

ARIZONA'S TAX RATE REDUCED

Equalization Board Cuts Down State Assessment 11 Cents

PHOENIX, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—A saving of 11 cents has been announced by the State Board of Equalization on the assessment for State uses. The rate has been set at 67 cents on each $100 of valuation, compared with 78 cents last year, this to be added to the county rates. About 60 per cent of the State collections will be used for education, the largest item under this head being payment back to the counties of $25 per capita on the average school attendance, amounting to $1,529,000, thus equalizing the burden of school support between the agricultural and mining counties. About a third of the gross sum goes to Maricopa county.

The university receives $653,163, the Tempe Teachers' College $151,385, the Flagstaff Teachers' College $143,765, vocational education $81,000, Industrial school $60,110, instruction of deaf, dumb and blind $37,202, and county scholarships $7000. The aggregate for education is $2,662,725, from the total State levy on property of $4,376,192. Other items are: State institutions, $151,820; State prison, $144,610; Pioneers' Home, $56,160; Industrial Commission, $150,000; interest on public debt and redemption expense, $100,000.

The State also has a large income from its motor car division, amounting to about $100,000 a month from gasoline tax, license fees and freight and bus mileage taxes. Several departments of State, particularly the Corporation Commission, turn large sums into the State treasury.

CONGRATULATIONS SENT TO HINDENBURG

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—President Coolidge in a message of congratulation to President Von Hindenburg of Germany on the seventh anniversary of the birth of the German Republic, said: "On this anniversary of the birth of the republic of Germany I extend to Your Excellency on behalf of the government of the United States and in my own name cordial congratulations and earnest wishes for the continued prosperity of Germany."

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Miss Margaret Gardner of Los Angeles was among the speakers at the banquet of the New Mexico State Bar Association at the La Fonda Hotel in Santa Fe. Miss Gardner's subject was "Crime and Criminals." She was the only speaker not a resident of New Mexico.

SUNDAY, August 15TH

CAPISTRANO BEACH, famous for centuries in history and romance, has been sought by investors and home-seekers for many years. Owned by one family since the days of Imperial Spanish land grants, this beach has never before been available to the public.

A perfect beach .. easily reached .. ideally situated .. investment features

The beach, a beautiful crescent of glistening sand, lying midway between Los Angeles and San Diego on the Coast Highway, is easily reached from all parts of Southern California. It is the most desirable beach available to the public to-day. Lying within a sheltering curve of the coastline, Capistrano Beach is protected and enjoyable throughout the year.

Opening prices which include improvements, are lower than any similar property in Southern California. Location building restrictions, and traffic advantages practically insure an immediate rise in values. This investment opportunity is most unusual—and the amount of property is limited. Be sure to see Capistrano Beach at once.

Lots that touch the sea

The lots of this unit front on the ordinary high tide line, giving every purchaser an ocean frontage of his own. On the land side, each lot faces a street which affords convenient access.

How to go

From Los Angeles, East on Seventh Street to Whittier Boulevard; through Santa Ana to the beach two and a half miles south of San Juan Capistrano Mission.

MAN-EATING TAINT INHERITED

African Game Warden's Report Tells of Race of Lions With Fondness for Human Flesh Owing to Accident in Which Jungle Ancestors First Killed Man

LONDON, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—A strange story of an entire race of man-eating lions ancestors of which killed men only by accident, but which prefer human flesh because of the hereditary taint now in their blood, is contained in a report of the chief game warden of the British colony of Uganda, just received in London.

By a coincidence, it has arrived just in time, it would appear, to corroborate the result of experiments in the breeding of rats, announced at the meeting of the British Association by Prof. McDougall of Harvard. McDougall trained generation after generation of rats to find out their way from a water tank until their descendants showed a hereditary tendency to seek the right outlet.

The lions of the Sanga district of Ankole, which ordinarily would share the instinctive fear of man felt by the rest of the species, do not breed true to type as they are man eaters for the reason that their forebears were driven by accident or hunger in a period of starvation, to taste human blood.

They have caused a reign of terror, reports the game warden on the Obarara-Masala Road, and an appalling death toll has resulted. One lion alone was responsible for eighty-four deaths and another for more than forty kills before they were destroyed.

"When lions collectively take to man killing," he reports, "the taint in their blood is passed on to their offspring although new generations may not necessarily display man-killing tendencies from birth."

TWO BOXES OF JEWELS RECOVERED

Other Valuable Gems Still Mising from Vanderbilt Summer Home

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Two of the three boxes of valuable jewelry stolen from The Breakers, palatial summer home of Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, during a dinner party last Saturday night, were returned to Mrs. Vanderbilt yesterday.

Louis Shantler, a gardener's helper on an adjoining estate, found the gems under a hedge.

The third and missing box was said to contain the more costly articles, although no statement either as to value of the lost articles or of those recovered could be obtained from the family, who had not reported the theft to local police. Private detectives from New York City were said to be working on the case.

About thirty guests were at the dinner Saturday night. The air of mystery which surrounded the theft was heightened by the reported reluctance of Mrs. Vanderbilt to discuss it even with her most intimate friends.

Ask Americans Not to Help in Ruin of Belgium

BRUSSELS, Aug. 12 (AP)—An appeal to the American people to "refuse to collaborate in the ruin of Belgium" will be launched at a manifestation being organized for an early date by Belgian ex-service men in co-operation with patriotic societies.

Belgium's financial situation is such that Parliament last month granted King Albert dictatorial powers during the crisis. The Belgian franc has suffered a slump similar to the French. It was quoted today in New York at 2.47 1-2 cents, as compared with a normal prewar value of 19.3.

Belgium's debt to the United States has been funded.

WORK FRAUDS IN MAILS EXPOSED

Postal Authorities Fighting Sucker Schemes

Cincinnati Man Sold 'Advice' to Gullible Ones

Not All Part-Time Projects Fraudulent

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Following a considerable experience in seeking to prevent fraudulent use of the United States mails, the Postoffice Department has acquired a new scheme to add to its forbidden list. This is the case of a promoter who was charging people $1 each for advising them not to be the victims of any other fraudulent proposition. While the scheme, which has been made the subject of a recent fraud order, had other ramifications, it consisted in substance of a plan whereby the victim sent in $1 for advice, and the advice was "Don't be a sucker."

Postal inspectors with a sense of humor have insinuated that perhaps this advice would be worth a dollar if people would take it, but the scheme of which it was a part was such that the postal authorities decided to close down on the promoter and bar his literature from the mails.

WORKERS' EXCHANGE

This particular scheme was known as the Workers' Exchange, and operated out of Cincinnati. It is one of a long list of propositions which advertise about home work for people desiring to earn money in their spare time. The postal authorities have examined quite a few such proposals, and stopped some of them. They do not pretend to say that there are no legitimate offers by which people can earn money at home in their spare time, but the experience of the government authorities at least indicates that any persons contemplating spare-time work at home had better investigate quite fully what they are going into.

The Workers' Exchange, operated by a man named Egolf at Cincinnati, differed from other part-time-work-at-home proposals in that Egolf did not offer work for the home worker. He offered advice. His first advertisements asked ladies interested in part-time work at home to write to him. When they did so, he replied, telling them that many part-time home work advertisements were frauds, and inferring that the Workers' Exchange was the one safe way to avoid these frauds. It would advise its members which were the good home-work propositions and which were the bad ones. Membership was offered at $1, with some useful articles thrown in.

HOW THE SCHEME WORKED

Postal inspectors followed this up and found that Egolf's advice furnished for the dollar was to the effect that any advertisement offering part-time employment in your home should be viewed with suspicion unless it was from a firm located in your own home town, where you could call in person and check up on it. The postal inspectors after a long experience checking up these home-work offers can not quarrel very seriously with Egolf's warning of caution. Egolf sent more than advice to his $1 members, however. He sent them each fifteen envelopes and literature about the Workers' Exchange which they were asked to send to fifteen other persons interested in part-time work at home. If and when any of the fifteen sent in $1 to join the Workers' Exchange the original member who had mailed out the circulars was to get 25 cents commission.

This started a sort of endless-chain membership, which Solicitor H. J. Donnelly of the Postoffice Department suspects was bringing in quite a few dollars to the promoter. In the fraud order recommendation Mr. Donnelly sets forth that widows, orphans, invalids and other credulous persons were probably deceived by the plan, and he does not regard the fact that cheap fountain pens or other articles were sent to the subscribers was enough to compensate for the fraud involved. Hence Egolf is barred from further use of the mails to warn the public against other people who misuse the mails for part-time work-at-home schemes.

SCHEMES MULTIPLY

The number of these schemes has multiplied in recent years and the Postoffice Department has a constant job trying to segregate legitimate offers from fraudulent ones. The fraudulent offers usually make their appearance as simple advertisements, usually in the classified columns, offering home work to those desiring to make a little extra money.

The victim who answers a fraudulent advertisement of this sort usually gets a reply which says that the work to be done is the addressing of circulars. In order to qualify for this opportunity of easy home work, the prospect must join a club, or buy a fountain pen, or put up a deposit. Sometimes the bait is in the form of needle work to be done at home, and the prospect is asked to remit for a piece of stamped linen on which she may demonstrate her ability. These are but a few of the devices involved. The one thing which most of them has in common is the fact that the would-be home-worker must first send some money for something.

NOT ALL ARE FAKES

Not all such advertisements are fraudulent. Some concerns really do offer some forms of home employment. The advertisements are each so small that reputable newspapers which would not knowingly carry a questionable advertisement, sometimes accept these small classified ads because they can not well afford the cost of a thorough investigation. The difficulties encountered by the postal inspectors in running down these frauds demonstrate why a newspaper can not afford the task. Many of these home work proposals do really offer some work, although not always in the paying quantities which the prospect has come to anticipate. The Postoffice Department is obliged to follow each proposal through from start to finish, to determine whether or not fraud actually exists.

Shortly after the war a number of concerns advertised for home workers to make stockings, and offered to sell a machine that would knit the socks, and the materials from which to knit them, and also to buy the finished product, or to sell it for the home worker. In some cases these concerns actually performed everything that they stated, while in others the machines would not work, or the selling concern failed to find a market for the socks, or the price fell below expectations. A great many people were thoroughly trimmed by proposals of this sort, but the government had to be very careful in running down these cases so as not to injure any legitimate concern.

The worst phase of all of the illegitimate part-time work schemes is that they find for their victims people who can least afford the loss of even small sums of money. Invalids who have had aroused by the advertisements the hope of earning a little something from their beds or wheel chairs, and thus relieving the distress of their families, are typical victims of these schemes. Thus a proposal which looks like a veritable Godsend to some unhappy and unfortunate invalid turns out to be a fraud, and the victim is robbed of whatever little sum he or she may have possessed.

The postal inspectors can not issue any general warning about these plans, as they are not authorized by law to do so. They can only investigate when complaints are made, and stop any scheme which proves to be using the mails to defraud. They do not pretend to assume that there are not legitimate plans by which people may earn money at home. An inspection of the postal records on such cases, however, would lead any prudent person to investigate carefully before sending money on any such plan. The advice of Egolf to the effect that all other mail-order part-time-work-at-home schemes were decidedly suspicious seems to have been pretty good. Since the Postoffice declares that he was in the same line of business, he ought to know.

HINDU CHIEF IN PROTEST TO VICEROY

Demands That Official Act Only as Representative of British Crown

LONDON, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—The Nizam of Hyderabad has sent a strongly worded protest to the Viceroy of India demanding that in the future the Viceroy must act as the representative of the British crown, and not as a representative of the government of India in dealing with the Nizam.

The Nizam's contention is that he has never entered into treaty negotiations with the India government, but only with the British government, through the crown. The Nizam's protest is in the nature of a reply to Lord Irwin's recent strong note to the Hyderabad ruler, charging him with corruption and mismanagement in his domains and demanding that a British administrator be given charge of certain departments.

The note is another evidence of the revolt of Hindu princes generally to the effort of the government of India to infringe on their native powers. It is understood that the recent climb down of the government of India was due to a recognition of those facts, and that it is not desired to enter into controversy under present stormy political conditions.

German Seized While Guest of China Governor

AMOY (China) Aug. 12. (AP)—Details of the arrest of a German citizen last Sunday at Foochow while guest of the Military Governor at a banquet have been received here. The German is Otto Heinson, who has been employed since last March by the American firm of Brewster & Co.

The advices received stated that Heinson was taken into custody without a warrant, shackled and conveyed through the main streets of the city to a military prison on a charge of being connected with an unlawful dealing in firearms in which a former employer of his was supposed to have been involved. In connection with this deal the tupan or Governor at Foochow is said to claim he was swindled out of a large sum of money.

Heinson denies any knowledge of the asserted arms transaction or swindle claim. The Governor refuses to release him or admit him to bail, say the advices, until Heinson produces the money or arms. Civil authorities say they are powerless to aid Heinson. Legal procedure requires that the prisoner must supply his own food and necessities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—The frigate Constitution—"Old Ironsides" of song and story—will be commemorated by a special 2-cent stamp if Postmaster-General New heeds the plea of representatives of twenty patriotic organizations.

Headed by Mrs. Noble Newport Potts, president of the National Patriotic Council, the delegation also requested the department to place in use a cancellation stamp bearing the legend "Save Old Ironsides." The organizations are aiding in raising $500,000 to recondition the famed "battle wagon" of Revolutionary days and believe that a special stamp and cancellation legend would create interest in the effort.

REDWOOD LOG "GOLD MINE"

Lumber valued at $3000 and thirty circular dining-table tops, each worth $7, were cut from a redwood log found partly buried in the sand by an Oregon man who declared that the discovery was almost as good as a gold-mine. Two days' work with team and scraper were required to unearth the huge log, which was eight feet in diameter and fifty feet long. According to the rings it was 527 years old and had lain in the same place for many years before anyone had thought it worth the trouble to remove it.—[Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Hot Dogs Not New

Can it be that the luscious Frankfurter flourished in good Queen Bess's day? A correspondent has discovered in Edmund Spenser's "Mother Hubbard's Tale" the phrase, "Hot Syrian dogs," and in an adjoining line, "Chafed Lyons," referring, perhaps, to the celebrated "saucisson" manufactured in that town.—[Outlook.

PORTERVILLE IN GROWING CLASS

New Directories Distributed Give Population at 5918

Truck Drivers Watched by Tulare Traffic Squad

Sequoia Mount Gets Name of Eagle Scout Peak

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 12. — Distribution of the 1926 county directories has been begun by the McNeil Directory Company of Sacramento. Fgures compiled by them based upon actual names listed, gives Porterville a population of 5918, which is 300 more than those listed last year.

It is interesting to note that the company this year used an actual count of names to make up the population figures instead of the multiple method employed last year, found to be far from correct as indicated by comparison with the actual count.

This city holds its place as second in size in Tulare county, with Visalia only slightly in the lead, Tulare next, followed by Lindsay and Exeter in the order named. Only an estimated population is given for Dinuba, no actual count having been made, but that count would place Dinuba somewhere between Tulare and Lindsay.

TRUCK DRIVERS WATCHED

VISALIA, Aug. 12. — Throughout the past month Officer L. R. Van Gordon of the county traffic squad has been watching carefully in his efforts to enforce the traffic regulations concerning trucks to prevent overloading, speeding and traveling with insufficient rubber. During the month of July twenty-five truck drivers were arrested for insufficient rubber, nine for overloading, and twenty-seven for speeding. All paid fines.

SCOUT MOUNTAIN NAMED

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 12. — Believed to be the first mountain in the United States to be named after the Boy Scout organization, Eagle Scout Peak, christened by the sweat of three Eagle Scouts from the San Joaquin Valley, has been officially named. The mountain, which bears no record of having been ascended previously, rises 12,060 feet above sea level and overlooks the Kern Canyon and the Kaweah River, was climbed by Francis P. Farquhar, well-known mountaineer, and Eagle Scouts Ode Swift of Madera; Eugene Howell of Dinuba, and Frederick Armstrong of Orange Cove. Recently Emil Gundelfinger, president of the Sequoia Council of Boy Scouts of America, took a party of sixteen Eagle Scouts on a two weeks' camping trip in the High Sierras. All of the boys in the party reached the summit of Mt. Whitney. And all satisfied their heart's desire in catching fish.

BOYS FACE COURT

VISALIA, Aug. 12. — John Henry Young, 21; George Gaza, 17, and Roy Sparks, 17, taken into custody by the combined county of Tulare and city of Visalia authorities, were before the Superior Court yesterday afternoon charged with burglaries of a store in Farmersville, a home near Exeter, and theft of the Lombardi automobile from Visalia, July 26. Young's hearing went over upon his request for an attorney, Dickson F. Maddox being appointed, while the cases of Gaza and Sparks, both juveniles, went over to Thursday morning. The judge intimated that probation might be granted to the two juveniles, but that the court was not very much inclined to grant it. The two younger boys were arrested at Miramonte near Gen. Grant Park, while Young was apprehended in Visalia.

Music for the schools will be in the hands of Miss Krehbiel and Miss Sellars. The board of trustees has ordered additional playground equipment, and is having new cement walks put in, a cement floor put in the garage, the interior of the buildings redecorated; all to be in readiness for the opening of school in September.

SHERIFF TO SELL LAND

PHOENIX, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—On the 24th inst., under foreclosure the Sheriff of Apache county will sell 6000 acres of farm and grazing land located under the Lyman dam near St. Johns, to repay the State about $300,000 due for advances and interest made from the school funds in 1920. Only slight hope is entertained that the schools ever will be reimbursed, as the lands are considered worth much less than the sum advanced.

Dos Nuevas Incidencias en los Asuntos Religiosos de Méjico

WASHINGTON, Agosto 12.—Dos incidentes han hecho que se dirija hoy la atención del ministerio de Estado hacia Méjico, en los momentos en que se preparaba el ministro Kellogg para marchar rumbo al campamento de White Pine, a hablar con el Presidente Coolidge sobre problemas internacionales. El embajador Sheffield informó de que había intercedido con el ministerio de Relaciones mejicano en favor de otro norteamericano encarcelado, el señor J. H. Grande, de Los Angeles, que fue arrestado hace una semana, y está detenido, sin oírsele, por un delito no especificado.

En tanto que los funcionarios discutían sobre las consecuencias posibles de ese incidente, el señor Kellogg señaló para mañana una cita, que proporcionará al gobierno norteamericano su primer contacto oficial con la controversia religiosa de Méjico. Se allanó a ver al señor J. J. Flaherty, Caballero Supremo de los Caballeros de Colón, y a recibir de manos de él una moción, que fue aprobada en la reciente convención de la citada orden en Filadelfia, y por la que se pide que intervengan los Estados Unidos para proteger a los eclesiásticos mejicanos en su disputa con el Presidente Calles.

Estos dos asuntos, así como el de las negociaciones incompletas con el gobierno de Méjico, en lo relativo a las nuevas leyes petrolera y agraria, van a ser indudablemente discutidos por el ministro Kellogg con su jefe, durante los cuatro o cinco días que pase aquél en la Casa Blanca veraniega.

Fueron Dados de Baja Aquellos Oficiales que son Caballeros de Colón

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Agosto 12.—Hoy se dijo aquí que habían sido dados de baja en el ejército mejicano todos los oficiales que son caballeros de Colón. Se ha anunciado que esta medida no obedece a la actual controversia religiosa, sino que es el resultado de un proceso gradual de eliminación, que viene manifestándose desde hace dos años.

El motivo de la persecución es que fueron encontrados en su casa cinco rifles de gran calibre. Esta noticia la ha dado hoy aquí un sacerdote de Zacatecas.

El padre en cuestión acaba de recibir una carta de su familia, en la que le dicen que los rifles fueron malévolamente "plantados" en casa del señor obispo. Han sido encarcelados varios deudos del señor Moreira, y la policía los está sometiendo a interrogatorios. Con motivo de este asunto, ha sido también reducido a prisión un señor de 60 años, padre de un sacerdote.

Investigación Definitiva en el Asunto de la McPherson

Ayer fue nombrada por el gran jurado, momentos antes de que este cuerpo empezara a disfrutar de dos semanas de vacaciones, una comisión especial, que habrá de estudiar algunas nuevas fases del caso de la desaparición de Aimée Semple McPherson, pastora del Templo del Angelus.

El futuro del asunto de la McPherson, en lo que al gran jurado atañe, dependerá exclusivamente del informe que rinda esa comisión especial, al reunirse de nuevo el gran jurado, dentro de dos semanas. En su primera sesión, inmediatamente después de las vacaciones, se ocupará el jurado, antes que nada, en el asunto de la McPherson.

Súpose ayer de fuente autorizada que la comisión de que hablamos se compone de ocho miembros del jurado, cuando menos, y que decidióse dar tal paso, después de una larga discusión, como el único que haya de conducir a una resolución definitiva de este asunto, en un sentido o en otro.

La comisión va a trabajar con la más absoluta reserva, y se ha prohibido estrictamente dar a la publicidad cualquiera de sus actos.

Se conjetura que la repetida comisión especial va a interrogar a dos nuevos testigos, que saben algo de la aventura de Carmel. Se trata de un millonario de Santa Bárbara y su señora, quienes tuvieron ocasión de ver en Carmel a la señora "McIntire" el 25 de Mayo último, y que hacieron viaje especial este último domingo para ver en su iglesia a la señora McPherson. Aseguraron, luego de haberla visto en el púlpito del Angelus Temple, que se parecía notablemente a la mujer que vieron en Carmel.

STATE SHIPS FOURTH OF ALL FRUITS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Almost one-fourth of the total shipments of thirty-six principal fruits and vegetables in the United States last year originated in California. This was revealed in comparative figures made public today by the State Department of Agriculture.

The list of fruits and vegetables chosen for comparison originated in Washington and does not take into account such crops as artichokes, almonds, apricots and walnuts, in which California shipments would loom particularly large. Were these specialty crops included, California's share of the nation's shipments would be considerably more than one-fourth.

Shipments of the thirty-six fruits and vegetables under consideration totaled 976,546 cars for the entire United States, as compared with 241,949 cars for California alone.

ELLSWORTH GETS LARGE LIFE ESTATE

North Pole Explorer to Share With Sister in $3,913,964 Property

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Lincoln Ellsworth, who flew over the North Pole with Amundsen and Nobile, will share equally as a life estate with his sister, Mrs. Clare Ellsworth Prentice, of Seabright, N. J., the bulk of the $3,913,964 estate left by his father, James W. Ellsworth. An appraisal of the estate was filed with the State Tax Commission today.

James W. Ellsworth died June 2, 1924, a resident of Hudson, O., he retired from active business several years before his death.

The taxable estate in New York aggregates $97,933. The explorer and Mrs. Prentice, together with Albert A. Augustus, who received $100,000 under the provisions of the will, are the executors. The son and daughter are residuary legatees.

This was announced today through the office of President Campbell. Miss Hale, majoring in social economics, graduated with high marks last spring.

LONG FLIGHT PLANS HELD UP BY NAVY

Rodgers's Activities Still in Doubt While Department Considers Its Course

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Navy plans for operation of the special long-range air squadron under Commander John Rodgers have not yet reached a definite stage.

The two new planes under construction at Philadelphia will be sent to the San Diego base because of the better flying conditions on the California coast, but it has not been decided whether they will go overland or by way of the Panama Canal.

A flight around South America has been suggested, but there are many indications that the present policy of the Washington administration is against flights of that character which could be undertaken only after diplomatic negotiations with the countries along the way whose territorial waters must be crossed.

It also was said at the office of the acting Navy Secretary today that no definite plan is under consideration for another attempt at a nonstop flight from the California coast to Honolulu. The results of Commander Rodgers's experiments will be studied closely before the naval authorities decide whether the new planes are competent to make the oversea's jump.

NORGE BROUGHT SOUTHWARD

HOME FOR NEW BANK OBTAINED

Pan-American Leases Space in Merritt Building

Basement, First and Second Floors to be Used

Present Occupants to Give Possession September 15

A twenty-five-year lease on the first three floors and basement of the Merritt Building at the northwest corner of Eighth and Broadway was obtained yesterday by the Pan-American Bank of California, now under organization, from Huleit C. Merritt, owner of the property, according to an announcement made by H. B. Hening, vice-president and secretary of the bank.

Organization of the Pan-American Bank has been under way for several months, and to date approximately 80 per cent of its capitalization has been subscribed. It will have an authorized capital of 30,000 shares of $100 par value stock and a surplus and contingent fund of $1,000,000. The bank will be an independent institution without branches, and will conduct a commercial, trust and savings bank business.

The Merritt Building is at present occupied by the Vogue Company, but under the terms of the lease, possession will be given the Pan-American Bank on September 15 when alterations will begin, it was stated. While they are unable to determine just when the bank will open its doors, owing to the time required in installing money and safe-deposit vaults, officials of the bank hope to be able to have a reception at the new quarters during the coming convention of the American Bankers' Association.

REMODEL QUARTERS

In the basement will be installed a modern safe-deposit vault. The first floor will be modeled into a modern banking room with new equipment and fixtures. The second floor will accommodate the bank's trust and savings departments, and the third floor, for the present, will be subleased to affiliated businesses. Tentative officers of the Pan-American Bank of California are as follows: F. W. Smith, formerly vice-president of the United States National Bank, president; Will E. Blackburn, former investment dealer of New York; Edwin F. Smith, capitalist, and Theodore T. Hull, attorney, vice-presidents and R. B. Sammons, trust officer.

INCREASE RATE OF REDISCOUNT

First Change Made by New York Bank Since April

This is the first change since April 22, when the rate was cut from 4 to 3½ per cent.

AUTO FIRM ANNOUNCES MELON CUT

General Motors to Pay 50 Per Cent Dividend, Payable in Stock

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Directors of the General Motors Corporation today declared a stock dividend of 50 per cent in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.75 on the common stock. The regular quarterly dividend is also payable on the new stock.

The corporation's authorized capitalization consists of 10,000,000 shares, of which only 5,800,000 shares, including 638,400 issued for Fisher Body properties, are not outstanding. There is therefore sufficient authorized but unissued stock on hand to take care of the stock dividend.

The directors also declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1.50 on the 6 per cent preferred, $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred, and $1.50 on the 6 per cent debenture stocks.

Earnings of the corporation for the first six months of this year far exceeded those of any corresponding period in its history and were only slightly below those for the full year 1925. Net income applicable to dividends in the first half of the year totaled $93,285,674, which is equivalent to $17.33 on the stock then outstanding.

Both the stock dividend and the cash dividends on the common stock are payable September 11, 1926, to stock of record at the close of business the 21st inst.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

LONDON, Aug. 12. (By wireless)—The market was quiet, except investment stocks which showed a strong tone. The dull market was partly due to the further decline in the franc to 130.

Increasing attention was given also to monetary considerations, especially to the possibility of a rise in the American discount rate. American gold exports to Canada are noted, but more attention is paid to the Wall street boom. Preliminary trade figures for July show the value of imports up a little, under £2,000,000, and exports £9,500,000. Full official figures can be had Friday.

The money market was easier as regards loans in the afternoon owing to yesterday's borrowings at the bank, but discounts were firm on the expectations that your discount rate will rise tonight.

The continent is buying bills at 4 1-4 per cent. Stocks were quiet and investments easier.

Rails were better on more hopeful feeling about the coal situation. Details are advertised of the conversion of mark loans of German States and cities.

Chartering operations for shipping coal from America is again increasing. The franc closed distinctly above the worst at 177.

The Bank of France return shows a decline of 550,000,000 advances to the State and note circulation is down nearly 1,000,000,000. Currency is down 2,816,000,000 now standing at 292,878,000.

COMMUNITY PROPERTY OPINIONS ARE SOUGHT

To inform the public concerning the community property opinion recently handed down by Atty.-Gen. John G. Sargent, the Los Angeles chapter of the State Society of Public Accountants is undertaking to collect data on the various judicial pronouncements and treasury decisions on this subject, it was announced yesterday by George M. Thompson, president of the Los Angeles chapter. The Treasury opinion holds that in determining the gross estate of a deceased husband for the purpose of Federal estate tax there should be included the entire value of the community property.

Mr. Thompson believes that the statute of limitations will act as a bar against the collection of a considerable portion of the tax in the cases where the decedent died five years ago or more.

SUGAR MARGIN OF PROFIT INCREASES

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—The National Sugar Refining Company will earn more than the $7 annual dividend requirement on its $15,000,000 capital stock this year, James H. Post, president of the company, said today. The margin of profit is now greater than at any time this year, Mr. Post explained, and the company is in a position to profit by any further appreciation in refined quotations.

WOOL UNDERTONE FIRM

BOSTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—The undertone in the wool market is strong. Top makers are buying a little more wool and mills are making a little more inquiry. Mills are taking a few sample lots in small quantities for immediate needs. Some fine French combing domestic wools have been taken up by top makers at 1.00@1.05. Bulk of the average stock. A fair quantity of Oregons & baby combing and valley clipped sold at 41@63 cents in the grease, which is estimated to cost 86@85 cents scoured basis. Foreign wools are getting inquiry but sales are slow.

KEMP TAKES CHEERFUL SIDE

Views British Conditions Optimistically; Impressed On Trip by Growth and Size of English Banks

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Broadly considered as the home land for the vast British Empire, there is much about economic England to impress the casual observer. This, at least, is the attitude that A. N. Kemp, vice-president of the California Bank, prefers to take in talking about his recent trip through England and Scotland, from which he has just returned. His impressions of economic England, from this point of view, are more sanguine than pessimistic.

Mr. Kemp insisted yesterday that he was not in England as an economic observer or as a banker, but merely as a traveler. His remarks, nevertheless, show that the banker was in the ascendant, for he dismissed the outward evidences of unrest and business unsettlement as relatively unimportant in judging of the economic status of England. More pertinent, to his way of thinking, is a conception of the British Empire as a whole, its tremendous banking strength and its enormous tonnage of commerce to and from its colonial possessions.

LARGER THAN AMERICAN

British banks, Mr. Kemp pointed out, have not grown in resources in the last five years, but it is important to note that they have held their own. And even at this rate, the British banks are tremendous financial institutions, far larger than any in the United States. Through long chains of branches they have financed and are continuing to finance British trade throughout the world, which is reflected in the position that Great Britain holds in world commerce. The Midland Bank, Ltd., the largest in the world, has deposits in excess of the two largest banks in the United States.

The traveler through England and Scotland, Mr. Kemp conceded, may see outward evidence of industrial illness and social unrest here and there. On the whole, however, his observations on a motor trip convinced him that conditions are in excellent shape.

"Even in the colliery districts," he said, "there was not the slightest indication of unrest. The people have every appearance of contentment; they are well clothed, cheerful, apparently well fed, and living in homes far more prosperous and neater than in the days before the war. It is true that one noticed many idle factories, but the general tone of cheerfulness allayed any apprehension on this score in the mind of the traveler. The Englishman lives far more comfortably than we do, although he doubtless has a smaller income."

BANKS CONSOLIDATED

Perhaps it was because his first banking experience was in the London office of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation that the California bank executive was particularly interested in the status of English banks while he was abroad. He found only two of his old associates still at their posts in the London bank, and the banks themselves had undergone surprising changes. The banks that now stand in the London financial district are the result mainly of many consolidations within the last decade, as is indicated to the visitor by large and costly branch-bank buildings grouped near each other in the district.

Branch-banking development in England would surprise the Californian, Mr. Kemp said. The "Big Five" have aggregate deposits of about $7,500,000,000, compared to slightly more than $3,000,000,000 for all banks in California. They reach into every corner of the British Empire and do about three-fourths of England's banking. These highly developed systems have received political support in their expansion programs in recognition of the requirements for international commercial growth.

"In the United States," Mr. Kemp remarked, "we may think that branch banking is taking too large a toll from the ranks of the independents. We are only, however, in the first stage of the development that England has carried to fulfillment. Approximately fifty separate banks are left, while in the United States there are about 30,000. The Midland Bank, for illustration, has about 1850 branches; Lloyd's, 1700; Barclays, 1800; Westminster, 1000, and National Provincial, 1130.

"This same group has about as many branches as there are national banks in the United States, although it should be noted that the combined deposits of our national banks considerably exceeds the total of the 'Big Five.' It must be remembered, however, that these are the banks that have chiefly assisted and will continue to assist in the growth and maintenance of Britain's position in international commerce."

Net income from operations, before depreciation, interest, etc., amounted to $930,760. Deductions for depreciation totaled $123,121, and for interest and amortization $176,522.

The company's consolidated balance sheet as of June 30, showed current assets amounting to $11,128,980, including $1,483,527 cash, $2,135,472 accounts and notes receivable and inventories $7,509,980. Current liabilities amounted to only $1s3,491. The profit-and-loss surplus was $3,134,727 on June 30, and total assets were valued at $15,764,719.

"The financial condition of the company is very gratifying," E. C. Young, president, said, "showing cash on hand of nearly $1,500,000 with less than $200,000 current liabilities."

INCOME OF NATIONAL UTILITY UP

National Public Service Corporation for the twelve months ended June 30, 1926 showed gross earnings of $23,972,828.50 and net of $10,066,765.69. It was announced here yesterday. This was an increase over the corresponding period ended June 30, 1925 of $2,453,152.19 in gross and $1,455,232.04 in net.

For the second quarter of 1926 the June statement shows a gain in gross of $734,207.55 and an increase in net of $320,066.26. A. E. Fitkin, president of the National Public Service Corporation, points out in the statement that those figures reflect the first quarter of operations of the corporation as now constituted. The last consolidation of properties in the national system was the merger in February of five independent companies in Virginia into the Virginia Public Service Company. Since that time considerable progress has been made in the interconnecting of these companies and in the elimination of duplicating agencies in various companies.

The acquisition by Jersey Central Power and Light Company of the Wildwood Gas Company is also announced in the statement. Work has begun on increasing the capacity of the Wildwood Company and the laying of larger mains in order to take care of increased business.

August Cattle Sales Increase Over Year Ago

Sales through the California Cattlemen's Association during the month of July exceeded sales for June by 27.3 per cent, according to a report just issued by the association. For the first week of August the volume of business was three times as great in the first week in July, and 10 per cent better than in the first week of August last year.

Los Angeles and San Francisco buyers continue to take a large share of association offerings, but sales to other California points have steadily increased during the past few months.

The beef-cattle market remains strong, not reflecting the depression characteristic of eastern markets this season. Mountain cattle are about ready to move, and association field offices have been reopened in California mountain areas, as well as in Nevada and Oregon, in preparation for fall shipments. New offices will be opened in Northern Arizona to care for a large increase in membership in that section.

Peaches More Plentiful Now Than Potatoes

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Peaches at present are more plentiful than potatoes. A report today from the government Bureau of Agriculture Economics says peach shipments this week shatter all records.

Nearly 7500 carloads have rolled to city markets, as against 5000 the preceding week and 3200 a year ago. No other product had a volume half as great. Much of the time, the country's combined peach shipments were almost equal to a car every minute day and night.

Rice Crop This Season Will be Second Largest

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12. (AP)—The second largest rice crop in California's history is indicated in a forecast made public today by the Federal-State co-operative crop-reporting service, of which E. E. Kaufman is the chief.

Basing its estimate upon a total planting of 180,000 acres, the department predicts a production of 8,370,000 bushels, or about 3,766,000 bags. Last year the rice production was 4,738,000 bushels; in 1924, 4,365,000 bushels, and in 1923, 5,671,000 bushels.

The largest rice crop ever produced in California was in 1919, when the production was 9,300,000 bushels.

RAIL PAY PARLEY WATCHED

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—No official announcements have come from the newly-appointed board of mediation which began its sessions in New York on Monday, but the initial effort of the members to mediate a difference between the eastern conductors and trainmen and the railroads will be followed closely by Wall street for what it may indicate of future negotiations.

The financial community is interested to know how President Coolidge's new experiment will work out, for the plan, as created at the close of the recent session of Congress, offers in the opinion of most business men a more practicable basis for settlements than did the old labor board which was supplanted.

The board met on Monday to hear the appeal of the conductors and trainmen for a 20 per cent increase in pay and it met again Tuesday to allow the railroads to present their side of the case. Once they had heard both views the five members of the board went into executive session to study the material that had been presented to them.

It is not the business of the new board to make an award after its examination of the facts either in favor of the employees or the railroads, so that the country should not expect soon to hear what decision has been reached by the arbitrators. It is the desire of the board to iron out all possible differences between the two groups, however, and quietly to assist the railroads and their employees in reaching an agreement on the question in dispute. That the avowed purpose of the board is to mediate differences and not to make decisions for one side or the other should be a material help to it in the delicate tasks ahead.

Hope for the success of the board is expressed by those who have observed that the five mediators all are men of experience in their fields. Col. Samuel E. Winslow has behind him a long experience in Congress, and on the Interstate Commerce Commission and has made a favorable impression on those whom he has met in connection with the New York session.

With him are Hywel Davies, who has had experience as a mediator in the Department of Labor; former Gov. Edwin Morrow, and G. W. W. Manger, both former members of the Labor Board; and Carl Williams of Oklahoma, who brings to the board a knowledge of the agricultural situation that should be valuable to it.

DRY WEATHER HITS RANGES

Ranges in Western States declined in condition during July as a result of hot dry weather prevailing in many States, and the condition of live stock is slightly lower than a month ago, according to the monthly range and live-stock report of the United States Division of Crop and Live Stock Estimates.

In the east slope and plains country range conditions are generally good, but with dry spots in Eastern Montana, Western Dakotas, Northeast Wyoming, Eastern Colorado and Western Kansas and Nebraska. Rains have been general in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Range conditions are mostly excellent in the mountain sections. The Northwest States and intermountain area have suffered from continued dry weather, where in many sections stock water is becoming short, feed is curing early and lower ranges burning badly.

However, in most sections, the report states, range feed has been plentiful to date. Extensive forest, brush and grass fires have added to the difficulty and destroyed considerable good range. California is rather dry, but ranges furnish good feed. Arizona conditions are mostly favorable, following well-distributed summer rains.

Cattle and calves are generally in excellent condition, with a few exceptions noted in the localities hit hardest by the drought. In the dry areas cattle are not expected to make normal gains from now on. Present prices for range cattle are not encouraging, and little is reported in the way of local sales.

Sheep and lambs continue to show excellent condition. They have been affected but little by hot, dry weather, except that lambs are lighter than last year, and are showing a smaller fat end. In Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado lambs are expected to be better than last year, while in Wyoming they are very good, and in Montana mostly good. Dry ranges have forced early and rapid market movement of lambs from Idaho and Nevada, and this tendency is likely to become more widespread during the next few weeks.

Union Pacific Head Predicts Farm Comeback

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—With fair prices for farm products, the West will take another step in its economic comeback this year, Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific Railroad, said today. He reported business conditions stable and crops satisfactory in most of the Western States.

The Union Pacific's gross revenues and net operating income for July will be larger than for the same month last year, he said, with the road's freight movement currently running ahead of the summer months for any year since the war.

Industry Group Erratic; Rails Forge Ahead Independently

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (Exclusive) It was another day of highly erratic movements in the industrial list on the stock exchange, with the majority of the leading issues taking their cue from the action of General Motors. That stock covered a wide range, as the time for the event of future dividend action drew near. It was difficult to judge by the action of the issue what the meeting after the close might bring, but those who have been confident right along stood by the belief that a stock dividend would be forthcoming.

Intervals of strength and weakness characterized the industrial list as a whole, as first one group and then the other enjoyed momentary success. Rails moved independently of the industrials, shaping their course upward under the leadership of the better grade dividend payers, such as Atchison, New York Central and Norfolk and Western. The first and the last mentioned of the above issues lifted their high prices for the year substantially. There was a marked disposition to await developments after the close, which included the weekly Federal Reserve meeting, and trading as a result was again relatively quiet.

General Motors Set Pace

General Motors set the pace for the rest of the industrial list during the session. The sharp break at the closing yesterday brought another accumulation of selling orders overnight, but powerful support buying was evident at the outset and it looked for a time as though the reaction had been stemmed. The stock had a sharp bulge in the first few minutes which carried it several points above the previous closing levels. Resumption of speculative selling for the short account soon swamped the market for the stock, however, and before the end of the first half-hour the issue had sunk well below the 200 level. Thereafter movements were highly erratic, with a spread of more than 7 points between the early low and the high of the subsequent recovery. Some covering was done toward the close as sellers reduced commitments in advance of the dividend meeting. Other motors and leading industrials were guided by the movement in that stock.

General Motors Dividend

With the street anxiously awaiting the action of the General Motors board at its meeting after the close there was some hasty calculation of what the declaration of 50 per cent stock dividend would mean. It was figured that this would mean that the buyer of 100 shares for, say, $21,000, would have 150 shares automatically, on an average price of about 140 for a stock paying $7 dividend, with excellent chances of occasional extras. This, it was argued, would not seem an extravagant figure. The stock, of course, could have been bought much cheaper than 210, the arbitrary figure used in the above calculation, during the day, and thus the profit to the holder would have been larger proportionately.

Rails Resume Advance

Revival of interest in the sound dividend-paying rails, which were strong during the day, despite the further highly erratic movements in the industrial leaders, was noteworthy. Atchison ran up sharply, duplicating its previous record high levels, and though stock-dividend talk has been spiked on several occasions recently by officials of the road, the rumor cropped up again, a point being made of the fact that the company had in the last five years carried to surplus undistributed earnings equal to around $55 a share. Other rails were strong also, with Norfolk and Western lifting its peak levels for the year. Realization that July earning statements would soon begin to appear was probably behind the bulk of the buying. Attention was directed to that phase of the situation by the remark of Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, who said that road's gross and net for July would be somewhat better than last year.

Copper Ignores Favorable Data

Copper stocks were decidedly neglected during the day, little attention being given the appearance of data on the statistical position of the industry at the end of July. The figures set forth during the day explained in some measure the reason for the better tone that has been apparent in the market for the actual metal in late. A drop of 1156 tons or 2,312,000 pounds in available stocks was shown, indicating that consumption has been running ahead of production recently. Though offerings of stocks of leading producers were readily absorbed, there was no sign of aggressive buying, except in the case of American Smelters, where it was plain that the bulk of demand arose from those who had sold the stock recently.

THE INVESTOR

Dillon, Read & Co. Believe Foreign Governments will be Able to Repay Debts to American Investors Without Undue Disturbance of Economic Relations.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (Exclusive) Ever since the signing of the armistice the question has been repeatedly raised regarding the ability of foreign governments to repay their debts to American investors. Many of the views expressed in this connection have been those of persons who perhaps were not in a position to obtain all the facts.

This made for confusion and no doubt caused many investors to avoid the purchase of foreign obligations. It is therefore a privilege to obtain the views of a large banking house on this subject.

In their latest investment review, Dillon, Read & Co. take the stand that these debts can be paid in time and without any undue disturbance of the economic relations between foreign countries or between these countries and the United States. This opinion is based largely on the operation of sinking funds and the private purchase of bonds by the nationals of the countries issuing such bonds. The reasoning of the bank is along the following lines:

"Nearly all of the foreign government bonds sold in this country have a sinking fund provision, and already the total repayments through the working of these sinking funds have been large.

"It is difficult to get accurate figures showing to what extent the original principal amount of foreign government dollar loans has been reduced by sinking-fund operations.

"The New York Stock Exchange carries on its official quotation list the total amount of bonds outstanding of each listed issue. Corporations or governments whose bonds are bought in or called through the working of the sinking fund are supposed to report immediately to the New York Stock Exchange the amount of such redeemed bonds, and the sum of these bonds is subtracted by the Stock Exchange authorities from the figures of total bonds of that issue listed. As a matter of fact, trustees and sinking-fund agents have not always notified the Stock Exchange, and it has been necessary to apply directly to the sinking fund agent to determine the exact amount that has been retired.

"By the simple method of subtracting the present amount listed on the Stock Exchange from the original amount listed, a figure of $204,713,012 is arrived at as the amount of foreign government bonds retired by the sinking fund. By checking this up with Kimber, Moody and the banks through which the issues of foreign government bonds have been sold, a somewhat larger total is arrived at—namely, $221,223,509. This in itself is an impressive figure.

"There are half a dozen bankers in New York who are in close enough touch with purchases made in American markets of foreign bonds by foreign nationals to be able to guess within a very wide margin what these totals are. The guess from the most reliable sources is $200,000,000 or over.

"In all probability this guess is lower than the fact, because in large numbers of cases every effort is made to conceal the source of the buying. Even where New York bankers are doing a large business for foreigners, they are not always able to recognize purchases made for foreign nationals.

"If, therefore, Europe has been able to pay off through the working of sinking funds over $200,000,000 of bonds under the conditions which have prevailed during the last few years, and her nationals have bought back at least another $200,000,000, it should be a comparatively simple problem of international economics in time to settle the debt of foreign governments to American investors without any undue disturbance of the economic relationships between foreign countries or between these countries and the United States."

Fisk Head Sees Best Year for Rubber Firms

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—"With the worst now behind them, it looks as if rubber companies were headed for the best year in their history in 1927," Henry T. Dunn, president of the Fisk Rubber Company, said today.

"The industry is emerging from abnormal conditions of the past two years which were caused by over-speculation and sharp advances and declines in crude rubber. There is every prospect that greater stability will prevail in the future, which should be reflected in very satisfactory earnings for well-managed companies."

LEGAL LOOPHOLES

"These reforms," he said, "will be good for the lawyer, too. The lawyer, under the lax conditions that prevail today, is getting a pretty bad name.

"A young minister of the advanced or modernist school was haranguing a millionaire in an Adirondack camp.

"'Can a rich man' he said, truculently, 'go through the eye of a needle?'

"The millionaire chucked and poked the young minister in the ribs.

"'Haw, haw, haw! Why, my boy,' he said, 'you just ought to see some of the little bits of loopholes my lawyer has dragged me through.'"—[Exchange.

HOUNDS MEAN PROSPERITY

There was a time when a pack of hound dogs around the cabin of an Arkansas countryman was a sure sign of his being shiftless and trifling. But times have changed. Training dogs has become a lucrative business in the Ozark hills. Today the hound dog, made famous in song and poetry, has become the means of a surer prosperity for the farmer than corn or cotton. Thus, they may let their hogs run wild without care, but the dog gets the best of care. A good hound today is said to be worth up to $50 in the eastern markets.—[Pathfinder.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—The cotton market was weak early, following a sharp decline at Liverpool, where spot cotton went off 21 English points to 9.36d a pound for middling and futures broke to 24 and 26 below their closing of yesterday. The market there finally closed with net declines ranging between 21 to 23 points, against 14 to 16 due. There was much liquidation there, and hedge selling in following the sharp break here yesterday, when spot went iff 3-8 to ½ cent a pound in most of the southern markets.

A good deal of liquidation and southern selling here marked the early trading. It caused a decline of between 17 and 20 points from yesterday's closing prices, bringing October down to 16.22 cents; December, 16.13; January, 16.15; March, 16.32, and May 16½. With these prices within 20 to 25 points of the lowest levels of the season reached on July 2, and for the last four years, there was a tendency among shorts to realize profits. It also encouraged a moderate amount of new trade buying, with the result that prices rallied about 15 points in the afternoon.

Nothing, however, in the day's developments encouraged a resumption of bullish activity. Weather conditions over most sections of the cotton belt are continuing favorable, and the prospective yield is so large that the demand from both domestic and foreign spinners continued light. Therefore, until some disastrous weather overtakes the crop, prices are not expected to go far.

GLASSES OF GREAT BENEFIT TO T. R.

Do you remember Theodore Roosevelt's story of how he discovered when he was 13 years old that he could not see well?

He complained to his father, who provided glasses.

In his "Autobiography," published by Macmillan, he wrote:

"I had no idea how beautiful the world was until I got those spectacles.

"I had been a clumsy and awkward little boy, and while much of my clumsiness and awkardness was doubtless due to general characteristics, a good deal of it was due to the fact that I could not see, and yet was wholly ignorant that I was not seeing.

"The recollection of this experience gives me a keen sympathy with those who are trying in our public schools and elsewhere to remove the physical causes of deficiency in children, who are often unjustly blamed for being obstinate or unambitious or mentally stupid."

T. R. was not unique in his defects. Examinations by the American Red Cross nurses in Pennsylvania schools showed that one child in every six or seven was suffering from a physical defect serious enough to retard normal growth and development.

Watch your own child and let the doctor look him over on occasion. Even so small a thing as a pair of glasses may open a new world for the youngster.—[Collier's.

LIGHT WINES

Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, prior to sailing for Europe, said to a New York reporter:

"The advocates of wine and beer pretend that these drinks won't harm you. Well, that's a fallacy—a fallacy Zola exploded in 'L'Assommoir.'

"A couple of American tourists were on the French Riviera, and one night they went into a cafe and began to drink the light wines of the country in the belief that it was harmless. Bottle after bottle was consumed, and the next afternoon they met in their hotel bar.

"'Gee,' said the first tourist, 'it's a good thing our wives don't know where we went last night.'

"'You bet,' said the second tourist. 'Look here,' he added, 'where did we go?'

"'Search me!' said the first tourist.—[Exchange.

If you would be good to your children teach them thrift. It is impossible to cultivate this virtue without at the same time developing self-control, punctuality and ambition. MARDEN

Success and happiness in life are the result of the right habits. Habit grows from the repetition of an act. The habit of thrift is the result of regular and systematic saving. If you would be good to your children, let them earn something by their own labor and encourage them to save a tenth of it. This habit followed through life will carry them a long way toward worthwhile goals.

DRIED FRUITS

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Revival of activity and strength in the baking shares and firmer undertone in the oil group were the outstanding developments in today's irregular curb market. Trading was on a slightly larger scale, the day's sales running above 400,000 shares.

Oils stiffened moderately in response to the announcement of higher kerosene prices and an advance of one cent a gallon in gasoline prices by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Net gains, as a rule, were small, however, due to the disposition of many traders to take profits on every rally because of the fear of crude over production. Wilcox Oil and Gas showed independent weakness, dropping about 3 points.

Except for the reported improvement in the industry, there was nothing in the day's news to explain the accumulation of the baking shares. Continental Baking "A" soared over 5 points to 83 1-2, the "B" moved up over 2 points to 13, and the General Baking Issues and coal shares moved within rather narrow and irregular limits, erratic fluctuations took place in the radio group. DeForest broke nearly 4 points to 43-8 and then rallied to 6 1-4, and Freed-Eiseman sagged a point to 6 3-4, while Freshman advanced a point to 28 1-2. Music Master rallied from a low of 16 to 45 cents. Consolidated Laundries touched a new low level for the year at 21.

Public utilities held relatively steady with a moderate advance in Electric Bond and Share as one of the few features.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high, low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Wheat Futures Rule Lower on Bearish Mart

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (Exclusive)—Bearish sentiment continues to dominate the wheat trade and as the last point September was off 1% to 1.35, ...closing 1¾ cents under the finish on Monday. ...Going by commission houses on resting orders ...and 135 for September and 140 for December ...paced the decline, but the finish was about ...in line with net losses of ¾@1¼ cents with ...December 1.35¾@1.35⅝, December, 1.40¾@ ...1⅜ and May, 1.45¾@1.45¾. Corn was un... ...ged, but closed firm with prices unchanged to ...¼ cent higher, with September 86@86¼. De... ...ber, 86@8⅝, and May, 91¾@95⅝. Oats ...closed 1@1¼ cent lower with September 40¾, ...or December 41⅝, while rye was 1¼@1⅝ cents ...per with September, 99¾ and December, 1.04⅛.

...The selling of September wheat headed by a ...big local house was a factor in causing the ...drive to the lowest figure of the day, and it ...was around 4¾ cents under the December, ...is folded at about 4¾ cents under or prac... ...tically the same as the previous day. The con... ...sensus of crop expert demand is having considerable ...effect on sentiment, which as a whole has be... ...come very bearish in some quarters.

...The trade's whom situation is regarded by ...some traders as strong, and Murray issued a ...circular suggesting that import requirements for ...the 1926-27 season would probably aggregate 715,... ...000 bushels compared with 687,000,000 bushels ...last year, but bullish statistics are being ignored. ...Last week crop is estimated at 20 to 30 per ...cent less than last year's harvest of 229,000,000 ...bushels. Liverpool closed 2@2¼ cents lower, ...with an extremely slow demand for cash wheat. ...Buenos Aires finished at a decline of ¾@¾ cent. ...While Winnipeg was off ¾@¾ cent. Further ...gloom was made that the crop of three Canadian ...provinces had been underestimated by around ...$30,000 bushels.

...Cash wheat premiums here were somewhat firmer, ...specially on low grades, while the basis at the ...Gulf and seaboard was easier with No. 2 hard ...winter sold at 7 cents over Chicago September ...to 1¼ half August trading. Ohio points were ...reported as underselling Chicago on red winter at ...its ordinary. There was enough rain in the ...Dakotas and Canadian Northwest which tended to ...delay harvesting and threshing to some extent. ...Scotland in corn was much less bullish than ...it has due largely to more favorable weather ...reports over the greater part of the belt. ...Prices had a range of 1¾, with an early break ...of ¾ cents which carried September down to ...1.40, but the finish was on a strong rally ...on good class of buying appearing on the ...bulge. Short covering was a factor in making ...the early rally. Forward industrial demand ...drew over the same belt. The detailed lowa ...and Kansas government reports were construed ...as definitely bullish, but the recent rains are ...helping in states of a better crop outlook in ...the Central West. Cash demand continues very ...poor with the basis unchanged to 2¼ cents ...over.

...Trade holders sold early early and caused a ...sharp decline but when buying orders ap... ...peared there was a sharp rally. Cash interests ...bought September and sold December at 5¾ ...cents difference. Threshing returns from the ...belt are normal, with early cuts in Iowa showing ...heavy yields while the late ones were badly damaged. ...The week with September breaking ...the record foundation in evidence, with ...only one or short covering. There was no ...great demand of consequence reported.

...Offers of short rifle were scarce and sellers ...were pressed their offerings, causing ...a break of 4¾ to 5¾ cents. There has been a ...natural profit in making regular products of ...the trade there appears to be no support to short ...sales. Dollars were offered fairly and closed 7½@ ...7¾ cents lower. Trading in lard was fair with ...considerable buying on the break making a ...small rally, but the close was unchanged on near-by de... ...liveries and a gain of 7½ cents on January.

BOND QUOTATIONS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Bond prices were shaded slightly today, apparently in anticipation of the increase in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate to 4 per cent, which was announced after the close of the market. Reports were abroad early in the day that the long expected change in the rate was about to be made and while no serious liquidation developed, trading was marked by more than the usual caution.

United States government obligations, normally the most sensitive to changing money conditions, were underselling pressure most of the day, closing substantially lower. Additional concessions were quoted in the "outside market" where considerable trading took place, after the announcement of the rate increase.

Railroad liens made the best showing of the day, moving up sympathetically with the vigorous advance in prices of investment carrier stocks. Norfolk and Western convertible 6's followed the road's shares into new high ground, mounting 3 points to 150, while moderate gains were recorded by New York Central issues, Illinois Central 5 1-2's, Denver Rio Grande Western 5's, Delaware and Hudson 5's, Great Northern 7's and Southern Railway 5's.

Several heavy spots appeared in the industrial list, including Skelly Oil 6 1-2's and Warner Sugar 7's.

Buying interest was at a low ebb in the foreign list, with changes limited mainly to fractions. German obligations were the best ground gainers, Rheinelbe Union 7's reaching a new top price.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars.) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, close is omitted when same as low, and both low and close when same as high.

BY HOWARD C. HEGLEY

The California Petroleum Corporation will start its Buck No. 2 well in the area proved up by its Buck No. 1 two weeks ago, as soon as the derrick can be built and rigged up, according to field reports. Officials of the company reported yesterday that the new well will be spotted one location north of No. 1. Definite plans for Buck No. 3 have not been completed, but it probably will be drilled west of the discovery well.

Buck No. 1 is holding up to its initial production in good shape, according to official reports. Yesterday the well was said to be making 83 barrels a day of clean oil. Its production about two weeks ago showed up an extension of the old Huntington Beach field at least one and one-half miles from previous production.

It is understood that the Standard Oil Company has spotted prospective locations on its Bolsa lease, near the line of the Buck ranch.

Test 6000 Feet

The Miller & Haley wildcat well on the west side of Long Beach, near the intersection of Magnolia avenue and Twentieth street, is drilling ahead at below 4000 feet in brown shale, according to field reports. The well is said to have had good showings of oil, but scouts discount these indications because of a fishing job, which necessitated circulating with oil at about 2800 feet, and subsequent ditch showings may be due to this source, it is said. The well has had some gas showings for several hundred feet.

Gas Production

The Henderson Petroleum Corporation expects to complete its No. 3 well in the McKeon zone some time next week, according to field reports. The well picked up the Rhinock at about 4750 feet, where casing was set.

Raises to Calpet

Harry Maddren yesterday became manager of field operations for the California Petroleum Corporation, succeeding Thomas J. Crumpton, who resigned several weeks ago, it was officially announced by R. L. Bain, president of the California Petroleum Corporation. Mr. Maddren will devote most of his attention at present to the Calpet operations in Southern California, but eventually will take over the entire field management, including the California Petroleum Corporation's development program in the Kern county fields. J. C. Van Deinse, who has been acting field manager since Mr. Crumpton's resignation, will continue to serve in an advisory capacity for the time being, it is said.

Mr. Maddren goes to the California Petroleum Corporation from the United Oil Company, now the Richfield Oil Company, with which organization he had been general field manager for more than a year. Mr. Maddren has had wide experience as a field executive, his early career being spent in California fields, although in recent years, until his connection with the United Oil Company, he operated in the Texas and Mississippi fields.

Starts Two Wells

The Julian Petroleum Corporation Monday started two new wells in the west end of the city of Huntington Beach, according to official reports. One of these projects is to be drilled on Twenty-first street between Orange and Acacia streets, and the second well to be started north of Orange. The first is the well of the United States Royalties Company. The second Julian well is on Twentieth street between Walnut and Pine.

Preparing to Test

W. G. McAdoo, Jr., is preparing to put the pump in testing his well in the Newhall district, according to unofficial reports. The well is in an area which has been producing for twenty or thirty years, but McAdoo has been working on this well for a long time without much success. It is down 1390 feet.

Heavy Gas Pressure

The heavy gas pressure which is characteristic of the Ventura-avenue field at Ventura is causing considerable delay in the completion of the General Petroleum Corporation's Noble No. 9 in that field, according to official reports. The well is down 5700 feet, and the General Petroleum plans to drill it to 6000 feet before bringing it in. The heavy gas is drawing things up so much that it required four days last week to get the tools safely out of the hole without precipitating a blowout.

The General Petroleum is drilling as wells at Ventura, and plans to maintain its drilling program at this rate, according to officials. Besides the drilling projects, the General Petroleum has two new derricks up ready to start work as soon as tools and crews are released from present drilling wells.

Near 7000 Feet

With its goal of 8000 feet almost in sight, the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's Olinda No. 96 well on Olinda was down 7892 feet, according to drillers. The well is just 108 feet deeper than the next deepest oil or gasoline hole, and 150 feet deeper than the well which formerly held the world record for total depth. Some shortings have been found, it is reported, and it is understood that the C.C.M.O. plans to make a thorough test of the lower formations before plugging back to 3600 feet, and will have shown the possibility of commercial development.

Rebuilt Rotary Rig

W. W. Stabler is changing over from cable tools to rotary in his Jennings No. 1 well in the district between Signal and Pico, according to field reports. The hole is down 1970 feet in tough brown shale, it is reported. Stabler expects to get showings at about 2500 feet.

Well Tests Wet

The Conn Oil Company is having considerable trouble with its No. 3 well in the Los Cerritos district, near the intersection of Pacific Coast Highway and Cameron Place. The company has been trying to shut off water in this well for several weeks without success. According to geologists who have examined the well the difficulty is probably due to displacement of the formations by the recent quake.

QUEEN OF SLAVONIA MARRIED

Mildred Govorko Wins Over Father's Objections to Wed Man of Her Choice

Little Slavonia has lost its queen, perhaps, but in losing her it has gained a king and the little god Hymen is really the winner of both for Mildred Govorko, 16 years of age, has circumvented a father's objections and has married the man of her choice.

MILDRED GOVORKO

This was learned yesterday when Deputy Sheriffs Mendoza and Sepulveda, in an interview with Mrs. Margaret Govorko, mother of the girl, learned that the charge of suspicion of kidnaping lodged by John Govorko against Tony Zovak was but the father's last gesture against the union his girl desired.

The girl's mother decided to take an active hand in the affair de couer of her daughter's and gave her consent to their marriage.

SEPARATION DENIED BY MRS. D'ARCY

Screen Villain's Wife Says He Has Taken Room at Club During Her Absence

If the marital craft of Roy D'Arcy, screen villain, and Laura Rhinock Duffy D'Arcy, daughter of a high official of Loew's, Inc., has entered the shoals of domestic strife and separation, the fact will not be admitted by the wife. At their apartment at 4121 Wilshire Boulevard, she vigorously denied there has been a separation, although she did admit her husband had moved to the Hollywood Athletic Club.

Mrs. D'Arcy said she is leaving today for a tour through the Yosemite Valley with her mother and that her husband, not desiring to maintain the apartment in her absence, moved to the athletic club.

"We've been married too short a time for a separation to loom," Mrs. D'Arcy declared. "That subject should be talked of in about a year, not at this time."

While Hollywood Athletic Club officials said D'Arcy is registered there, he was not at home up to a late hour last night.

Mrs. D'Arcy further explained that the motion-picture heavy is very nervous as a result of a recent attack of carbuncles and is having treatments at the club.

D'Arcy sprang into film fame through his work in "The Merry Widow" with Mae Murray and is scheduled to start work in a few days in a new picture with her.

Salesman Taken on Suspicion of Blackmail Plan

James F. Borges, a salesman, 45 years of age, was arrested and locked up in the City Jail last night on charges of suspicion of blackmail and evtortion. The arrest was made by Captain of Detectives Cahil and Detective Lieutenant Weaver at 744 North Lillian Way.

According to the officers Daniel Kaplan, said to be a retired business man, complained that he feared trouble with Borges. He explained that he entered into a deal with Borges by which the latter was to buy a house.

Last night, according to the officers, they visited Borges's place with Kaplan at the latter's request. Capt. Cahil reported he heard Borges make a threat against Kaplan if the latter did not advance $3500 to lift a purported mortgage on the house. Borges denies the charges of any threat.

CITY-WIDE HUNT FAILS TO FIND MISSING CHILD

Despite the fact that police of Los Angeles and near-by cities and a number of deputies from the Sheriff's office have searched for more than twelve hours for him, Richard Franklin Dozier, 10 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Dozier, 2633 San Marino street, has been missing and efforts to find him have been unavailing. The lad was last seen on the corner of Ninth and Hoover streets.

The boy was wearing blue overalls, plaid shirtwaist, tan oxford shoes and was without coat and hat. He is four feet and six inches tall, weighs fifty-five or sixty pounds, has light gray eyes and light brown hair.

WINDOW WASHER DIES IN FOUR-STORY PLUNGE

Charles Bushman, 24 years of age, a window washer, fell four floors to his death while washing windows at the Title Insurance Building, Fifth and Spring streets, late last night. Police were trying to locate his relatives through addresses found in his pockets. The body was removed to the county morgue.

PETITION SIGNED TO REMOVE TANK

A petition demanding the removal of the water tank at Finley and Commonwealth avenues, has been signed by about 500 property owners of East Hollywood and soon will be presented to the Bureau of Water Works and Supply. The tank was erected in 1921 as an emergency measure to supply adequate water service to the area to the south of it. Since the completion of the Weid Canyon Reservoir, there no longer is any need for it, according to the property owners.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

FIRST FAR EAST FLAG IS STRUCK

Struthers & Barry Colors Hauled Down

West Sequana Taken Over by Swayne & Hoyt

Seven Other Craft Still on Transfer List

Struthers & Barry hauled down their house flag at midnight last night, from the freighter West Sequana, and a minute later rose the flag of Swayne & Hoyt, marking the formal transfer of the first American Far East ship by the Shipping Board to the new operators.

It was the only ceremony attendant the beginning of the actual passing over of eight government freighters, from the only trans-Pacific line maintaining its home port at Los Angeles. According to Swayne & Hoyt officials, however, this port will benefit equally; ships will be drydocked and repaired here and provisions largely purchased here, although Swayne & Hoyt's official headquarters remain in San Francisco.

Consecutively as they arrive and complete discharge here, the other seven freighters will pass to Swayne & Hoyt, as follows: West Prospect, West Carmona, West Copaka, West Ivan, West Faralon, Elkridge and the West Cajoot. They will join six government ships already under Swayne & Hoyt and now in operation to Australia.

Under the merger plan, excepting this trip of the West Sequana, the combined fleet will ply a triangular route, touching half a dozen Australian ports and then proceeding to the Orient where a score of harbors, many first exploited by Struthers & Barry, will be visited. The West Sequana will move to Swayne & Hoyt's new berth 230 B this morning to load gypsum, general cargo and 100,000 cases of case oil.

The combination gives the new operators the largest freight fleet crossing the Pacific under the American flag. In addition to these fourteen vessels, Swayne & Hoyt own and operate six freighters between the Pacific Coast and the Gulf of Mexico, known as the Pacific Caribbean Gulf Line. They also own the Eldorado, Alvarado and the Mazatlan, now chartered out on coastal runs, and the Iris, tied up at San Francisco. Combined they will have twenty-four ships under their house flag.

WAY CLEARED FOR ENTRY OF RAIL LINE

The last obstacle to the Santa Fe Railway's entry into the port district by the viaduct under Anaheim Boulevard, appeared to have been removed yesterday when the Harbor Commission approved plans to purchase a fifty-foot right of way for the line, from its present Wilmington terminus to the viaduct. The strip comprises 3.75 acres, for which the harbor department will pay the California Petroleum Corporation $81,720. The transaction needs only the approval of the railway officials before consummation.

The Santa Fe now is using a temporary right of way across Anaheim Boulevard at McFarland street, in accordance with an agreement reached several months ago, whereby the railway agreed to enter the port district via the viaduct, provided the Harbor Commission would secure them rights of way to the viaduct.

The Harbor Commission also approved building permits to private firms aggregating $67,500, along the inner harbor's water front, as follows:

Shell Oil Company, an 80,000-barrel steel storage oil tank at Berth 167, costing $32,000.

Gaylord A. Walsh, additional boat shop on the east side of Ferry street, Terminal Island, $18,000.

Pan Pacific Construction Company, wooded bulkhead costing $25,000 and a marine railway costing $2500, both at berths 140-141.

The Harbor Commission also settled an old controversy when they accepted a check for $12,285.99 in settlement for the Dickson and Eddleman claim from the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company. The money represents the difference between 2 per cent of the company's gross receipts charged for the city and 2 per cent of their net receipts on which they erroneously remitted.

The N.Y.K. liner Siberia Maru will sail at 2 p.m. today for San Francisco and the Orient with more than 200 local Japanese and 1200 tons of freight for relief. Aboard also will be 200 cases which the San Diego Zoological Gardens are trading to Japan for rare oriental animals. The liner docked yesterday for the first time at the company's newly assigned berth, 220-A, Terminal Island.

Shell Oil Company will dispatch three of its own ships to the Orient today, and one tomorrow. Those departing today are the British tankers Capilla and Ascota, and the Norwegian tanker Atlantic, under charter to Shell. Tomorrow the French tanker Ompdale, on her first visit here, will depart out of Rotterdam, also will sail for Yokohama under a trip charter to Shell.

Despite apathy in coastal lumber trade, the S. S. Freeman Company's fleet has been unusually active, the week-end seeing four of the company's five ships at dock in Los Angeles Harbor. The Daisy Gray and the Daisy Putnam sailed north last night; the Daisy Matthews is due today, and the Daisy Gadsby will arrive Monday, according to C. G. Limecooley, local agent.

A. B. Sweney of San Francisco, Pacific Coast manager for the Cunard Line, arrived here yesterday to confer with the agents of the big Cunard liner Carinthia, October 24, on her second annual special cruise westbound around the world. She will be the first of the cruise liners to touch here during the coming season, and will have 600 passengers aboard. Sweney visited W. H. Wickersham, broker for the line, and other agencies of the line in Southern California.

A slashing of rates on steel by intercoastal lines is regarded as a possibility, following the throwing open of the steel rate by the Shipping Board, effective the 18th inst., in the opinion of many steamship operators. The present rate is 30 cents per conference lines and 25 cents for nonconference lines.

The McCormick coastwise liner Rose City, which arrived from Portland and San Francisco two days ago with 155 passengers, sailed back last night with 135, the largest number since the week on this run slightly more than a year ago. Capt. Westerberg was on the bridge, succeeding Capt. Maegenn, who retired last week after more than half a century at sea. The present skipper was first mate several years under the retiring commander.

The three-masted steel schooner Gratia, converted a few months ago into a Long Beach fishing barge, is being refitted at Craig's shipyards into a dancing pavilion to be anchored off the beach city.

Los Angeles Harbor's ship arrivals for the first six months of the current year approach closely those of New Orleans, one of the nation's oldest and largest ports, according to G. A. Glassock, of the Maritime Exchange. New Orleans clicks the arrivals of 3223 vessels, Los Angeles 2190, or thirty-three less.

Don't be too slow, don't be too fast.
Too fast, your heedlessness defeats you,
Too slow, some other person beats you.
So do your best, but never hurry,
Goops loaf, or spoil things in a flurry.

CAPTAIN SCRAGGS by Peter B. Kyne

OUR STORY:

Three Musketeers of the Sea there are; each as strange a character as the other; each subject to the same impulses and emotions; each as stubborn, cranky, impulsive and loyal as the others—meet them:

CAPT. PHINEAS P. SCRAGGS, ratfaced, straggle-toothed and furtive, master-owner of the wagner "Maggie" and a freighter of vegetables to San Francisco Bay

ADELBERT P. GIBNEY, a large imposing, capable but socially indifferent person of a somewhat adventurous experience who is cursed with too much brains and imagination and a thirst. He holds a license as chief mate of steam, any ocean or tonnage and is chief mate of the Maggie.

BARTHOLOMEW McGUFFEY is a good seaman gone wrong. He nurses the ancient junk in the Maggie's engineroom with loving care and is a fit mate for the other two.

Gibney and McGuffey, while waiting for Captain Scraggs' return to the Maggie, are yarning of the adventures of their youth. The Maggie is parked in her berth on the San Francisco docks.

"Bull McGinty," said ex-king Gibney of Aranuka to his bosom pal, McGuffey (they were sitting on the dock at San Francisco, awaiting Capt. Scraggs's return to the "Maggie," had been beachcombin' ten days when I met him, and we took to each other right off.

"'Gib,' says Bull McGinty, 'I like you, an' if I ever get money enough to provision the Dashin' Wave, pay the clearance fee, and put a thousand or two of trade aboard her, you must come mate with me and if you should have a little money by, enough to fix us up, I'll not only give you the mate's berth, but I'll put you in on half the lay.'

"'Done,' says I. 'I ain't got 10 cents Mex to my name, but I'll outfit that vessel an' get her to sea inside two weeks, or my name ain't Adelbert P. Gibney.'

"To look at me now, McGuffey, you'd never think that in them days I was one of the smartest young bucks that ever boxed the compass. I was born with a great imagination, Mac. All my life my imagination's been my salvation.

"The ability to grab opportunity by the tail and twist it was my long suit, so after my talk with Bull McGinty, I took a cruise along the docks, lookin' for an idea, until I come to Sheeny Joe's place. He used to keep a sailors' outfittin' joint at Howard and East streets, an' as I stood in his doorway, the great idea sails up to Sheeny Joe's an' let's go both anchors.

"What was this idea? It was a waterfront reporter. It was three waterfront reporters, from three mornin' papers, an' all lookin' for news.

"'Joe,' says one little runt, all hair an' nose an' eyeglasses, 'there ain't enough news on the front today to dust a hummin' bird's eyebrow. Give me a story, Joe. Somethin' new an' brimmin' with human interest. You must have somethin' up your sleeve, ain't yuh?'

"Sheeny Joe is sellin' a Panama paraqueet a pair o' six-bit dungarees for a dollar and a half, and he ain't got no time for reporters, but he looks up an' he sees me lingerin' in the doorway.

"'Gib,' says he, 'tell these reporter friends o' mine about the time you was wrecked in the Straits o' Magellan, an' the fight you had with them man-eatin' Patagonian cannibal savages.'

"'Of course, I never was wrecked in no Straits o' Magellan, and as for man-eatin' Patagonian cannibal savages, I wouldn't know one if I met him in my grog. But seein' as how Sheeny Joe is busy an' me owin' him quite a little bill, I have to make good, so I tells them the most hair-raisin' story they ever listened to.

"'I showed 'em an old scar on my left leg where I was vaccinated once, and told 'em that's where they shot me with a bow an' arrer. While I was tellin' my story Sheeny Joe has to run out in th' back yard an' roll over three times, he's that fascinated with what I'm tellin' his friends.

"'Did them fellers eat it up? They did. The story comes out next day with trimmin's on th' front page, an' I'm a hero. Of course, me an' Sheeny Joe knows I'm a liar, but what's a lie or two when you're helpin' out a shipmate? But anyhow, the whole business gives me the idee I'm lookin' for, an' I takes all three mornin' papers down to Bull McGinty an' lets him read 'em.

"'Now,' says I, when Bull is through readin', 'you have a sample of what publicity does for a man. I'm a hero. But that dou't outfit the schooner Dashin' Wave. A man don't get no wages as a hero, Bull. Nevertheless,' says I, 'I have invented a story that will bring in money,' an' I tell the story to Bull.

"'I don't leave him until I have that yarn drilled right inter his soul, an' then I call on Sheeny Joe an' tell him to pass the word to all of his reporter friends that if they want a good story to go down to Shanghai Nelson's boardin' house an' ask for Bull McGinty, skipper o' the schooner Dashin' Wave.

"'Did they come? Mac, they came a-runnin'. The little nosy guy with the hair chartered a hack, he was in such a hurry. An' when they arrive, there sits Bull McGinty, smilin' an' affable, an' he spills his yarn as easy an' graceful an' slick as a mess o' eels. There's a island in the Society group, says Bull, which he discovers on his last trip, an' which ain't in none o' the British Admiralty notes.

"It's a regular island, with palms an' breadfruit an' tamarinds an' mangoes an' such, fine an' fertile, fifteen miles around the middle, an' plenty o' water. But th' surprisin' thing about this here island is that it ain't got nothin' livin' on it except the most beautiful women in all the South Seas. Accordin' to Bull, there ain't a male man nowhere on the horizon.

"Th' men has been fightin' among themselves until every man Jack has been killed off. Nothin' left but women with dreamy eyes an' long black hair an' pearly teeth. 'A man,' says Bull McGinty, 'is at a premium. Over fifteen different girls fell in love with him before he was ashore ten minutes, an' he had to pull back to the schooner to escape 'em. At that, says Bull, as much as a hundred an' twenty-seven of 'em, as near as he could count, came swimmin' after him and chased the schooner until she was hull down on the horizon, an' then they give up an' swam back to home, sobbin' like babies.

"Bull explains that he's so dead tuck on the place he's goin' back, just as soon as he can get together say a hundred smart young lads to come in with him on the lay, outfit his schooner an' get to sea.

"'Every man that wants to come in on th' deal must be not less than 21 years of age and not more than 30, an' must be examined by a doctor to see that he ain't afflicted with no contagious sickness, like consumption, which just raises fits with them natives, once it gets in amongst 'em.

"'It's Bull's plan to start a ideal colony, governed on new an' different lines, an' every man must marry. He can have as many wives as he can support after each man has had his choice of the herd. The women are all beautiful, but in order that nobody will have a kick comin' the choice of wives is to be determined by drawin' lots. The island is to be fenced off an' each member o' the expedition is to have so much land.

"'In order to do everything shipshape, Bull explains that he has formed a company to be known as the Brotherhood o' the South Seas, capitalized for 200 shares at $500 a share. Bull, bein' owner o' th' schooner, an' possessin' the secret of the latitude an' longitude of the island, an' bein' the movin' sperrit, so to speak, declares himself in on 51 per cent o' the capital stock. Stockseilin' will commence just as soon as the printer can deliver the certificates.

"'In the course of a somewhat checkered career, Mac, I've seen some suckers, an' I've told some lies, but this here was th' crownin' event of my life. We had applications for stock the next morning before me an' Bull was cut o' bed. Four hundred and thirty-one would-be colonists comes flockin' around us, tryin' to hand us $500 each.

"'Bull questions 'em all very closely and outer the lot he selects the biggest damn fools in evidence. He was careful to select little skinny men who never possible. They was a lot o' Willie boys an' young bloods lookin' for adventure, an' me an' Bull McGinty was just the lads to give it to 'em in bucketfulls.

"'The little nosy reporter with the hair was fair crazy to come, but McGinty gets a jackleg doctor to examine him an' swear that he's sufferin' from spatulation o' the medulla oblongata, housemaid's knee and the hives. We're mighty sorry, but it's again the by-laws to bring him along.

"'He felt heartbroken, so just before we up hook with the expedition, I had Bull give him an' the newspaper boys $100 each. They was fine lads, all three, an' give us lots o' free advertisin'.

"'Bull got greedy an' was for charterin' another schooner an' givin' all comers a run for their money, but I was wise enough to see the danger o' numbers, an' argued him out of it. I went mate on the Dashin' Wave, as per program, an' on a lovely summer day we towed out, with half San Francisco crowdin' the wharves an' wishin' us bon voyage, which is French for a profitable trip.

"'We had a nice lot o' sick children on our hands before we was over th' Potato Patch. We didn't have a regular crew, exceptin' Bull McGinty an' me an' the Chinaman who shipped as cook. However, some of the brotherhood I used to go yachting, an' they was all the crew we needed.

"'We had a fair run to Honolulu, where we took on $5000 in trade—beads an' mouth organs an' calico an' juice harps, an' dollar watches, an' a lot of old army revolvers with the firin' pins filed off and what not.

"'From Honolulu we clears for Pago Pago, where all hands went ashore an' enjoyed themselves visitin' the different points o' interest. From Pago Pago we goes to Tahiti, and from Tahiti to Suva, and in general gives them adventurers as nice a little summer vacation as they could have wished for.

"'Bull was for dumpin' the lot at Suva an' gettin' down to business—said he fooled away enough time on that gang—but I argued that we'd took their money—$50,000 of it, and they was entitled to some kind of a run, an' if we marooned them, like as not they'd send a gunboat after us, an' the fat'd be in the fire, sull gave in to me finally, though he growled a lot about the profits bein' all et up by the brotherhood, appetites increasin' considerable at sea, an' all that.

Another installment of this rollicking tale of the Three Musketeers of the Sea will appear in tomorrow's Times. Watch for it.

LABOR HELD FAIRLY GOOD IN COUNTRY

Employment Suffers But Slightly Due to Seasonal Let-Down, Says Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—The country as a whole is on "fairly satisfactory employment basis," in the opinion of the Labor Department, which made public today its July industrial survey. Seasonal slackening and the vacation period were held largely responsible for decreased employment and industrial activity.

The boot and shoe industry, particularly in New England, continued operations on part-time schedules, with indications of increasing employment within thirty days, but the textile situation showed little improvement. Many iron and steel mills experienced the usual seasonal let-down while the larger establishments maintained a high level of production and employment.

Although building operations were curtailed during July, State and municipal work absorbed the majority of local tradesmen, with road construction employing large numbers of skilled and unskilled laborers. Farm-labor supply and demand in most localities were satisfactory and metal-mining activities in the mountain districts increased.

Work on Pillars of Parthenon to be Resumed Soon

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Funds having been contributed by a group of prominent Americans, work soon will be resumed on reassembling several columns of the Parthenon at Athens, it has been announced by Dr. Edward Capps, head of the Greek department of Princeton University.

The work of replacing in their original position the fallen segments of the Parthenon columns was begun about a year ago, Dr. Capps said, and recently discontinued on account of lack of money.

They were blown from their places by the explosion of the Turkish powder magazine within the temple by a Venetian shell in 1687.

PHILIPPINES ANXIOUS TO AID AMERICA

Exploitation of Rubber Land, However, Opposed by Senate President

MANILA, Aug. 12. (AP)—Apropos of the bill before the Philippine Legislature providing for the leasing of rubber land, Manuel Quezon, president of the Senate, issued a statement today in which he said that the Philippine people are anxious to give the United States rubber and other commodities they need, but that he will oppose any plan looking toward amendment of the land laws in order to bring about the development of this or any other industry.

Mr. Quezon's statement follows:

"In order to clear up the misunderstanding that seems to exist in the United States regarding the Filipino people and their representatives in the Legislature, I am making, as president of the Senate, this statement. The Filipino people have the kindliest feeling for President Coolidge and the people of the United States. That we are loyal and friendly is demonstrated by the manner in which our people received Mr. Carmi Thompson, personal representative of President Coolidge.

"We are just as anxious as President Coolidge himself to further the economic development of the Philippines and to make a better administration of affairs. We do not feel that it is necessary to amend or change the existing land laws to bring about this development. I personally have opposed and will continue to oppose any change that will mean a backward step for my people.

"Of course there has been a deadlock between the executive and legislative branches of the government. This is unfortunate, but it was not brought about by us. As long as there is no mutual confidence between the executive and legislative branches of government these conditions will exist. The Filipino people are anxious and willing to give the American people rubber and other commodities they need, but it must be done without exploiting our people and within the limitations prescribed by the land laws of the Philippines."

THOMPSON DEPARTS FOR SOUTH ISLANDS

MANILA, Aug. 12. (AP)—Carmi A. Thompson, appointed by President Coolidge to investigate conditions in the Philippines, departed today with his taff for the Southern Islands of the Archipelago. Besides Thompson on the Coast Guard cutter Mindoro, the party included Col. George Langhorne and Maj. A. P. Hitchens of Gov.-Gen. Wood's staff, Insular Auditor Wright and eight newspaper correspondents.

Hale Wineman Camera Studies Presented Museum

Western Scenes Picturized in Unique Collection

Thousands of Miles Traveled During Accumulation

Hale Wineman, nationally noted nature naturalist of Pasadena, gave the results of his life work to Southern California yesterday when he presented to the Los Angeles County Museum of History, Science and Art the unique collection of his remarkable camera studies of America's natural domains.

These pictures, the presentation of which is announced today, will be a permanent property of the Los Angeles Museum, and form a collection that is acknowledged to be without parallel in the world.

Of the thousands of pictures Mr. Wineman has made of the scenes of natural beauty in Western America, over 300 are his masterpieces. All are contained in handsome sepia engravures, and the regions which comprise the artist's subjects include California, from desert palms to the giant sequoias, Yellowstone, Yosemite and Grand Canyon National parks, the New Mexico pueblo district, Alaska and Canadian Rocky Mountain National Park.

OTHER COLLECTIONS

Similar collections of pictures in Europe's three great national parks, the Yellowstone, Yosemite and Grand Canyon, are now the property of the United States government, through Mr. Wineman's gifts, and are among the outstanding exhibits in the museums of the three national parks.

The collection which he has presented to the Los Angeles Museum is, however, the only one of its kind in existence and represents the final labor of the artist's life work. Thirty-four years of labor, for which he has never received compensation save in his own love of the work, national and not infrequent sacrifice have gone into the making of the camera studies.

The fact he has given his pictures to Los Angeles, it is expected that they will be housed in a permanent exhibit in the museum at Exposition Park. Dr. William Alanson Bryan, director of the museum, has accepted the gift for the institution.

Beginning his camera studies when a resident of Chicago in 1903, nine years before he came to Pasadena to live, Mr. Wineman has traveled thousands of miles to execute his pictures, making seven trips to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and Yellowstone, five to the Yellowstone and many other shorter journeys.

ROOSEVELT ADMIRER

National Research [illegible] as an enthusiastic admirer of Mr. Wineman's picturizations and twice called the artist to Washington during his administration in connection with the part the camera studies were playing in the campaign of preserving the national scenic areas.

As a result of the demands of artists and nature-lovers, portions of the Los Angeles Museum collection have been exhibited at various times in Chicago and Washington, D. C., as well as in Pasadena at the opening of that city's Art Institute.

Of the collection there are about forty-five California scenes which are reported to attract particular attention here, as they will form a permanent local record. Yosemite National Park with its mountains,

DIVING CHAMPION A MOTHER

Twins Born to 1924 Olympic Winner

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pinkston

TWIN babies, a boy and a girl, were born yesterday to Betty Becker, 1924 Olympic champion diver and wife of Clarence Pinkston, 1920 Olympic champion diver. Six months ago Mrs. Pinkston won the national springboard diving championship as the Hollywood Athletic Club's entrant in the meet, which was held in Florida. The event which gave her the Olympic championship took place in Paris. The one that gave her husband his championship took place in Antwerp. He has been a national champion for five consecutive years. The proud mother is at St. Vincent's Hospital. Pinkston is in the automobile finance business here. Both are prominent in aquatic affairs of the Hollywood club.

Betty Becker and Pinkston met on the S.S. America in 1924 when they were members of the United States Olympic team. When the America returned with the victorious athletes, Betty had won the Olympic championship and Clarence had captured Betty's heart. Shortly after they returned to this country Betty, who hails from Atlantic City, came to Pasadena to defend her national championship. Clarence met her there and their marriage followed.

Property Deal in Wall Street Brings $50,000

Fifty feet on Wall street between Sixth and Seventh streets brought $50,000 in a sale consummated yesterday. D. R. McBryde purchased the site from H. W. Pettebone, according to C. L. Hilliard of the C. H. McWilliams Company, brokers. The buyer intends to improve the property with a one or two-story structure in the immediate future, the brokers declared.

"The vacant holding is 50x161 feet, located at what will be known as 606-610 South Wall," Mr. Hilliard said. "Mr. McBryde, the purchaser, is connected with the McBryde Lubricating Service. The new building to be constructed will be for the use of this concern. It marks its fifth Los Angeles location."

STORM DRAIN INQUIRY PAYS

New Policy Resulting Will Save Sum of Thousands; "Extras" Bid Far Lower on Sacatela

That the City Council's investigation of Contractor Peter R. Gadd's $298,981 bill of extras on the West Adams storm drain will result in a saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars to property owners in other districts where storm drains are to be built was indicated yesterday when bids for Section No. 3 of the Arroya de la Sacatela storm drain were analyzed by City Engineer Shaw and Public Works Commissioner Eldridge.

The examination showed that the probable low bidder for this section is Charles U. Heuser, whose bid for the storm drain is $965,000 and whose bid on extras, i.e., unforseen additional work at unit prices, is startlingly lower than Contractor Gadd's unit bids on the West Adams storm drain and on the West Jefferson street storm drain.

There were eight bidders for Section No. 3 of the Arroyo de la Sacatela storm drain, including Contractor Gadd, and all of the unit bids for additional or "extra" work were much lower than the Gadd bids on the West Adams and West Jefferson street storm drains.

NEW POLICY USED

These low bids were due to the new policy of the Board of Public Works long urged by Commissioner Eldridge and City Engineer Shaw, but adopted by the board only since the protests were made over the West Adams extras. The Council has declined to date to confirm the West Adams assessment with its $298,981 bill of storm-drain extras.

In accordance with this new policy of the Board of Public Works, the board now obtains, before advertising for storm-drain bids, information from the City Engineer's office as to the market price, i.e., cost plus a fair profit, for piling, concrete, excavation and reinforcing steel which may be needed on the storm drain.

Bidders now are notified that in bidding on extras for storm drains no bids will be considered for more than the unit prices determined upon by the board as fair. In the case of the Arroyo de la Sacatela bids, some of the bidders, including Atkinson Spicer Co., offered to put in the additional work, if required, at prices less than those established as a maximum by the board.

CONTRASTS SHOWN

For the Arroyo de la Sacatela storm drain No. 3, Charles U. Heuser's bids for "extras" or additional work, were as follows:

Class A concrete, in place, $16.25 a cubic yard; Gadd's price on West Adams storm drain, $25; Class C concrete, $10.90 per cubic yard, West Adams price, $22.50; Class D concrete, $6.90 a cubic yard, West Adams price, $21.25; reinforcing steel in place, 6 cents a pound; West Adams price, 7 cents; $1.50 per cubic yard for excavation, including haulaway, West Adams price, $2.10; piling driving,

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God. Being justified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus." Romans iii: 23-24.

THERE ON SEVEN-YEAR HIKE

Sergt. Duffy Near Goal on Tour to Win $25,000 and Cure Case of Shell Shock

On the final lap of a 40,000-mile hike, with his goal a $25,000 cash prize and the recovery of his health, Sergt. James H. Duffy, gassed and shell-shocked veteran of the World War, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for a short stay before departing for San Diego.

Seven years ago, Sergt. Duffy set out from Baltimore with three other gassed and shell-shocked veterans in competition for a $25,000 cash prize offered by Johns Hopkins University to test the results of long hikes, climatic changes and outdoor life on veterans whose health had been injured by poison gas in the battle fields of France. Sergt. Duffy and one other veteran of this group of four are the only ones who were forced to quit by their health.

Undaunted by this mishap, Duffy resumed his hike in the interest of his own health and has taken Sergt. Duffy over the entire country. He has walked all but 700 of the 40,000 miles, as officially measured by a surveyor. His route he has obtained the signatures and letters of forty-seven State Governors and is going to get the last signature on the return journey to Baltimore, where he will receive half the prize money and possibly all awaits him. The remainder of the hike are that he will return to Baltimore by Thanksgiving Day.

Duffy started, the sergeant, his friends declared, weighed on the western trip but 115 pounds. At present he weighs better than 225 pounds, though his health has improved greatly, though he has not yet entirely cured himself of the shell shock.

Duffy, upon his arrival here, announced his enthusiastic endorsement of the "Go-to-Farm" plan, in operation in the State of California, yesterday. He will lecture on the plan to various posts of the city when he resumes his trek.

Duffy served first with the Canadian forces, but after the entry of the United States into the struggle joined the One Hundred and Sixty-first Engineers, Rainbow Division, was gassed and shell-shocked, and spent a year in the hospital.

THRIFT URGED BY CREDIT MEN

Plea for "Hounded Debtor" Sounded at Meeting

Speakers Say Installment Buying Profitable

Association Will Elect Its Officers Today

Entering a plea for what he termed "the hounded debtor," F. B. McComas, Los Angeles dry-goods merchant, brought a distinctly human note into the discussions of the installment sales problem at the convention of the Retail Credit Men's National Association yesterday when he pointed out the temptations to indiscreet buying presented by today's methods of doing business and concluded by suggesting that the assembled credit men help spread respect for the good, old-fashioned virtue of thrift.

The convention, which has been in progress at the Ambassador since last Tuesday, devoted virtually all of yesterday to the subject of installment sales and at the close of the morning session went on record in favor of the proposition that buying and selling merchandise on the installment plan, if properly controlled, does not impair the buying power of the public and has many distinct business advantages. This approval will be embodied in a resolution to be submitted to the convention at its closing session at noon today.

SOME OPPOSE IT

Approval of installment sales was not voted unanimously, many of the delegates voicing in strong terms their opinion that this method in merchandising is getting away from the merchants and should be materially toned down. The majority favored the plan, however, though all were agreed that rigorous control measures are necessary, and a resolution outlining such control will be submitted to the convention this afternoon.

The most illuminating address on the subject of installments was that delivered by L. M. Crosthwaite, credit manager for Barker Brothers of Los Angeles, who devoted himself to an extensive analysis of the elements involved in the present system of credit extension, particularly as it affects the buying power of the public.

Starting with the premise that continued buying power is derived largely from the efficiency of labor and its ability to be constantly employed through a steady demand for goods, Mr. Crosthwaite declared that installment buying has increased labor's efficiency through providing means for its ready attainment of the comforts of life and the maintenance of such standards of living as promote efficiency.

BUYING CREATES DEMAND

"Let us now deal with the effect of installments in creating a demand for labor," said Mr. Crosthwaite. "Installment activities create pay rolls for labor and provide a means for capital to bridge the gap between supply and demand and to smooth out the curve of seasonal productivity, thus tending to maintain steady employment for labor as well as capital, which requires continuous use to be profitable. Installment buying has assumed its present proportions because the ability to draw contracts for future commitments has created a demand for commodities of all kinds, from homes and motor vehicles to radios and musical instruments."

Another point made by the speaker was that installment buying is a stimulus to habits of thrift on the part of the public because it induces the setting aside of definite amounts each month for specific purposes. "It is generally assumed that unwise or excessive buying is confined to installment business, but I believe this is untrue because this occurs no less when purchases are made for cash," he commented.

"The difference is that, usually, cash expenditures are for immediate consumption, while installment purchases generally represent articles of more or less permanent value, thus tending to increase the buying power of the individual by the accumulation of additional wealth. In other words, a well-defined and properly balanced budget of installment expenditures tends more favorably toward increased buying power than haphazard expenditures on trifles, unrestricted by the control of a budget."

BANKER DISCUSSES SUBJECT

The views of Mr. Crosthwaite were, in general, supported by J. C. Lipman, vice-president of the Union Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles, who discussed the installment business from the banker's standpoint.

"During the war billions of dollars of Liberty Bonds were sold by the United States government on the installment plan, and why should not the manufacturer and the merchant utilize this idea to provide for the continuance of business by means of selling merchandise on payments to be met out of future earnings?" suggested Mr. Lipman.

In enumerating the advantages to the installment buyer, the banker stressed the psychological effect of the privilege of possession, and added that this has a tendency to make the worker less restless in his work and hence less inclined to heed the insidious doctrine of radicalism. Mr. Lipman fully coincided with Mr. Crosthwaite's views as to the stimulus to thrift of installment buying, substantiating his statements in this connection by referring to the present large amount of savings deposits throughout the country, which he said has shown a healthy increase each year for some time, a fact he attributed in large measure to the habit of thrift inspired by installment buying.

Less optimistic in regard to installments were the utterances of L. Michaels of Pittsburgh, who declared that a firm conducting an installment business is compelled to sell higher prices than a cash firm in order to meet the extra expenses incident to installment sales. Mr. Michaels presented a somewhat elaborate chart showing by a wilderness of figures that the installment business is

SWIMS TEN MILES "BEFORE BREAKFAST"

Mrs. Anna E. Van Skike

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Aug. 12.—Leaving Venice pier this morning at 2:30 o'clock in her annual "ten miles before breakfast" swim, Mrs. Anna Van Skike, celebrating her sixty-sixth birthday in the water, negotiated the long journey to Santa Monica Canyon and back in approximately nine hours, "returning to port" at 11:30. She seemed little exhausted by the strain, though choppy water had caused accompanying life guards again to urge a postponement.

"I feel as good as new," she stated on emerging from the water. Members of the Santa Monica Long Distance Swimming Club joined her on the return trip at a point off the Ocean Park pier, and convoyed Mrs. Van Skike back to the finishing line at Venice.

She was presented with three loving cups on her arrival at the Venice pier, after having been greeted by Miss Alaoh Porter, "Miss California for 1926," who waded into the surf to meet her.

FORTUNE BID FOR HOLDINGS

Hanchett Offer of $20,000,000 for Entire Spreckels Property in San Diego Declined

An offer of $20,000,000 cash from L. E. Hanchett, local capitalist, for all of the properties of the J. D. and A. B. Spreckels Security Company at San Diego was refused by the Spreckels family, it was learned yesterday. The properties include hotels, street railroads, banks, two San Diego newspapers, Coronado lands, three business blocks in San Djego, water companies and kindred properties and enterprises.

Negotiations between Mr. Hanchett and the Spreckels people had been conducted quietly for some time, it was said, but it was only yesterday that reports of the proposed deal became public. When Mr. Hanchett was questioned on the matter at his offices in the Bank of Italy Building yesterday he declined to discuss it beyond saying that he had made an offer, that it had been refused and the deal was off.

"It is true that I made a large cash offer for all the John D. and A. B. Spreckels properties in San Diego," said Mr. Hanchett. "The offer has been declined. All negotiations are off. Any further information must be had from the Spreckels people."

Reports were that other offers had been made for the Spreckels holdings, among them one by Herbert Fleishhacker, San Francisco banker, who is said to have made an offer of $17,000,000.

Offers on the properties have been occasioned by the death last June of John D. Spreckels. When his will was filed in San Diego it was revealed that outside of a number of special bequests the entire estate was left in four shares to Mr. Spreckels's children, Claus Spreckels, Mrs. Grace Hamilton and Mrs. Lily Wegeforth, and to the four children of his late son, John D. Spreckels, Jr. There was no evaluation put on the estate in the will. Later Erwin P. Werner, State inheritance tax attorney, estimated the Spreckels estate to be worth $25,000,000.

ITALY'S KING DECORATES LOCAL MAN

Highest Order of Crown Conferred on J. E. Barber, Los Angeles Bank Officer

Upon the nomination of Premier Mussolini, the King of Italy has decorated John E. Barber, vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and the First Securities Company, with the Order of the Crown of Italy. Mr. Barber receives the rank of commendatore, the highest grade of that order.

JOHN E. BARBER.

The presentation was made yesterday upon the arrival of the insignia from Rome, by Count C. B. Gradenigo, local vice-consul.

Mr. Barber was attached to the Peace Conference in 1918-1919 as special commissioner of the Shipping Board. Two years ago he was associated with the committee of experts which formulated the Dawes plan.

ROCK SLIDE ENDANGERS MOTORISTS

Fifty Tons of Earth Fall at Entrance of Newhall Bore; Traffic Impeded

Two persons in an automobile narrowly escaped being caught beneath a rock slide at the eastern entrance of the Newhall tunnel at 7 p.m. yesterday. Rock estimated at fifty tons tore loose from the side of the cliff fifty feet above the grade.

L. Schiller of Newhall and his wife were about to enter the tunnel when the slide started. Schiller saw the impending slide and put on speed. Blinded by a cloud of dust, he bumped into the tunnel wall, the car suffering minor damage. Both occupants escaped injury.

Motor cars were hampered for an hour, only one-way traffic being permissible for a time. Deputy Constable Sanderson had warning lights placed. The worst of the obstruction was cleared away and traffic restored, although considerable care was necessary in negotiating the area.

The State Road Department is expected to clear the road this morning. It was stated a crew from the State Highway Department has been at work in the vicinity for several weeks and it is believed the rock was loosened by blasting.

State Licenses Granted to Ten Day Nurseries

The State Board of Public Welfare licensed ten day nurseries for children at the conclusion of the monthly meeting yesterday. Six licenses were renewed for child-caring homes.

During the course of the discussion the Long Beach Day Nursery, which is sponsored by civic and luncheon clubs, was referred to as a model institution.

Preliminary plans for standardizing summer camps for children were also discussed.

It was reported to the board that plans have been completed by the State Board of Control and other bodies for the erection of special buildings at State hospitals to care for tuberculosis patients. These patients are now kept separate from other inmates of the hospitals. It was stated, but it is deemed more advisable to give them special treatment in separate buildings, one in the north and one in the south.

BIDS TO BE ASKED FOR REPAIR OF BOULEVARD

Bids for the construction of a new highway, replacing a portion of San Gabriel Boulevard destroyed during the floods in 1916, will be called for the 30th inst., it was announced yesterday by Supervisor Cogswell, in charge of roads. The improvement, to extend from Temple Mission bridge, on San Gabriel Boulevard, near the city of Montebello, will cost approximately $75,000. Supervisor Cogswell also announced that bids will be called on that date for the improvement of Foothill Boulevard, north of Lamanda Park. This improvement will cost approximately $50,000. Both will be of concrete.

GRAND JURY TAKES REST

Starts Vacation After Naming Committee to Press Inquiry Into McPherson Case

A special committee to make an exhaustive investigation into new phases of the disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple, was appointed yesterday by the grand jury before that body adjourned for a vacation of two weeks.

The future of the McPherson case, so far as the grand jury is concerned, depends entirely on a report to be submitted by the special committee when the jury meets two weeks hence. At the first meeting of the grand jury on its return, the McPherson case will be the first item of business.

EIGHT MEMBERS

It was learned reliably yesterday that the McPherson-case committee comprises at least eight members of the jury and that such a step was taken following lengthy debate, as the only means of bringing about definite action one way or another on the case.

The committee is to work entirely under a cloak of secrecy, publicity regarding its actions having been banned.

It is understood the committee is to be headed by William H. Carter, foreman of the grand jury, but this report lacked confirmation late last evening.

According to reports, the committee undoubtedly will decide whether it will be advisable to reopen the Carmel angle of the case by calling witnesses here who asserted pictures of Mrs. McPherson bear a marked resemblance to "Mrs. George McIntire," who occupied a Carmel cottage with Kenneth G. Ormiston, formerly radio operator at Angelus Temple, for ten days during May, while the evangelist was missing.

The committee also is expected to question two new Carmel witnesses, a Santa Barbara millionaire and his wife, who saw "Mrs. McIntire" at Carmel on May 25, last, and who made a special trip to the Temple last Sunday to see Mrs. McPherson. They asserted, after seeing Mrs. McPherson in the pulpit at Angelus Temple, that she closely resembles the woman they saw at Carmel.

Foreman Carter refused to discuss the nature of the grand jury's business yesterday and asserted he had no statement to make other than one he issued earlier in the day in which he said a juror, suspected of destroying vital documentary evidence in the McPherson case, had been given a "vote of confidence" by the jurors.

Mr. Carter's statement on this phase of the case follows:

"The charge circulated against a certain juror was not sustained before the jury, therefore the jury took a vote to determine whether they should vote their confidence in said juror and it carried.

"The jury voted two weeks ago to take a two weeks' vacation instead of a month after today's meeting. That will be carried out. All committees will function during the vacation on their various important unfinished and new matters to be taken up by the jury as a whole when it meets again."

It was reported that the disappearance of the evidence, which consisted of two grocery slips bearing handwriting of "Mrs. McIntire" again was brought up for discussion but no definite action was taken.

When the jury holds its next meeting the case is to be discussed at length and gone over entirely by the jury members to determine the next step. At that time, it was learned, Dist.-Atty. Keyes will be called to be questioned as to what steps he has taken to carry out a secret investigation requested by the grand jury recently.

After the jury heard the evidence found in Carmel by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan it requested Mr. Keyes verbally to carry on a secret investigation and for him to keep the grand jury advised as to this inquiry. Since that time, it was said, the jury has not heard from Mr. Keyes and has read of statements attributed to the District Attorney in which he said

THIS is a confession. I ought to be interested to the point of high frenzy over the fact that an election is coming on. But I am not. I am bored stiff.

And because so many other people are of the same state of mind—that's what is the matter with public affairs in America.

Very few men look forward to politics as a career in America. In Europe it is the greatest of all careers.

As a consequence there aren't very many picturesque or interesting men running for office. And so it is hard to get excited over the burning question—whether the able Mr. Sanderson or the stalwart Mr. Anderson will be elected.

A VICIOUS CIRCLE

It seems to be in the nature of a vicious circle.

We are not doing our full duty as voters because the candidates are not of sufficient interest.

Interesting men do not often enough take up political careers because the audience is lacking—because we are not interested.

What's the answer?

A DANGEROUS ALLIANCE

The new treaty between Italy and Spain would seem to be Mussolini's stinging answer to the new secret alliance between France and heaven only knows how many of the Balkan powers.

It cannot be regarded other than a war measure.

Every year makes it plain that France pins her faith upon North Africa as a source of wealth and soldiers.

In the event of war—with a Spanish-Italian alliance to face—France would find somebody sitting straddle of her jugular vein—so to speak.

Only in the event of the Mediterranean being a neutral lake could France hope to depend upon her African colonies as a war resource.

Joseph Sartori, the Los Angeles banker, brings back a bleak and discouraging picture of Europe.

No sane person can deny that the whole world is entering upon a period of strain and terrible peril.

Every country in Europe feels herself sinking into a hopeless morass of debt and ruin. Yet every country feels itself strong, as yet, in a military way. If there is anything more dangerous than a nation under arms, feeling the approaching pangs of starvation, I don't know what it is. A hungry soldier is worse than a hungry wolf.

THE SUN HAS SET

It may be a bitter fact, but it is an undeniable fact. Europe's day of glory has passed.

The torch must pass to other hands. The future lies in the hands of the western hemisphere—from Hudson's Bay to the Straits of Magellan.

Mexico and South America are the lands of promise.

Europe is approaching an epoch of trembling senility.

THREE CHARGES OF MURDER RETURNED IN RUM WAR

Fox, Eggers and Schultz Indicted by Grand Jury as Result of Two Slayings at Hotel

James S. Fox, Theodore Eggers and Ernest Schultz, asserted participants in a recent battle of rum runners and hijackers at the St. Regis Hotel, in which Harry Schwartz, alias Munson, and Harry (Cuter) Moran were killed, were indicted yesterday for murder by the grand jury, which paid no attention to an exoneration of Fox by a Coroner's jury. The gun battle took place the 4th inst.

Fox was accused in one indictment of murdering Schwartz and Eggers and Schultz in another of murdering Moran. According to the police accounts of the tragedy, Fox, a rum-runner, was sought by a gang of gunmen headed by Schwartz as an aftermath of a rum-runner and hi-jacker battle that took place some time ago near Long Beach.

Fox shot Schwartz dead in the lobby of the hotel and Moran, a minor bootlegger not involved in either gang, was frightened by the firing and ran out into the street, where he was shot down in mistake for Fox. Moran was dressed much like Fox and resembled him physically. Fox gave himself up at the County Jail the night after the slayings and said that he fired in self-defense.

Chief Jailer Dewar yesterday offered an explanation of the visit of Milton "Farmer" Page to Fox a short time after Fox was received at the County Jail and some time before even the police who were working on the case had been notified of the arrest by the Sheriff's office.

He said Page had telephoned him that Fox had sent word he wanted some money to aid his defense and would like to see Fox about it. Dewar said if Fox was held incommunicado, the visit could not be permitted, but if merely in the detention tank, could be seen by anyone, and that he would look up his status. He found him in the detention tank, he said, and when Page telephoned again, gave him permission to come. He declared Page and Fox talked in his office in his presence and there was nothing secret about the conversation. Page, he declared, made no definite promise to aid Fox.

In connection with the war on rum-runners and hi-jackers, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray yesterday issued complaints against Charles Cullen, Chester Chappell, Jack L. Smith and Lester Burroughs, charging them with the robbery the 2nd inst. of H. M. Bell in the Baldwin Hills. They are said to have obtained $3000 worth of diamonds. According to the police, all four men are connected with rum gangs. They were arraigned before Municipal Judge Scott and their hearing set for the 26th inst.

Mrs. Klatzkin Burial Service Will be Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Klatzkin, who died yesterday morning in Tujunga Canyon, will be conducted in the chapel of W. C. Draper, 1430 South Main street, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Rabbi Winkler will officiate.

The deceased was the wife of B. L. Klatzkin, first trumpet player in the Philharmonic Orchestra, now playing at the Hollywood Bowl, formerly with the Minneapolis Symphony and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra for seven years, and a noted teacher. She also leaves two sons, Leon, 14 years of age, and David B. Klatzkin, harmonium player for the "No, No, Nannette" company and a pianist.

Mrs. Klatzkin came to California for her health some time ago. The family home is at 848 North Windsor Boulevard.

Frank Sanford Declares Wife Not Legally Freed at Time of Wedding

That Frank M. Sanford, wealthy film producer, will seek an annulment of his marriage to Genevieve B. Sanford on the ground she was not legally divorced from a previous husband at the time she married him was indicated yesterday in Judge Hazlett's court, where Sanford filed a motion to amend his cross-complaint in the suit for divorce brought against him by Mrs. Sanford.

In her suit Mrs. Sanford charged cruelty and Sanford countered with a cross-bill asserting he was caused mental suffering by his wife's asserted use of intoxicating liquor.

However, if Judge Hazlett grants Sanford's motion to amend his cross-complaint, it is believed Sanford will drop the charges in his present counter-bill and seek an annulment on the ground set forth in his proposed cross-complaint.

According to Sanford his wife obtained a divorce from Thomas Huston, October 30, 1918, in Texas. She was said to have married Sanford two days later. Isador Morris, attorney for Sanford, told the court that under the law of Texas an interlocutory decree of divorce prohibits the parties from marrying within a year. Under this provision Morris contended the Sanford marriage was illegal.

Tax Liens for $121,672 Filed by Government

Income-tax liens totaling $121,672.40 were filed by Collector of Internal Revenue Welch in United States District Court yesterday against Feagans & Co., jewelers, 435 West Seventh street. The liens are for four years, 1918, $30,925.50; 1919, $29,.59.25; 1921, $40,880.96, and 1922, $21,006.69.

Income-tax liens were also filed against R. E. Campbell, 650 South Spring street, $1011.60 for 1920, and William Henry, 121 South Norton avenue, $1704.79 for 1925.

Feagans & Co. do not admit the liabilities and the government's contention that additional taxes are due, according to Claude I. Parker, attorney for the firm. The liens constitute an action followed by the government in seeking to collect taxes held to be due for back years and the controversy is the result of a difference between the government and the company in inventory adjustments, the attorney said. The government taxed merchandise on hand at cost while the company allowed for depreciation in market value, the attorney explained.

The matter has been appealed to the United States Board of Tax Appeals for a readjustment, counsel for the firm said.

Shroyer, who previously had been married four times, nevertheless stood before Judge Hollizer and, in a firm distinct voice, took Mrs. Couch as his fifth wife. And Mrs. Couch, in just as firm a voice, accepted Shroyer as her second husband.

While Shroyer has only one child of his own he was stepfather to nine children of his previous wives, it was stated. The latest Mrs. Shroyer has four children, seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild by her former marriage, she said.

Shroyer, who is a farmer by occupation, and his bride will occupy his home at 1431 One Hundred and Tenth street, Sawtelle, it was stated.

Mrs. A. G. Meyer, daughter of Mrs. Shroyer, and E. Varco, a friend of the couple, witnessed the ceremony.

When J. E. Hafer, 33 years of age, failed to return home Wednesday night, members of the family became worried. They called friends on the telephone, but he could not be located.

A night of troubled sleep at an end, they opened the garage doors and there found the man dead on the floor. The motor of his automobile was still running and the garage filled with poisonous fumes.

Death had come to him several hours previously, according to the report of investigating Highland Park police.

Other speakers on the program were R. H. Clifton of Oakland, who spoke on the place of the finance company in retail business; R. E. Westberg of Seattle, whose subject was devoted to the relation between a merchant's capital and his volume of installment credit; Irving C. Brown of Newark, N. B. Heller of St. Louis, candidate for president; Leopold Meyer of Houston, candidate for first vice-president; and J. R. Hewitt of Baltimore, candidate for second vice-president. It was stated by the committee that as opponents to these candidates had not as yet been revealed, their election is virtually assured. Under the rules of the organization, nominations from the floor may take place up to the time of election.

Two cities, St. Louis and Providence, are competing for the honor of entertaining next year's convention. Opinion as to which will be selected seemed to be divided among the delegates, but St. Louis rooters were most in evidence.

"By this new policy of the board," said Commissioner Eldridge, "there is no special incentive for the contractor to put in any additional work, or extras, as the maximum unit prices established provide only cost plus a reasonable profit. The property owners in storm-drain districts, as shown by the bids on the Arroya de la Sacatela storm drain No. 3, will be the gainers by thousands of dollars by this new policy."

It is expected the complete analysis of the Arroyo de la Sacatela storm-drain bids will be filed with the board in time for awarding the contract at today's or Monday's meeting of the board.

GRAND JURORS WILL CARRY ON

the case was "a closed incident" as far as his office is concerned.

The jurors failed to discuss the advisability of making a report to Superior Judge Keetch, their presiding officer, as to the action in connection with the destruction of the McPherson evidence. It was learned this matter did not come up at yesterday's meeting and that nothing further is expected to be done in this direction, the incident being closed by a 9-to-7 vote on Tuesday in favor of the juror accused.

MAY PRODUCE MISS X.

Although reports were circulated at Angelus Temple to the effect that "Miss X.," named in an affidavit by Kenneth G. Ormiston, former temple radio man, as his mysterious companion at Carmel, has been located by Mrs. McPherson's attorneys, the evangelist, Mrs. Kennedy, and their three attorneys refused to verify the report.

When asked yesterday afternoon whether the woman has been located, Roland Woolley, one of the attorneys, declared he could not deny it, but, other than to intimate that they were in possession of valuable information, Mr. Woolley would make no statement.

According to the reports, Ormiston has been communicated with by a temple worker and has promised to appear personally and produce "Miss X." at the "psychological moment."

Whether the location of the mysterious woman named in the Ormiston affidavit was made during Mrs. McPherson's and Mrs. Kennedy's trip earlier in the week could not be ascertained, as neither would comment in any way upon the report.

One hundred persons were baptised at the weekly baptismal service at Angelus Temple last night, Mrs. McPherson announced after the service. Another overflow crowd filled the temple and adjacent Bible school.

BANK BANDITRY IN CITY REVIVED

Whitier Boulevard Branch Robbed of $3057

Lone Gunman Holds Up Clerk During Lunch Hour

Man Escapes in Car After Taking Loose Cash

Bank banditry was resumed in Los Angeles yesterday with the holding up of the Whittier and Lorena branch of the Commercial National Trust and Savings Bank, 3359 Whittier Boulevard. A single gunman held up a single employee at noon and obtained $3057, much of it in silver, he drove. It was announced that the bonding company protecting the bank, paid the loss yesterday in full.

The cashier of the branch, B. L. Stone, was alone, the branch manager, A. J. Sparton, having just gone out for lunch. There were no customers present. The bandit entered Stone's cage by sneaking through the manager's office, escaping the cashier's notice until the latter was commanded suddenly to throw up his hands. He complied.

"Pull down the blind," was the bandit's next order and Stone did this also, screening the interior of the bank from view through the principal window, though the door remained open. The bandit scraped together what loose cash there was in the cashier's cage and hastened out, jumped into his car and drove away.

Stone described the gunman as five feet six inches tall, about 25 years of age, garbed in a gray cap, blue clothing and yellow goggles. His revolver was nickel plated. Mrs. C. E. Steivers of 125 North Fifth street, Montebello, who was passing when the bandit drove away, gave the police a similar description of the man.

BOARD WILL HEAR OWENS RIVER PLEAS

Women Property Owners Ask More Money for Land Sought by City

Women property owners in the Owens River Canal District, near Bishop, Inyo county, plan to wait upon members of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners at 4 p.m. today to tell of conditions on their ranches prior to proposed acquisition of them by the city of Los Angeles. Included in the group are a number of widows, according to information obtained last night.

The women, it was said, will appeal to the board members for "a more equitable" adjustment of prices on property which the city plans to acquire to complete a series of purchases in Owens Valley.

There are approximately 15,000 acres in the upper end of the valley which the city expects to buy and for the purchase of which part of a $10,000,000 bond issue at the August 31st primary will be devoted if the measure carries. All of the property held by the visiting women's delegation lies within the limits of the outstanding 15,000 acres.

The plea of the widows, it was said, will be made on the basis that they have no other means of protecting themselves against old age except through the selling of their property.

MAN KILLS HIMSELF, INVESTIGATION SHOWS

Charles J. Renfroe of 5152 West Twentieth street, who died the 7th inst., committed suicide, according to the finding of an inquest conducted at the Coroner's office yesterday. Renfroe, according to the police investigation, swallowed poison, smashed furniture in his house and rushed out crying someone had poisoned him. The investigation revealed, police say, that Renfroe, after taking the poison, endeavored to cast suspicion on his wife, who was living at another address. There had been marital trouble, police said.

More herrings were caught by fishermen of Norway this season than in any previous year.

LITTLE GIRL PRIZE IN LEGAL STRUGGLE

Barbara Jean Rice

Where is little Barbara Jean Rice, 2 years of age?

That was the question propounded yesterday in Judge Keeler's Juvenile Court when Mrs. Herbert Gnich, mother of the child, appeared in court to demand custody of the girl from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice, the child's paternal grandparents.

Mrs. Gnich, formerly Mrs. Jeanette Rice, told Judge Keeler Barbara is the daughter of her and Garret A. Rice, from whom she obtained an annulment in Judge Hollzer's court last July. She asserted her former husband took two of the children under the agreement that she was to have the custody of little Barbara, but she declared Rice had turned Barbara over to his parents and disappeared.

Under cross-examination by Attorneys Cantillon and Hamilton, counsel for Mrs. Gnich, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice, the grandparents, denied they had the child in their possession. They said they had not seen Barbara since July 4, last, at which time they said they turned her over to their son. They denied they know the whereabouts of their son now.

At a loss to dispose of the case without the child being in court, Judge Keeler continued hearing of Mrs. Gnich's writ of habeas corpus until the 19th inst., hoping that in the meantime, detectives employed by Mrs. Gnich will find some trace of Barbara or her father.

Dahlia Growers Complete Plans for Fall Show

Plans for the Southland's greatest dahlia show, in the Biltmore ballroom September 17 and 18, were completed last night at the regular meeting of the Southern California Dahlia Society. Frank Miller, show manager, declared that all available space has been taken and that over thirty-five growers, both amateur and professional, will exhibit.

In addition to the dahlia exhibit, a general flower show is to be held, supervised by a committee composed of Fred McNabb of the KHJ flower garden, Fred Howard and Roy Wilcox. In this division, twenty of the leading florists and flower producers of Southern California have entered competition. Plans are also being made by one grower to place an exhibit of orchids valued at several thousand dollars, the first exhibition of this kind ever seen in the West, according to Mr. Miller.

Henry W. O'Melveny is president and Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant, executive. In addition to trophies there are many useful articles being offered as prizes.

Valley People Organize for Better Farming

An active campaign for the betterment of ranching conditions in the Western San Fernando Valley was instituted last night by the Farm Bureau Center of that district when it elected a new set of officers and indorsed plans proposed by directors whereby zoning and intensification of production will get the most out of the land that it is capable of.

The new officers are: President, W. B. Browning of Chatsworth; vice-presidents, W. F. Brown of Walnut Acre Farms, Nat E. Heacock of Owensmouth and R. B. Long of Chatsworth; recording secretary and treasurer, Walter M. Sweringen of Girard; field secretary, Omar Wilson of Owensmouth. It is proposed to name a chairman for every line of production in the valley and to place an exhibit in the county fair at Pomona late in September.

YOUNGSTER CONFESSES BAD CHECKS

Scion of Rich Eastern Family Held to Answer Before Federal Jury

"Yep, I peddled about $500 or $600 worth of bad checks before I was caught," John J. Doran, scion of a wealthy New York family, admitted yesterday after being held to the United States grand jury charged with impersonating an agent of the special intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Department.

"I'm glad they caught me when they did, because I guess I would still be at it," he added.

Doran was arrested after he had cashed a $70 check on the Bank of Italy at the Broadway Department Store. Doran, who pleads to being only 20 years of age, bought a $30 doll for a woman friend in San Francisco, he said.

"I guess I'll have to stand my time in jail in payment for the checks because I haven't got any money and I've got a step-dad who wouldn't let my mother have any money to make good for me.

"You see," he said, "I've worked on a farm for a long time and I came to Los Angeles, but couldn't get a job. The money came so easy from the checks that I continued to cash them."

He was taken to the County Jail by Deputy United States Marshal Mangarina after commitment by United States Commissioner Head.

FILM ACTOR ENTERS SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Ronald Charles Colman Says English Girl Left Him Without Cause

RONALD COLMAN

Ronald Charles Colman, romantic film actor, yesterday brought action for divorce against Thelma Colman, charging desertion. The action states they were married in London on September 18, 1920, and separated March 4, 1924. They have no children and no community property, it is stated.

A property settlement is said to have been made April 17, 1925. Colman is represented by Attorneys Loeb, Walker and Loeb. He says his wife left him without cause and against his will.

MRS. RONALD COLMAN

Mrs. Colman, formerly Thelma Ray of the English stage, brought suit for separate maintenance more than a year ago. The case was dismissed without coming to trial. Mrs. Colman charged in the action that her husband deserted her in Florence, Italy, and refused to see her after she came to Los Angeles.

Autoist Suffers Broken Arm as Car Hits Truck

Frank Bourbonnais, 38 years of age, of 1840 South Berendo street, suffered a compound fracture of the left arm when an automobile driven by him turned turtle in a nose dive after a collision with a truck driven by Jack Thomcha, 2301 Barlow street, at Second street and Central avenue yesterday, according to the police report.

The rear wheels of Bourbonnais's car left the ground, it was said, the machine balanced for an instant on its front end, and then toppled forward, resting on its top.

Mrs. Bourbonnais and Betty Hennessey, 5 years of age, living at 5204½ Miramonte street, escaped injury. The truck driver also was unhurt.

ADMITS COUNTY BOND PLOT

Suspect in Grand Jury Forgery Scandal Declares He And Others Planned to Get $50,000

An admission by Clarence A. Watson in connection with the grand jury audit scandal that he, Robert D. McLeod, auditor appointed by the grand jury, Leo Kuranoff and Lon Chapman had planned to plunder the county treasury of $50,000 in negotiable bonds, was made to Deputy Sheriffs Pennywith and Kelley, it was declared yesterday.

The declaration accompanied the filing with Judge Hahn of three indictments against the men, who are accused of forging county warrants.

Between $65,000,000 and $70,000,000 of negotiable bonds are held in the county treasury, it was explained, and according to Watson's purported statement the men planned to have McLeod get hold of a few of these while the county offices were open to him as a grand-jury employee, and to have Watson dispose of them, the four men dividing the proceeds. It was figured that the theft of that amount would not be detected quickly.

The first indictment, containing three counts of forgery, is directed against McLeod, Watson, Kuranoff and John Doe. The second indictment, with four counts of forgery names McLeod, Watson and Richard Sides, while the third indictment names McLeod, Watson, Kuranoff and Lon Chapman. The five men named are under arrest and previously had complaints issued against them.

The total amount obtained in the asserted forgeries was about $2000.

The reason we value the advice of doctors and lawyers and pay good money for it is that they never give it unsolicited.

CHAINED
A Hawaiian chain-store operator is visiting in Los Angeles. And a lot of us still were thinking of Hawaii as the land of romance!

REAL THING
A really doting parent is one who, when the children make enough noise to make everyone else half-sick, beamingly remarks that the little darlings are so full of health.

GHOST WALKS
Up in Montana a lot of folks insisted on voting for a man who died recently. But that's nothing. Back in Chicago thousands of voters who have long been dead are resurrected and voted at each election.

PROPER
Don't turn up your nose at any man you hear saying that he is mapping his vacation "itinnery." Maybe he is going to take the jaunt in a flivver and is checking off the places where he can find spare parts.

FOR SEAL OR SALAMANDER
With a registered maximum August day's temperature of 58 deg. at Eureka while the thermometer was over the 100 mark in Death Valley, California can evidently supply hot or cool summer resorts to suit all temperaments.

SPORTS
Among those most painfully shocked by the news that Suzanne Lenglen has turned professional are the highly idealistic tennis tournament promotors who heretofore have cleaned up fortunes out of the throngs which flocked to see Suzanne play for nothing.

AT THE HARBOR
During the month of July 600 merchant ships visited Los Angeles Harbor. They bore the flags of ten different nations and handled more than 2,000,000 tons of mixed freight of a value of more than $72,000,000. That makes a stupendous business of itself and keeps our wonderful harbor well in the front.

A GALLANT GOVERNOR
Miss Martha Bates, the plucky Kentucky girl who slapped the face of a lecturer in her home town because he said no virtuous woman would wear bobbed hair, will not have to serve the forty-day sentence imposed upon her by a magistrate, as she has been pardoned by Gov. Field. In issuing the pardon the Governor, true to Kentucky traditions of gallantry, took occasion to praise the young lady quite highly in thus resenting the atrocious slur upon her sex. It would seem that any male Kentuckian so untrue to those traditions as to think evil thoughts of ladies who patronize barber shops had better take it out in silent thinking. He who gets slapped for thinking out loud about such matters will have no redress. The chances are that the lecturer is a man very badly in need of a hair-cut.

NONESSENTIALS
A leading light in the American Chemical Society in rebuking alarmists who foresee the final exhaustion of our present natural resources asked the somewhat astonishing question, "Why worry about nonessentials?" Yet his audience understood such products as coal, fuel oil, lumber and other necessities of civilization were under discussion. And in the eyes of a great chemist these things were nonessentials! In the light of scientific advance and invention, however, the chemist's remark was justified. His point was that whatever is essential to the onward growth of the race human genius will supply when the need for it is sufficiently pressing and what is in greatest demand today may be a drug in the market tomorrow. Science in the past has kept a lap ahead of our common needs and may be trusted to do so in the future. Why worry over nonessentials?

WHAT SOCIALISM DOES
Queensland, Australia, for over a decade has been administered by the radical wing of the Socialist-Labor party. The results of this regime are instructive. In 1915 the Queensland debt was £57,000,000; it now stands at £97,000,000. In the same period taxation has risen from £954,000 to £3,914,000—although the Queensland state government has had to pay nothing toward the Australian war debt. Queensland possesses most fertile soil and the finest natural resources, yet under Socialist management over 20,000,000 acres of land have gone out of cultivation. When the labor government took over the state railroads they were earning a small profit. Last year they showed a deficit of nearly £13,000,000. Queensland is a young country, with no international complications and full of undeveloped opportunities. It might have advanced as rapidly as the United States has done. Why hasn't it?

SPIRIT OF THE WEST
"Vice-President Dawes came into Colorado tonight to pay tribute to the spirit of the West," says a recent dispatch from Denver. The occasion was the semicentennial of Statehood.

The characteristics of that spirit, according to the Vice-President, are "determination of purpose, energy harnessed by intelligence, ambition dominated by high purpose, a universal willingness to work and, underneath all these, an attitude of reverence toward the traditions of the race, the family, the church and our great American constitutional institutions."

Sturdy "determination of purpose" is a dominant western trait. The grit of it seems to come from the sands of the desert. Gumption is a good descriptive word to use of a westerner.

"Energy harnessed by intelligence" is a fine way of putting it. The West has superabundant power. It comes Antaeus-like from touching the earth. But mere power is destructive. The energy of the West is harnessed by intelligence. Roosevelt came West from New York to Montana to learn how to put the harness on.

But this is elevated by "ambition dominated by high purpose." There is an ambition that is Napoleonic and utterly selfish. But the spirit of the West is dominated by ideals untainted by European civilization.

That is no meaningless phrase "willingness to work." There are men who know and men who aspire, but they are lazy. The West is no loafer. It is the spirit that bridges chasms of unspeakable depth, that bores through mountain ranges and transmits power hundreds of miles, that cans rivers for future reference.

"Reverence toward the traditions of the race, the family, the church" and State institutions takes advantage of the contributions of the past. The West reveres the fathers. It is willing to stand upon the shoulders of the past and so begins where others leave off. There is no false motion. Reverence saves time for progress. There is no back-tracking.

The West has been accused of being a great talker. Some have called it by another name. However, there are others who call it imagination. It is no substitute for effort. The West has boiler power sufficient to whistle and run at the same time, which is more than can be said of some power plants and people.

The West is impatient of sham. It is irritated by petty controversies in church or state or school. Hypocrisy is the greatest heresy to youth, and the West is young.

With clarity of vision it sees through every proposition intuitively and is ready for action instinctively. Utter candor characterizes its thinking. Red tape stirs up its wrath. The entrance of a westerner into the halls of Congress brings a draught of fresh air that refreshes the nation and laws.

According to the Vice-President the West does not seek "preferential treatment" over other industries, but equal treatment under the law. What is sometimes regarded as radicalism is just going straight to the mark.

No section is truer to the constitutional rights of the republic than the West. It wants constructive thinking, constructive methods, constructive legislation, constructive science, constructive religion. It has no place for by-play and pretense.

The bigness of the plains and valleys works into its thinking. The height of its peaks lifts its ideals. The loneliness of its deserts gives it perspective. The room to grow keeps it free from gnarled and dwarfed development. The very breadth of its vast open spaces imbues it with charity as broad as heaven.

The greatest crime to the West is failure. It is pragmatism of the finest type. Whatever works is truth. There is no diplomacy—there is no time for its pottering. Sophistry is sin. A cheat is as hateful as a murderer and is hanged to the first limb. It will brook no delays in justice. Above everything the West is genuine and demands it of all men.

ROBERT TODD LINCOLN
Robert Todd Lincoln has been gathered to his fathers. He fell heir to one of the most illustrious names of American history. He returned it to his forbears unsullied—which is more than can be said of some of the sons of the great.

It may be difficult to prove that he was a great man in his own right. The world quite generally has regarded his honors as posthumous laurels from his famous father. Few are willing to grant that he traveled on his own power.

The sons of the noted may be greatly helped to position and influence by their connections. On the other hand, they may be seriously handicapped in establishing their own claims to greatness.

It is also true that two great men seldom come together. Abraham Lincoln was one born only in a thousand years. If Robert Lincoln had not been the son of his father he might have been regarded as one of the country's ablest chieftains.

He was Secretary of War in both Garfield and Arthur's administrations, but no great conflict tested his ability. Great men need great occasions.

He also represented his government in the Court of St. James in Harrison's incumbency. It was a quiescent period politically and did not call for unusual powers. The world will never know how much of statesmanship was hidden in his personality. A revolution brought out Franklin's diplomacy in Paris.

John Quincy Adams is appraised by some as greater than his progenitor, John Adams. Each was President. This may seem to prove the evolutionary hypothesis. However, it appears to be an exception in life.

One son of James A. Garfield became Secretary of the Interior in the Cabinet of Theodore Roosevelt, and the other was honored as president of a college. The test is again lacking to prove them the equals of their parent. James A. Garfield met his opportunity on the treasury steps in Wall street the morning after Lincoln was assassinated. He stepped forth before the howling mob that was about to lynch a man and read a telegram from Washington. When he stretched forth his hand and said, "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives," the mob not only dispersed, but he was marked for highest honor.

The sons of Roosevelt are proving themselves mighty hunters. Otherwise they have not had the time nor occasion to show the political prowess of the versatile "Teddy."

If they did not stand in the shadow of "The Grizzly Giant" the surrounding mammoth growths might receive the awesome regard of the passing generations. That shadow subtracts from their grandeur.

However, it is glory enough for one life to have been the son of Abraham Lincoln. He had a lofty name to live up to. The world is watchful for weakness. It accepts greatness with suspicion. Cynics are ever ready to charge achievements to others. Keeping a name from smirch in an atmosphere of flattery is a worth-while accomplishment.

Standing upon the shoulders of another is an acrobatic feat that few can successfully perform!

A PRACTICAL HERO
Swelling his chest before vaudeville audiences and capitalizing his heroism, as other heroes have done, is not to the fancy of Sergt. Alvin C. York, who has chosen a far better course that may result in great good to humanity. York, who is known as a hero of the World War, has begun a tougher fight than he made in the Argonne forest, where, as an American corporal, with a squad of seven men, he attacked a battalion of strongly intrenched machine gunners, put their guns out of action, killed many of them and marched 132 prisoners back through the German lines to the American side, to the amazement of his colonel.

Since the war Sergt. York has had many tempting offers to appear on the stage or in the movies, but he has refused them all, as he has had a higher aim in view, that of instructing his fellow-mountaineers of the Cumberlands in the peaceful arts and giving them a good general schooling. Being a practical teacher, Sergt. York, in his fight against ignorance, probably will achieve a victory even more glorious than his war exploit, which he holds but lightly in comparison with his present enterprise.

What he saw of the world after he left his valley in Tennessee filled him with a passion for taking some of its worth-while things home to his people. Once he read in a little book he carried with him to the war a familiar question which took on for him a new meaning while "over there:" "For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" He decided that the work cut out for him in life was to take the blessings of religion and education into his native hills. By lectures he earned $15,000 for the project and with this started a fund to which the Tennessee Legislature added $50,000 more. A lumber company gave 1000 acres of land, Fentress county gave 135 acres more, two men contributed 235 acres and other small gifts have increased the tract to 1400 acres. The first school building is to cost $100,000 and, with other departments, the total cost of all the structures will be $250,000. The institution is to be a vocational high school. It will give instruction in industrial and agricultural subjects, as well as seek to diminish the illiteracy so long distinctive of the folk in some of the southern mountains. Attention also will be paid to religious training.

From the foregoing it would not seem that Sergt. York has relinquished his heroic character, but is splendidly maintaining it, though in a wholly different way from that which won him the distinction of being a great hero of the World War.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS
Hunting at best is obviously not a thoroughly safe pastime. No instrument constructed for the purpose of taking life is particularly discriminatory, and a shotgun or rifle carelessly handled is as likely to kill man as bird or beast. Hence, since the hunting season is upon us, the annual toll of life and limb taken in hunting accidents will begin.

Precautions can be taken to minimize the disaster. No one going hunting should forget that modern weapons frequently carry a mile or more and that the soft-nosed bullet in common use is a far worse mangler than any small projectile used in the late war. This accounts for the fact that the proportion of dead to wounded in hunting accidents is much higher than in battle. No man accustomed to the use of a hunting rifle will fire it unless he knows pretty well where the bullet is going to stop and unless he has a definite target. It should be remembered also that a load of buckshot at close range is deadlier than a rifle ball.

Since many shotgun and rifle accidents are caused when loaded weapons are removed from boats or drawn through fences, careful hunters will not handle loaded guns with muzzles toward themselves or anybody else, or unloaded ones either, since it is never safe to assume that any particular weapon is not loaded unless the unloading operation has just been completed. Safety catches are put upon weapons to be used, and careful hunters keep them on until ready to fire. The fraction of a second required to operate any safety device does not militate against the success of a shot sufficiently to compensate for the danger involved in leaving the catch off.

The most dangerous thing in the field or woods is the armed fool. It is not necessarily the inexperienced who have accidents; the care that is necessary can be learned in five minutes; but wisdom cannot be imparted in that length of time, nor to some persons at all. The man who fires at a stirring patch of brush without knowing precisely what causes the stirring, and from visual knowledge, too, is morally responsible for anything that follows his firing, though he cannot, unfortunately, always be held legally responsible.

THE OPEN SPACES
A paper published at Pinedale, Wyo., boasts of being farther from a railroad than any other print in the land. The editor has to go 105 miles to get a ring from a station agent.

EVOLUTION
By James J. Montague.

When first giraffes began to browse
Their necks were short, like bossy cows.

But, unlike these grass-eating beeves,
They liked to lunch on fresh green leaves.

The trees at first, of course, were small,
But when they presently grew tall,

The oak, the ash, the elm and beech
Were hard for the giraffe to reach.

But hunger can't be held in check
And so he stretched and stretched his neck,

Until the trees stopped growing, when
It served his purposes again.

But if the trees should grow anew
And rise to where the sky looms blue

And leaves were no more to be found,
Excepting miles above the ground,

A sigh the poor giraffe would fetch
And once more stretch and stretch and stretch

His neck until it grew so slim
That it would snap and finish him.

And so we trust the trees will stay
Exactly as they are today!

VACATION TIME
BY THE SUBURBANITE

Vacation time is the season when a lot of us who don't amount to much at home go away and squander our savings in an effort to make great impressions on strangers who are doing the same.

We can't all go to the mountains on our vacations, but we can all see some wonderful bluffs.

Statisticians have learned that they can get a fairly accurate idea of how many fish or beaus or girls a returned vacationer has caught by discounting his or her report by 60 per cent and then dividing the result by the number of miles away from home the vacationer has been.

It is considered perfectly truthful, as vacationers go, for anyone vacationing at a beach to write the folks back home that he or she is "right in the swim" there.

The thought all impressionable young vacationers should keep pasted on their goggles is this: There's a whole lot of difference between romantic persons and romancers.

Many an enthusiastic girl mistakes some dapper young man for a real prince of fairy tale when he's merely a manufacturer or second-hand dealer in same.

Many a girl who regally sweeps into swell cafes when far from home is in the habit of unregally sweeping out much modester ones in the course of her daily toil.

Not all is gold that glitters. But maybe it would be a dull old world if nothing else looked shiny except gold.

BRIDLING A VOLCANO
In Java there is a volcano called the Kloet, which has the unpleasant habit of blowing out a vast amount of mud at infrequent intervals. About eight years ago the Dutch authorities surveyed the nuisance and decided that it might be possible to tame the volcano by digging a tunnel to draw away the water that accumulates in the crater before it has an opportunity to do mischief. Work has been in progress for several years. It was found desirable to dig not only one, but several tunnels, for a great quantity of water was found high up on the mountain and it is being led away perhaps fast enough to prevent the choking that has caused all the trouble. If the eruptions cease it will be understood that the cure has been effective. In the absence of any commotion it can only be hoped that the right remedy has been found. It is said to be the most ambitious effort ever made to put a bridle on a volcano.—[Lincoln Journal.

SATISFIED
A short-sighted man who was also very inquisitive was walking in the country one day when he saw a notice board nailed on a tree that stood in a field. As he could not read the notice at that distance curiosity prompted him to climb over the fence and walk across the field toward the tree.

A few moments later he managed to scramble back over the fence just in time to escape the horns of a raging bull.

"Well," he gasped, breathlessly, "I had the satisfaction of finding out what the notice was."

It said, "Beware of the bull."—[Exchange.

LETTERS TO The Times

Goths and Vandals
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Just a word in regard to the "slaughtering" or removing of beautiful trees in Los Angeles in the residence district to make way for business streets. We have already enough business lots laid out to do the city for the next generation.

Just go out West Washington and turn north on Crenshaw and then west on Pico and you'll see a sickening sight, many beautiful palms being destroyed. I always turn my head when passing such destruction. We could get along forever without the men who ordered this work done.

C. E. KEELING.

Rest for the Weary
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I was deeply moved by reading an article recently by Harriet Corley, telling of an organization called "Save-a-Life League" operating in an eastern city, to prevent suicides.

The author said there are from 12,500 to 15,000 suicides annually in this nation and that oftentimes a life is destroyed for lack of a little friendly counsel and help. Dr. Warren Marsh, the founder of this league, says 10,000 would-be suicides have applied to him and only one person of that entire number continued on his way to destruction.

What better use could a millionaire make of his wealth than to form such a league in Los Angeles? What a wonderful opportunity to reach out the helping hand at the crucial moment?

VINTON A. HOLBROOK.

A Slam on Nurses
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Ormiston in his supposed affidavit was not satisfied in stating that a woman was with him at Carmel, but went out of the way to specify that it was a nurse, and Mrs. K. says Ormiston was an intimate friend of their family.

Now, as I remember during the war, most of our nurses were just as much heroines as our soldiers were heroes. Then before the war and since the war the Red Cross, as well as many other nurses, in times of epidemics and catastrophes, proved themselves more self-sacrificing and honorable than this man who is trying to slur them. Out of respect and fairness to them I protest such statement as was made about one of them, unless he can make good, and I don't believe he can.

DR. W.

Won't You Tell Me Why?
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] May I ask through your columns how it is our police officers know the "Big Four" of the bootleggers and how much they are making, how many trucks they have, that they plan to quit, etc., yet do not arrest them or in any way interfere?

T. E. PLATT.

Fair.....of Skin
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We only desire to ask the highly esteemed Lancer a favor, to wit: The next time he feels the urge to call the Balkan people vile names and to ridicule them for being patriotic and for not (perhaps) possessing the accepted number of bathtubs to be in the swim with the Americans, will he then borrow a copy of early American history and read therein of the crucifying poverty, of the bitter struggle against the big powers, of the towering ambition to become a free nation, not big or rich or powerful, but free. From what I have learned here in the United States the struggle was and is considered valiant, brave and glorious. Now that the United States has become the greatest nation on earth it fosters writers who ridicule the very acts which made the country what it is. It seems even more excusable that the small nations in Europe should strive for independence and nationality, since their native soil has been theirs so much longer. And liberty is just as sweet to a nation of dark-skinned, small people as to a nation of fair-skinned, tall people. And will the Lancer please be informed that it is not dirt which makes them dark any more than it is the excessive use of bathtubs which makes the Yankees fair—of skin.

E. MARKA.

Saves Light Bills
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It seems that some of these people are afraid of having the clocks monkeyed with. Why should they be? What difference can it possibly make to them except to bring about a saving of one-third on the monthly light bill! Think what a saving that would be! That extra hour at night would also mean that more families could go out riding that are now forced to stay at home.

AERIAL PULLMANS
Anthony H. G. Fokker is now building an air "sleeper" capable of accommodating from thirty-five to forty passengers, the giant plane being designed for flying in the United States. The aerial Pullman, not a rarity in Europe, is virtually unknown in this country. The Fokker "sleeper" may therefore prove an awakening for commercial aviation on this side of the Atlantic.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

George I and English
King George I of England, first of the house of Hanover, could speak no English. He never showed any desire to learn the language of his new kingdom and always took more interest in his native German principality than he did in the British empire.—[Pathfinder.

KHJ HOLDING RADIO INTEREST

Station Maintains Standard of Entertainment

Commercialism, Foe to Many Stations, Missing

Children's Hour Brings Delight to Old and Young

BY UNCLE JOHN

Holding the interest of an unseen audience is the vital problem of ideal radio broadcast. Unceasing and relentless is the demand of the public for new features, thrills and entertainment. Time rushes madly in a broadcast studio. Theaters and vaudeville houses have long runs of the same presentation day after day and week after week. Suppose the Orpheum Circuit was directed to put on four programs daily with different artists, speakers, singers, musicians and players on each program, avoiding all repetitions and duplications. "Impractical and impossible," they would say, yet KHJ, The Times, has been doing this for more than four years, often presenting over long periods of months six programs daily. "How can you keep it up?" is almost a daily inquiry. "Public response" is the answer. Radio was born in the womb of human interest, a child endowed with the spirit of giving. Commercializing of radio is rapidly killing this spirit and hardening the growing child. Interest in radio will depreciate in proportion to this development of commercialism. KHJ holds its audience because the initial spirit of entering homes for the purpose of giving happiness and uplift has been retained. Perhaps this has been best demonstrated in the children's hour. Even there again and again commercialism has tried to creep in.

REACHES HUMAN HEARTS

When Baby Jeanne De Bard, "Little Preacher of KHJ," stepped to the microphone last night, thousands of homes in Radioland broke with smiles and the soft love light of anticipation crept into eyes. Long ago she reached human hearts and has held them close even as a mother clasps a loved one to her breast. The little sermons, prayers and songs of this child have achieved that which is the highest type of success in radio. The same achievement may be attained by singers, instrumentalists, orators with a message and in educational endeavors provided commercialism is not allowed to dominate, crush and squeeze the spirit of radio.

The subject is exhausted and cannot be handled in a daily revue, but it is a joy to know when each day has come to an end that your unseen audience is still with you and that the warmth of gratitude rests in their hearts. "Who is your auditions for the children's hour?" you may ask. "Principally old people, made of retirement and those who have become weary of the relentless commercial greed of this day. Those who love the genuine find it in the acts and voices of the children of KHJ. It is quite possible to broadcast the heart of a child."

JOYOUS JOHNNY

Other participants on the children's hour last night included rollicking, joyous Johnny Downs, the "All-American Boy," in Hal Roach's Our Gang comedies. The enthusiasm of this boy fairly bursts through the microphone. The same vibrancy always brings Joyce Coad, "Little Red Riding Hood," with leaps and bounds when her name is called. More serious little Laura May and Billy Sinclair. To us they exemplify the love of brother and sister and we usually have one follow the other, so that this spirit of juvenile devotion may be carried into the homes. Florence Pollard almost never fails to have one or more of her little pupils on our children's hour, and last night she was represented by Billy Hodges and Marjorie Decker in readings. Robert Levyn demonstrated what a 10-year-old boy can do on the piano.

Then came the brief Scripture reading by Rev. William H. Rodgers, pastor of Mount Olive Methodist Episcopal Church. The Scripture reading is a nightly feature of this station, presenting a different pastor each evening, arranged by Miss Austin, secretary of the church federation, who is to be commended for her unfailing interest.

"Ha! here comes your 'Care of the Baby man.'" We almost heard someone shout at 7:45 p.m. when Dr. George H. Lovell began his talk on "The Foundation of Disease." This feature has been on the air each Thursday night for many months and each talk may be found in full in the next issue of The Sunday Times. Right o'clock at KHJ may be depended upon to bring a resume of news from world centers, baseball scores and sports items. We believe this station has a great following and that people who appreciate the giving of the news, unfailingly also value the high standard of musicianship and repertoire of the Zoellner String Quartet. Last night they played Quartet Op. 3, Gretchaninow, first movement; the brilliant Allegro Vivace movement, and that fine masterpiece for two violins and piano, Sonata in C Minor by Handel. Two movements of this were played by Antoinette Zoellner, with Joseph Zoellner, Jr., at the Knabe. Other favorite numbers included "Reverie" by Arthur Bienbor, and "A Toy" by Haydn. Beautiful was the musicianship in this latter composition by Harriett Andrews, who each Thursday night with her old friend, Mrs. Walter Fisher, accompanying, appreciates the fact that the radio broadcast is a splendid training and her host of friends are noting with deep interest the splendid development of her voice. Light, happy ballads carry the charm of her personality and temperament.

TURNS TO OLD LOVE

Reginald H. Johnson, bass-baritone and a member of the Southern California Edison operating department, has turned in his old swing of endeavor. For many years he was a headliner with Keith and Orpheum vaudeville circuits and spent two years as soloist with Fortune Gallo's English Opera Company in New York. Latterly he has been very popular before the microphone at Southern California broadcasting stations. Returning to his first love, engineering, when he tired of life on the stage, Johnson from mountain retreats of the Edison company carried a whole-hearted appreciation to his co-workers who tuned in especially for him. Mona Content, contralto, added her usual nightly touch of refinement and high standard to the programs last night.

SEEK MORE IN MONEY PLOT

Federal Secret Service Men Search for Spurious Notes and Repuled Coast Counterfeiters

While United States Secret Service Agent Ashe spent yesterday further checking on the activities of the $1,000,000 liquor and counterfeiting ring that was exposed Wednesday with the arrest in Los Angeles and San Francisco of five women and five men, no one appeared before United States Commissioner Head to offer bonds for the quintet held in the County Jail here.

Armed with information that may lead to further arrests before the week closes, Agent Ashe is seeking accomplices.

Thelma Joan Ford and Constance Shockley may be admitted to freedom on $2500 bond each, and Roy Garland, Walter M. Feagan and Earl Bowers are being held under $3000 bond.

Federal investigators yesterday admitted that they have been unsuccessful in tracing any more of the flood of $10 gold notes that the combine released throughout California since beginning operations in June.

It was the purpose of the counterfeit plot to provide enough funds to engage in rum running and beer making on a huge scale, according to purported confessions. Thousands of dollars' worth of the spurious currency was printed and its present whereabouts is the mystery that Federal officers have unsolved.

SALESMANAGER'S FRIENDS TEASE HIM ABOUT BILLS

Walter M. Fagan, general salesmanager of the Electric Corporation, wishes to announce that he is not the man of the same name reported arrested in connection with an asserted counterfeiting and liquor ring. Friends have been telephoning him asking about his supply of $10 bills, he says.

PRODUCTS ARRIVE FOR EXHIBITION

Loads of Southland Goods at Shrine Auditorium for Chamber Show

The cream of Los Angeles' products poured in a seemingly endless stream yesterday into Shrine Auditorium as every entranceway of the big structure was thrown open for the admittance of displays in the industrial and trade exposition, which opens there on Monday for a run of one week under supervision of the Chamber of Commerce.

While President Bent of the chamber supervised proceedings in person, hundreds of trucks, bearing property valued in excess of $1,000,000, discharged loads of machinery, merchandise, food products, jewelry, costly apparel and other items from the workshops of Los Angeles, which are expected to cause the buyers of the West to "stop, look and listen."

As the installation of exhibits went on, fifty fashion models, who are to participate each night of the exposition in what is announced as the finest style show ever held in Los Angeles, donned their costumes and rehearsed "The Fashions and Follies of 1927." The show is to be the amusement event of each evening of the exposition and will be given in Shrine Theater, adjoining the exhibit halls.

Intensive reception plans are expected to be put into practice tomorrow when the first out-of-town buyers arrive for the exposition. Invited to the number of 7000 and almost that many acceptances having been received, the group will be met at rail stations by chamber committees headed by Paul D. Howse, entertainment chairman.

Howse also has been made responsible for the entertainment of the public, which will be admitted at 3 p.m. daily. His plans include band concerts, singers, dancers, motion-picture stars and numerous other features.

Children Will Eat but Dad'll Walk to Work

Henry D. Salveter, Judge Gates agreed, "has got to eat."

But so, the court held, have all the little Salveters.

And, furthermore, Judge Gates ruled, it is not at all necessary that Salveter ride.

So, by the order of the court, all the Salveters will eat, and no one will ride, because the Salveter automobile is to be sold by the Sheriff.

Salveter was before Judge Gates yesterday charged with failure to keep up an order for the support of his children.

"But judge, I've got to eat, or I can't work, and in the last two weeks I made only $37," he protested.

"Did you spend it all on food?" Judge Gates asked.

An informal audit of the fate of the $37 disclosed that all but $14 of it had gone to repairs on Salveter's automobile.

"Why, this is easy," Judge Gates declared. "We'll just have the Sheriff sell the car, and that will cut down expense and bring in some funds besides. And, unless you shall have paid Mrs. Maude Salveter, plaintiff, the sum of $50 by the 28th inst., we'll have the Sheriff take you in charge, too. These children must eat, no matter who walks."

ACTING MAYOR SIGNS DOG-LEASH MEASURE

Acting Mayor Workman yesterday signed the ordinance adopted by the City Council on Wednesday providing that dogs shall be restricted to the premises of owners or on leash when not on the owners' premises. The ordinance will be published tomorrow and will become effective on September 14, unless the threatened referendum or court action is invoked by those opposed to the measure. Health department officials declare that the ordinance will reduce the number of persons bitten by dogs 85 per cent. The ordinance was designed to abate the "stray-dog" nuisance, the Councilmen taking the position that owners of dogs should be willing to keep their dogs on the premises and under control at all times.

JURY SAYS GARAGE OWNER HAD LIQUOR

Ralph E. Smith possessed a key which fitted both his garage and his auto repair shop; the garage, according to police officers, possessed a large quantity of wine, whisky and brandy. Smith, arrested on a charge of violating the Wright Act, denied ownership of the liquor and asserted he had rented the garage to another man. A jury found him guilty. Police officers testified in Judge Edmonds's Municipal Court that they found the liquor in the garage back of Smith's home at 5733 Victoria avenue. The officers said that when they raided the place on July 31, last, they found the liquor in a hidden compartment. Smith will appear today for sentence.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.—Jewish Proverb.

CHILDREN'S UNDERCLOTHES

There are five main general principles in choosing babies' and children's underclothes:

(1.) Smoothness of finish and texture of surface, to protect the skin against irritation; (2.) Reasonable warmth; (3.) Ability to absorb the perspiration; (4.) Weave of such a nature so that the air is not excluded from the skin; (5.) Ability to stand frequent washing.

In a series of experiments conducted by Dr. Harold K. Faber and Fanny Hadden, San Francisco, it was found that knit cotton for undershirts for babies was superior to other materials in practically all important respects, and—this will surprise us—it appears to be definitely warmer than wool, weight for weight. Wool appears to be unsuitable material, since it tends to keep unabsorbed perspiration for a long time in contact with the skin. This is the reason that it is so uncomfortable and causes itching and eruptions on the skin.

Linen mesh holds the heat less than cotton, silk or wool. It wets less well than cotton or silk but can stand boiling better than the other fabrics. For these reasons it may be suitable for very warm weather, but even then it is probably inferior to lightweight cotton goods with an open mesh.

Of the diaper materials, birdseye is probably better than canton flannel.

ORANGE JUICE

Mrs. W.—It is highly probable your baby is on the borderline of scurvy from too little orange juice. Increased in small amounts, a baby can take up to a half-cupful or even more. Take her to a baby clinic or a specialirt if you can. I suggest you send for a list of modern books on child feeding. See answer to Mrs. L. Below.

NASAL DISCHARGE

A constant nasal discharge, especially with a slight bleeding, should put you on guard against nasal diphtheria, and your doctor should be called to take a swab and have it examined for the diphtheria bacillus. Another thing that must be thought of as a cause of persistent discharge in run-about children is some object which they have decided might be interesting if tucked away in their noses.

Mrs. P.'s little nephew apparently had a severe cold, with a purulent (pus-like) running, particularly from one side of the nose. Thinking that firm massage around and on the nose might be good, she massaged it pretty thoroughly. The next morning, as she had him blow his nose, a swollen pussy willow came out!

Mrs. J. had a little bit of woolen yarn left from some work she was doing. This she carefully wadded and tied. It couldn't be found when needed, but several days later when little Helen's apparent cold, with a decided nasal discharge, became very foul smelling Mrs. J. called me. On examination of Helen's nose I found Mrs. J.'s yarn.

Don't forget that anything of a suitable size may find a resting place in children's noses, mouths and ears. Children seem to think that openings in the face are designed by Nature to put things into.

Mrs. L.—We have a list of books on Pre- and Post-Natal Care which you may have by sending a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Ask also for the article on Diet during Pregnancy and Nursing. (Allow two weeks for their receipt.)

Tomorrow. Answers to Correspondents.

My dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose ten cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

DINNER

Ripe Olives

ENGLISH EGG

Select a small, firm tomato. Cut out the stem end and scoop out the seeds and soft center. Sprinkle with salt and turn upside down to drain. Then sprinkle with pepper and finely chopped parsley. Break a raw egg into the tomato, and add salt and pepper. Arrange the prepared tomatoes (not too close together,) in a buttered pan and place in a hot oven for a few minutes.

CHICKEN A LA KING

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and saute in this half of a green pepper, with seeds and midribs removed and chopped fine, and one cupful of fresh mushrooms or canned, carefully peeled and broken in pieces. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until the flour is smooth, but not browned. Add two cupfuls of cream, then put where it will simmer only and cook until the sauce is thickened and the flour thoroughly cooked. Add three cupfuls of cooked chicken, cut in dice, and put the mixture over hot water in a double boiler, beat one-fourth cupful of butter to a cream, add three egg yolks, one at a time, beating steadily. Stir this into the hot chicken and stir carefully until the egg thickens. Be careful not to cook too rapidly, for the sauce should be smooth. Season with onion juice, a few drops of lemon juice, salt, and a half a teaspoonful of paprika. Serve at once on toast.

GRANDMOTHER'S STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

Stem two boxes of strawberries. Reserve one cupful of the nicest berriers for the top of the shortcake. Mash the remainder, add one-half cupful of sugar, and stir a minute to dissolve the sugar. Sift two cupfuls of flour with a half teaspoonful of salt and four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Rub in one tablespoonful of butter, and add enough milk just to moisten. Knead quickly, and roll out in the shape of the pan in which it is to be baked. Brush with milk, and bake in a quick oven for twenty minutes. Pull it apart without cutting—you can do this easily with two forks. Remove a portion of the crumb from the center, butter both pieces, place the bottom on the serving dish, pour over the mashed berries, put on the top, garnish it neatly with the whole berries, dust thickly with powdered sugar, and send to the table with a pitcher of cream.

LETTUCE SOUP

Remove the hearts from two heads of lettuce and reserve for salad. Finely chop the outside leaves and cook in two tablespoonfuls of butter ten minutes. Add one quart of the liquor in which a fowl has been cooked, one-half an onion, two cloves, one-half tablespoonful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and a few gratings of nutmeg. Cook slowly one hour, and add three tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, which have been rubbed to a paste. Cook five minutes, add one cupful of rich milk, let boil up at once, season to taste, rub through a sieve and serve at once.

IVORY CREAM

Scald one pint of thin cream; add three-fourths cupful of sugar and one tablespoonful of gelatin, which has been soaked in one-fourth cupful of cold water. Cool, add one teaspoonful of vanilla, and as it begins to stiffen, fold in one cupful of cream, beaten until stiff. Mold, and serve garnished with whipped cream and use blackberries for both sauce and garnish.

JUDGE'S CURIOSITY HOLDS UP RULING

WANTS TO HEAR MORE ABOUT ALIMONY DELINQUENT'S FAMILY DEBTS

James Armstrong's credit with his family was so strong and his record at paying alimony so weak, according to testimony before Judge Gates yesterday, that the court wanted to hear more evidence and continued his alimony hearing two weeks.

Armstrong was in court on the complaint of his wife, Mabel Armstrong, that he was far in arrears in alimony. Judge Gates asked him how that happened.

"Judge, I'm just living on borrowed money," Armstrong explained. "I borrow money from my brother and I work for him, too. I borrowed $1350 from my mother and she made me give her my note for $2000. I'm so far in debt that alimony is out of the question."

"I want to hear more about these family debts," Judge Gates observed. "Bring your creditors in here two weeks from today."

Within the last year nearly 31,000 emigrants have gone from England to Australia.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Handy Shoe Rack

One Mother Says:

The children's shoes were habitually in a state of confusion on the closet floor, until I devised a shoe rack. I took two triangles of wood. To these triangles I nailed two long boards several inches wide. The shoes, when placed with the heels at the top edge, are held firmly and in plain sight. Now, mismating is avoided and the shoes are always orderly and quite convenient to get.

Excess Funds Make Council's Mouth Water

"What? We have $571,160 lying unspent in the city treasury!" exclaimed Councilman Ash at the City Council's session yesterday, and he proceeded to resolute to the effect that this money might be spent to keep city employees on the municipal pay roll.

"We must find funds to keep these city employees at work," said Councilman Ash. "We could put this money in a revolving fund."

"Yes," said Councilman Criswell, "and you know what happens to our revolving funds—they revolve so rapidly that pretty soon there is no fund left."

The $571,160 discovered by Councilman Ash was contributed to Los Angeles by adjacent communities as payment for linking these communities with the Los Angeles north outfall sewer.

"And do you know that some city districts will soon be connected with county sanitation district sewers and then there will be a place to use this money," said Councilman Colden.

There was no objection to asking the City Attorney if the city could spend this $571,160, and so the information was asked for.

Three Accused in Girl Charges Given Freedom

Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor which were filed against Arthur Chambers and his wife, Loretta Chambers, and G. C. Hatton, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Keeler of Juvenile Court on the ground there was insufficient evidence to justify holding the accused trio for trial.

Chambers and his wife and Hatton were asserted to have given the girl liquor and to have encouraged her to enter into a clandestine relationship with Hatton. It was said, however, that the girl, Dorothy Bond of Venice, had since told juvenile officials that she had helped herself to the liquor, and in view of this statement, Judge Keeler held there was no ground for prosecution.

ORPHANS TO BE FETED BY ELKS LODGE

Big Brothers Will Escort 2500 Children to Beach for Day of Hilarity

Becoming a "Daddy for a Day," the Big Brothers of the Los Angeles Lodge of Elks, No. 99, tomorrow will act as hosts to the orphans in the institutions in and around Los Angeles.

Under the direction of George P. Bradley, chairman of the Big Brother committee of the lodge, preparations are being made to take 2500 youngsters to Seal Beach.

This Big Brother picnic to the orphans has become an annual event among the local members of the antlered herd.

The children will be taken to Seal Beach in the private cars of the Elks, which they are donating for the day, leaving the temple opposite Westlake Park at 8:30 a.m.

Several men have been detailed by Chief Davis from the police department to clear traffic at Sixth and Parkview streets while the children are being loaded into cars at the temple and 100 policemen and traffic officers will form an escort to accompany them to the beach and watch over them during the day.

A portable pulmoter outfit to avert beach accidents will be sent from the fire department by Chief Scott.

The Automobile Club of Southern California is furnishing a patrol car which will be on hand to take care of any mishaps along the way.

An ambulance and emergency equipment will be sent from the County Hospital, and life guards from the Red Cross will be on hand to protect the youngsters from harm.

Dr. James Beggs will be in charge of a miniature hospital, and with the assistance of several other physicians and nurses from the hospitals of Los Angeles will have a remedy for all ills.

The day will be full of picnicking and hilarity for these little folks, some of whom have never seen the ocean. Two bands will liven the hours with music, and all the good things dear to the heart of little boys and girls will be served in abundance.

Packer Urges Improvement Bond Adoption

Passage of the water and power bond issues by the people at the primary election the 31st inst., will assure completion of vital improvements of the city's water and electric systems, H. J. Hauser, Los Angeles packer, declared yesterday.

"The city of Los Angeles must develop its present water resources to their fullest possible extent so that pending the time that we can procure an augmented water supply from the Colorado River, the growth and expansion of the city will not be impeded," said Mr. Hauser.

"To develop our present source of supply and to increase the flow of the Owens River Aqueduct, a total of $6,000,000 is required at once. The remainder of the $10,000,000 water-bond issue is to be used for construction of a number of large water-distributing trunk lines and additional storage reservoirs in Los Angeles.

"The $11,000,000 power-bond issue will assure development of 28,000 addition horsepower of electrical energy from the aqueduct power plants, and will provide for new transmission lines to heavy-consuming industrial areas, as well as other improvements which are an economic necessity."

The Soul of the salad

Just as the dressing is the soul of the salad, so the vinegar is the soul of the dressing.

Vinegar, at its best, should be more than simply a sour taste—it should be flavor, so that it will not only impart a goodness of its own, but also bring out the fine flavor of every food it touches.

Heinz Vinegars are flavor because they are made from the finest ingredients and then aged naturally for over a year in wood. Long aging gives them a mellowness, aroma and body which quickly prepared vinegar cannot have. You cannot hurry good vinegar along

A Unique Soap

That's why, on expert advice, thousands are gaining the charm of natural loveliness through this simple daily rule in skin care

THERE are many places where experiment is safe. But not with the complexion. To endanger one's pretty skin is a folly.

Before Palmolive came women were told, "use no soap on your faces." For soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty soap. A soap made by experts in skin care for one purpose only—to guard youth and charm. A soap made to be used freely, lavishly on the skin.

It changed the beauty situation throughout the world. It supplanted artificial beauty methods by the score. World's authorities widely urge it. The thousands of pretty skins you see today are largely due to it.

This simple daily rule to natural skin beauty

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

COOGAN AFFRAY ENDS IN SUICIDE

Fatal Deed Comes as Sequel to Wounding of Guard

A rambling message scrawled across the face of a postcard mailed at Tecati, a Mexican border town where liquor flows freely, and addressed to Jack Coogan, Sr., father of Los Angeles' juvenile screen actor yesterday led to the end of the trail for H. Everett Shipley, known as Don McCrea, former chauffeur for the Coogan family who has been sought by police in connection with an early-morning gun battle at the Coogan home that may result in the death of Joseph Block, special watchman for the Coogans at 673 South Oxford avenue.

Shipley's body with a rifle bullet wound in the head, was found late yesterday afternoon in a garage on the Coogan ranch, fifteen miles from Campo in San Diego county. The discovery was made by Detective Lieutenants Condaffer and Hickey of Central Station who had been sent to the Mexican border to prosecute the search for Shipley.

MESSAGE RECEIVED

The local officers were rushed to Southern California following receipt of a postcard by the Coogans bearing a message to the effect that if the Coogan ranch was searched, Shipley would be found there "cold," according to Capt. Bean, in charge of the homicide squad at Central Station. The message was signed "Don" and comparison with specimens of Shipley's handwriting convinced the officers that the fugitive chauffeur was the writer of the message.

Shipley, who had been discharged as chauffeur for the Coogans, was wanted by police following an early morning revolver fight at the Coogan home in which the special watchman, Block, received wounds that are expected to prove fatal. Police investigation, according to Capt. Bean, definitely established the former chauffeur as the man who had engaged in the gun duel.

Block, the injured watchman, declared to police following the fight that he had surprised a man hiding in the shrubbery at the Coogan home at an early morning hour and that the man had opened fire on him when he sought to ascertain his identity and reasons for being there. Shipley had been discharged and reemployed by the Coogans several times, according to the police, and was believed to have plotted the shooting of one of the members of the family. Later it was learned that Shipley had been seen near the Coogan residence a short time after the shooting.

INQUEST TODAY

On the 10th inst., Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray issued a complaint charging attempt to murder against McCrea and recommended that he be held under $10,000 bond if apprehended.

Following the gun fight at the Coogan home, special police guards were placed about the Coogan residence and the home of Jackie Coogan's uncle at 1357 North Wilton street.

According to Detective Lieutenants Condaffer and Hickey, who discovered the man's body, he apparently had been drinking heavily, a belief substantiated, police say, by the scrawling writing on the postcard.

Shipley leaves a wife and two children at hi sold home in Tipton, Iowa, according to Capt. Bean. They have been notified of the man's death.

An inquest will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at San Diego, it was learned last night, and the local officers will remain for the inquest.

ANGRY GIRL USES SHOTGUN

Asserted Annoyer and Friend Found Outside of House After Birdshot Take Effect

The loud bang of a shotgun disturbed the early morning silence in the vicinity of 879 East Fifty-second street yesterday and brought Officers Dymond and Underwood running.

They found Fred Clement, 41 years of age, of 280 K street, San Bernardino, and Leonard De Vos of the same address, outside the house, and Marie Leonidas, 21, inside. Clement had received part of a charge of birdshot in his hips and explanations were asked.

Mrs. Leonidas declared that Clement had climaxed a long series of annoyances of her by flashing a flashlight through her window, and she had fired at him because she feared he was going to enter the house, the police report. Clement was taken to Receiving Hospital and transferred to the General Hospital, but his injuries are not expected to prove serious.

Mrs. Leonidas was arrested for investigation and Vos was held as a witness.

WOMAN DIES WHEN HIT BY TOWED CAR

Child at Wheel of Auto That Causes Fatality on Santa Fe Springs Road

Mrs. Jennie P. Acias, 70 years of age, was killed yesterday on Santa Fe Springs road two miles south of Whittier, when she was struck by a car that was being towed.

The towing car was driven, Deputy Sheriffs Croushorn and Amstein said, by J. A. Gillespie, a Union Oil employee at Santa Fe Springs, and the towed car had at its wheel Gillespie's son, 12.

Mrs. Acias's grandson, also struck by the car, suffered only slight injuries. The woman's body was taken to the White & Emerson undertaking rooms at Whittier.

CAFE NOTES

With the announcement that June Marlowe, popular, petite and charming Warner Brothers star, would this week personally present a Marlowe trophy to the winning contestants, tonight's dance contest at the Greenwich Village Cafe has assumed a very interesting aspect to cafe goers.

The Village's Friday night dance contests have become almost an institution in Hollywood. In addition to the many terpsichorean artists with which this fair city abounds, and who regularly include the Village in their cafe itinerary, one is certain also to find a number of prominent personages from the film colony who have come to watch their favorites perform or to pit their own dancing skill against the others.

Jimmie West's orchestra is still furnishing the type of music which has made the contests so popular and Silly Emerick, pianologist extraordinary, continues to delight his audiences with his self-accompanied "blues" and popular songs, as does also Clarice Mayer, in her specialty dances.

Moreover, the management has promised something new in the way of entertainment, so all in all this night at the Greenwich Village promises to be a successful evening.

The studio screen writers will hold their weekly celebration at the Hollywood Montmartre this evening when "Scenario Writers' Night" will be celebrated. Charlotte Stevens, screen actress, will be the guest of honor and entertain a number of film luminaries.

One of the features of the evening's entertainment will be the scenario writers' dancing contest in which a number of prominent scribes of film dramas will try for the Montmartre loving cup, which is to be awarded to the winning couple. Miss Stevens will judge the dancing contest and will also award the prize.

A special musical program has been prepared by Proff Moore, leader of the Montmartre orchestra, who also will present several high-class vaudeville acts as additional features of the entertainment program.

The regular week-end fashion show matinee dansant will be held Saturday with the Himland frolic scheduled for Saturday evening.

A musical program of classical numbers will be played by Gino De Verdi and his Russian orchestra Sunday evening.

Two life memberships in the Sea Breeze Beach Club, the beautiful new Santa Monica club, will be given to winners of next Sunday night's dancing contest at the Plantation.

In addition to the Sea Breeze Club membership, a beautiful trophy will be given as second prize to the next best couple.

The Europa Cafe at 627 South Vermont avenue continues to hold the esteem of the cafe patrons who favor Italian and French cooking.

Experienced cooks and attentive service add greatly to the desirability of this restaurant, which maintains both table d'hote and a la carte service from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Journalism to be New Activity of Playgrounds

A new and unique playground activity was inaugurated yesterday by the Los Angeles playground and recreation department in the organization of a Playgrounds Press Association, the members of which are boys and girls of the various city recreation centers who are to be given a course in journalism. The new class of reporters is of high school age.

Eleven of the larger playgrounds of the city are represented, each by a boy and girl, in the first class, which will meet twice a month in the executive offices of the playground department.

A model and practical playground, where children can be accommodated with recreational facilities while parents are busy elsewhere will be installed in Shrine Auditorium next week by the playground and recreation department as a feature of the Industrial and Trade Exposition.

The area will be replete with slides, swings, teeters, rocking horses, sand boxes and other paraphernalia. A playground director will be in charge at all times and children, not babies, however, can be left with assurance of plenty of fun.

Councilman's Assessments Stand Cheered

Councilman Criswell was applauded by property owners at yesterday's session of the City Council when he declared his opposition to any improvements which provide that the assessments which should be paid by the park, playground and library departments, are spread over a district not fronting on the improvements.

"I shall continue to oppose these assessments on property owners to pay bills these three departments should pay whenever assessments of this kind are presenetd to the Council," said Councilman Criswell.

A similar stand was taken by Councilman Hall, so action on denying the protests against the improvement of Queen Ann Place was continued for three weeks. On this improvement there is a playground and the plan provides that a large district is to be assessed about $10 a lot to pay the playground department's $5000 paving assessment.

SAWTELLE MAN HELD FOR ASSERTED THEFT

Charged with violation of the Dyer Motor Vehicle Act, Marion L. O'Neil, 24 years of age, of 1665 One Hundred and Eighth street, Sawtelle, was arrested yesterday by Assistant Captain of Detectives Evans and Detective Lieutenant Stevens of the Sawtelle Division. According to police, O'Neil is a'd to have been employed by Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, 1673 One Hundred and Eighth street, Sawtelle, to drive them to Tacoma. There, it is charged, he took the car and drove back.

AVOCADOS
Are Easy to Raise
and Much More Profitable than any other fruit product

An investment today in Proved Avocado Land—while acreage can be bought at relatively low prices—should assure an income for life.

Good agricultural land in Southern California (which destiny decrees shall be the world's greatest empire) is becoming more scarce every day. Men of vision know this and are constantly increasing their holdings in California income agricultural lands.

Avocado Acreage Is Limited

In some sections are good soil which is well adapted to the culture of Avocados and citrus but can never be so utilized because it is not and never will be irrigable. In other sections, where nature has given every advantage demanded by Avocados they will not be grown because of frost and wind conditions.

Edwin G. Hart, Inc., own and control approximately 50% of the Proved Avocado land in Southern California—in three great, rapidly-growing and frost-protected districts. Two of these are situated in one of Los Angeles' most fascinating and nearby suburban districts, and the third in a new agricultural empire in northern San Diego county.

Each district is a Proved Avocado producer where now are some of the most profitable and flourishing groves. Nature has provided every requisite for success—which rapidly follows in the wake of man's effort in these districts.

Land Easy to Acquire

You can buy from two to ten acres (or more) in any one of these districts for a small payment down (one-fifth cash) and the balance in five equal annual payments.

It is more than probable that your land, soon after planting, will enhance in value anywhere from 100% to 300%. If you so desire this company will plant, cultivate, harvest and market your product at a small cost for an indefinite period of time.

This service has made a big appeal to professional people, business men and women and non-residents who realize the wonderful future of the industry but cannot themselves do the agricultural work.

HE FIRED A BULLET INTO THE AIR

And Like the Poem, He Didn't Know Where it Landed Until the Police Arrived and Told Him of Shooting Neighbor, But His Alibi Did Miss Mark

LONG BEACH, Aug. 12.—Dr. F. H. McCarl, 847 Fourth street, suffered a flesh wound in the abdomen, William H. Jones, 67 years of age, was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, and Detective Sergeants Le Barron and Smith had a wild goose chase to Huntington Beach this afternoon.

Dr. McCarl was working on his automobile in his garage when a stray bullet struck him. Police traced the shot to a near-by garage where a man who said he was N. C. Alles, 1150 East Third street, said he had been engaged in an altercation with one Richard Tugwell over the ownership of a car, and that Tugwell had fired three shots at him.

Alles said he would have been killed had he not ducked under a work bench. Tugwell, he said, had gone to Huntington Beach.

Thither the officers went and found Tugwell, who was much surprised by the tale. He produced several witnesses who declared he had been working for several days in Huntington Beach and had been there all day today.

The officers returned and again questioned Alles. They also entered his home, they said, and found some fig wine. When they threatened to take him to the station for this, they reported, he confessed his name really is William H. Jones, and he had fired his weapon just to see how it worked.

The officers said he turned over the gun, which he had concealed under a plank in the house.

SPRING STREET 'SAVING' URGED

Two Movements Launched by Business Men

Bond Issue for Civic Center Area Proposed

Closing of Section Held to Affect Trade

Two movements to save the North Spring-street business district from what was termed "further dry rot" took place yesterday almost simultaneously. One was at a meeting under the joint auspices of the Downtown Business Men's Association and the Building Owners' and Managers' Association in the Chamber of Commerce Building, and the other was at a meeting under auspices of the Central Business District Association at the Alexandria. Calls for both meetings were issued to persons in the North End area.

The joint meeting unanimously adopted a motion calling on the directors of the two bodies sponsoring it to appoint a committee of five to formulate plans to further acquisition of that area within Sunset Boulevard, Main, Hill and Temple streets for civic-center purposes, and to call on the Board of Supervisors to put on the ballot this fall a proposal for a bond issue to finance the same.

CIRCLE PROPOSED

This motion came after Director Whitnall of the City Planning Commission had explained that the commission had just decided to request Mayor Cryer and the City Council to ask the Supervisors to co-operate in this movement. The motion included a request for the Central Business District Association to co-operate in the movement.

The meeting learned that the Civic Center plan contemplates, as explained by City Enginer Shaw and others, a Sunset Circle into which Spring street would be extended along with other streets for a traffic distribution purpose recently announced. The circle would lie a little east of the present intersection of Broadway and Sunset. A number of expressions emphatically urging the laying of a street-car line in the extended Spring street were heard. City Councilman Barnes and Manager Marsh of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation were especially in favor of this.

The extension of Spring street and construction of the circle distributor was advocated before the meeting by Whitnall, Shaw, Marsh, Barnes and others in vigorous terms, including the generally agreed-on statement that "it is the solution to the North Spring-street dry-rot situation."

The Central Business District Association meeting took place in the Alexandria Hotel at about the same hour. It appointed a committee consisting of F. D. Brown, Frank Hill and Edgar Brown to make a survey of the problem and consult with other organizations interested in the district.

There were many expressions at this meeting, as there were at the other, concerning how business in North Spring street has been seriously injured by the closing of Spring street to facilitate the building of the new City Hall. Rentals and property values have seriously been affected by the loss in business, it was asserted by speakers. A. F. Barnard, a consulting engineer, showed how business in the area has been adversely affected.

DIVORCE TANGLE UNWOUND

The tangle of divorce suits, dismissals, cross-complaints and heart-balm actions which arose from Mrs. Helen B. Shirey's desire for freedom and her sudden changes of mind was finally settled yesterday. Judge Hollzer of the Superior Court ended the legal hostilities by awarding Mrs. Shirey a divorce from Dr. Charles W. Shirey, Lankershim physician, and approving the property settlement whereby she is to receive $30,000 in property and an additional $125 a month for the support of their two children.

Last September Mrs. Shirey filed suit for divorce and about two months later received a decree. But early this year she came into court again and asked that the divorce be set aside. She declared at the time that her husband had prevailed upon her to get the divorce against her will. He had informed her, she said then, that he needed a year's marital vacation in order to digest the medical information he had gathered during a tour of Europe, and had informed her that they would be remarried after this vacation.

The decree was set aside only to be followed a short time later by another suit by Mrs. Shirey for divorce. She had changed her mind again, it appeared, and this time accused her husband of being too friendly with a Hollywood widow during the time he was supposed to have been busy digesting the medical information he had brought over from Europe.

Dr. Shirey responded with a cross-complaint, in which he named a Beverly Hills undertaker as co-respondent. At the same time, he filed a $50,000 heart-balm action against the undertaker. But at the hearing yesterday S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Shirey, announced that both the heart-balm suit and the cross-complaint had been dropped and the divorce was granted Mrs. Shirey on the grounds of desertion.

Artist Finds Critic Unsuited Mate for Him

They were married January 21, last, after a brief courtship and separated on July 16, last. In that interval, Keszthelyi indicates in his complaint, he discovered that an art critic is a poor wife for an artist. He asserts that she once accused him of stealing $4000 from her and that on another occasion she ran him out of their home by threatening him with a hot grate. She also remained out until the early morning hours on frequent occasions, he says in the complaint, and when he questioned her she usually responded that it was none of his business and that she was boss of their home. The complaint was prepared by Attorney R. D. Knickerbocker.

WIFE BROKE DISHES BUT WINS DIVORCE

Madeline F. Russell admitted she threw the dishes all over the house. But this outburst, she told Judge Gates yesterday, was entirely the fault of her husband, Sigurd N. Russell, who is also at the helm of the Potboilers' Theater.

"After he had teased me until I was beside myself, he told me to go ahead and rave," Mrs. Russell explained.

So despite the fact that Mrs. Russell broke the dishes, Judge Gates found that she had been cruelly treated and granted her a divorce.

RUGS AND TAPESTRY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Rugs and tapestries valued at $2500 were destroyed yesterday when the garage in which they were stored, at 944 South Westchester Place, was badly damaged by fire, police reported. The garage is owned by W. L. Conroy. The garage was damaged to the extent of $500. An automobile in the garage also suffered damage. The cause of the blaze was not determined.

DUNCAN SISTERS AGAIN

Waver Between United Artists and First National; Belle Bennett to Appear in Fox Feature; Sennett in Studio Rests

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The dickering on the part of First National and United Artists for the services of the famous Duncan sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, goes merrily on.

Just at the present writing it looks as though the little reincarnated Topsy and Eva will throw their p fessional lot with First National, although up to a late hour yesterday, no papers had been signed.

It is known that the sisters have conferred with Robert Leiber, president of First National, and Richard A. Rowland, vice-president, who have just come West. These gentlemen spent yesterday inspecting the new plant at Burbank, and talking over future production plans with John McCormick and M. C. Levee. Mr. Leiber was accompanied by his wife and his two daughters.

James Hall With Bebe

While James Hall bemoaned the fact when he first came West for Paramount that he was not at once put to work, nobody hears him complaining now. Ever since he played opposite Bebe Daniels in "The College Flirt" he hasn't had a day to himself.

JAMES HALL

Now having nearly finished the lead opposite Pola Negri in "Hotel Imperial," he has already been tentatively cast to play opposite Miss Daniels in her next picture, "Stranded in Paris," on which work will shortly be commenced, and during the filming of which the star will visit Paris.

—o—

Belle Bennet in It

As a self-denying mother, Belle Bennett simply has no rest in the movies these days.

Ever since Miss Bennett made her notable hit in "Stella Dallas," the producers won't give her any vacation from work. Even though she has just bought a lovely new home, she has no time to spend on the decorating of it.

The very latest dotted line on which Miss Bennett has put her delicately limned John Hancock is one at the end of a Fox contract, by the terms of which she will play the role of Ellen McHugh in "The Story of Mother Machree," which John Ford has so appropriately been assigned to direct. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president of Fox films. Rida Johnson Young wrote the story, which is eloquently described by the sympathetic mimeograph of the Fox press department as a "dramatic and powerful work dealing with mother love and self-denial."

Buck Jones Celebrates

Though we must apologize for being a day late in recording the event, still it is a matter of note that Mr. and Mrs. Buck Jones celebrated their eleventh wedding anniversary on Wednesday, the 11th inst.

The romance of the cowboy star and his wife began under the big top of a circus when they were both star riders with one of the leading circuses. In fact they were actually married seated a-horseback after a show, at Lima, O. They have one daughter, Maxine, 8 years old.

Buck and his wife rushed home for their celebration from Wyoming where they have been vacationing for the last two weeks. Buck was a guest of honor at the Cheyenne Frontier Days celebration. After the Cheyenne round-up, the cowboy star looked over a 3500-acre cattle ranch at Duboise, Wyo., which he is now planning to purchase.

Pollard's Next

Universal is loading "The Big Gun" for production under the direction of Harry Pollard, upon the latter's completion of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

E. J. Montague, head of the scenario department, is in Washington with Richard Barry, author, making arrangements with the Department of War for the filming of the story in connection with the American Navy.

—o—

Busy in Two Places

It never rains but it pours, as the quaint saying is, and now Kathleen Key is finding it out.

Miss Key is playing the lead in a Goldstone Production called "College Days," which Richard Thorpe is directing. After that she is to play the feminine lead in "The Desert Toll," which Cliff Smith will direct, with Francis MacDonald as the star. For the latter picture Miss Key will depart with the company for Utah, to work on location.

Away He Would Fly

Walter Merrill, who is to play opposite Helene Costello in "What Happened to Father," for the Warners, is looking forward to making his home here. His father and mother are to come west, and he is going to buy a house, he says.

WALTER MERRILL

In the meantime Merrill is much interested in sports, his latest fad being aviation. He has taken several flights, and is going to learn to run an airship or know the reason why.

The attractive young actor was formerly a business man in Miami, Fla., but got a taste of the films via some comedies, and has lately been signed by the Warners.

Sennett's Annual Vacation.

September 15 has been set as the date for the annual vacation period of the Mack Sennett studio, according to announcement today from John A. Waldron, general manager of the studio.

With the completion of four more two-reel comedies, Mack Sennett's output for Pathe's 1926-27 program will have been completed, and the comedy plant will close its gates for a short period.

The Sennett program for the current season includes Ben Turpin and Alice Day, starring comedies, Billy Bevan and Madeline Hurlock, two-reel features, the all-star Sennetts, and the new series of domestic comedies featuring Raymond McKee, Ruth Hiatt and little Mary Ann Jackson as the family named Smith.

The Sennett stars and players are buying railroad tickets by the yard in preparation for their holiday. Madeline Hurlock will leave for her home in Maryland early next month. Alice Day is eagerly planning her first trip to New York. Ben Turpin is looking forward to a continuation of his honeymoon, which was interrupted by work. Raymond McKee will make his holiday getting acquainted with his new son and heir, and Billy Bevan intends to rest up on his Escondido ranch. Danny O'Shea, Ruth Hiatt, Ruth Taylor, Andy Clyde, Vernon Dent and others are all going somewhere.

The directors, Eddie Cline, Alf Goulding, Del Lord and Earl Rodney, are too busy working to finish their scheduled pictures to make any plans for themselves.

Hazel Deane in Drama

How these sweet-girl graduates from the comedies do come to the fore in drama, to be sure. Hazel Deane, another young miss from Fox Sunshine comedies, has just been signed to portray the featured feminine role in "Person John Smith," according to announcement made by Harry B. Brownson, president of the newly formed organization called the Brunswig Productions. The story is by an unknown author, and was purchased by Brownson during a recent trip to England.

Several water-front scenes are to be taken in San Francisco, and Miss Deane departed yesterday for the northern city, where the entire company has been awaiting her arrival. The company has leased space at Universal City.

Ruth Clifford Writes

Even though at her favorite recreation of fishing, Ruth Clifford cannot forget her art.

"Wish I were with you," writes Ruth from June Lake, reversing the usual "Wish-you-were-with-us" bromide. "While we are having great fun, I'm very anxious to return to work at the studios. Yesterday our party, consisting of Henry B. Walthall and his wife, Bobbie Vernon and Mrs. Vernon, Jimmie Cornelius, my husband, and I, accompanied by our cook and packer, made the difficult trip to Garnet Lake on horseback. We were four hours on the trip, traveling over mountains and ledges at a height of 11,200 feet. At times the paths our horses trod were no more than eighteen inches wide. A slip meant a fall of several thousand feet. I've never had chills race so furiously up and down my back."

Miss Clifford reported quite modestly at the very end of her letter having hooked and landed an eight-pound steelhead trout. She expects to return to Los Angeles the latter part of this week.

Battle to Oust Brickyards Up in Council Today

Property owners in the Chavez Ravine section near Elysian Park are expected to appear in large numbers at a meeting of the City Council this morning to urge the adoption of an ordinance prohibiting brick manufacturing plants in that district. For several years property owners have been trying to oust the brickyards there.

A long conference on the matter was held at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, in which the Chamber of Commerce suggested the controversy be compromised by the brickyards being given three years to move. Representatives of the yards finally agreed to accept a two years' stay if the ordinance providing for immediate removal was not adopted.

Property owners present would not agree to a compromise, however, declaring they have been struggling for years to get the brickyards out of the district and now want immediate action. They complained of clay blasting and odors as being injurious to health and comfort.

CANADIANS WILL DANCE

All former Canadians and residents of other British Dominions are invited to attend an entertainment and dance to be given at the auditorium of the States Societies Club, 1137 South Hope street, tomorrow evening. A special program has been arranged.

A New Day Dawns for the Sick

Electricity Is Life!

THIS amazing scientific conclusion has thrilled the entire medical world — it has rendered obsolete many heretofore well-established therapeutic practices. The discovery that universal matter which, of course, includes the human body, is composed of countless electric charges, so-called electrons, and that universal energy, the motivating force of all creation, is nothing more or less than electricity in a state of flux, has engaged the attention of savants the wide world over, and has fired an entirely new train of thought on the subject of disease among human beings, its cause and its cure.

A Pioneer Investigator Burton Robert Charles, was one of the first to realize that electricity and life were one. Twenty years ago he commenced the study of disease from this point of view. Throughout the time which has since elapsed, he has been constantly at work proving his theory by the trial of countless experiments in the laboratory, and by actual practice on living subjects who have come to him for help.

Charles Treatment of Disease Quite New! At last, Burton Robert Charles knows he is justified in offering a new and marvelous form of treatment to all who are afflicted with disease or disorder of any kind. This treatment is a combination of electro-magnetism (flowing electric energy), radio-activity (radium emanations), and temperate heat (electrically generated). These three therapeutic agents are embodied in one appliance which Charles has named the "Perfectocoil".

The "Perfectocoil" Demonstrates Natural Laws Scientific principles are embodied in the "Perfectocoil". If the opinion of the world's most eminent scientists, as to what constitutes life and energy, is right, then the Charles method of treating disease, through the use of the "Perfectocoil", must also be right!

Charles Treatment Is Very Pleasant No drugs—no pain—on exertion—no nerve-racking clinical examinations—no loss of time from work—no fixed and oppressive rule of action—no steady drain on the pocketbook.

Beware of Imitations There are appliances on the market similar in appearance to the "Perfectocoil". Such imitations are advertised and offered for sale by business men who recently saw an opportunity for profit in the work being done by Burton Robert Charles, and who now attempt to produce an appliance like the "Perfectocoil" without first mastering all of the vital principles involved.

CARR AND LAMBERT A RIOT AT GROVE

"Partners Again" Is Hilarious Fun of the Good Old Obvious Kind

BY HERBERT MOULTON

Dutch comedians and Irish comedians have come and gone, but the Hebrew funsters go on forever.

Such is the case, at any rate, if the audience reactions to the antics of Alexander Carr and Eddie Lambert are to be taken as a sign.

They appeared last night at the Orange Grove, where "Partners Again," disclosing the latest commercial activities of the well-known Messrs. Potash and Perlmutter, was presented to an audience that apparently was fully cognizant of the fact that it was supposed to laugh.

And they did.

I don't know whether they laughed more during the first act, or the second, or the third. There was no way of telling. It was too continuous for that. More continuous, in fact, than any show I have witnessed in years.

"Partners Again" has that happy ability to create infectious mirth. It does it to such an extent that many of its situations, which are not of themselves humorous, get laughs solely because they come at moments when it is time to laugh again.

As mirth-purveyors par excellence Carr and Lambert are, of course, the outstanding features of the show. Without them it would probably be a sorry affair, not because of any lack of ability on the part of the other members of the cast, but due to the lion's share of the interest accruing to the characters of Abe Potash and Mawruss Perlmutter.

Lambert was the surprise of the show as Potash. His performance was not by any means flawless, nor, for that matter, were those of any of the others, with the possible exception of Carr.

Lambert, however, so consistently remained in character that one would suspect him of having played the role for years. He made Abe an excruciatingly humorous type at times and brought out a real humanness at others.

This is, I understand, his first attempt in this line of theatrical endeavor and after viewing his performance the question naturally arises: Why has he been clowning around all these years?

Carr, of course, lends a great deal more finesse to his work. He depicted Mawruss for years in the East, with the late Barney Bernard as his partner in commerce. He does not provide as many guffaws as Abe, perhaps, but he deftly paves the way for them.

"Partners Again," as almost everyone knows by now by virtue of its having recently been made into a motion picture, reveals the Jewish duo amid the trials of an automobile agency business and later involved in the machinations of automobile manufacturing. That this provides the principal source of humor is apparent, especially since it was only lately that the partners were engaged in the more customary clothing industry.

They become the victims of a crook and are all baled up before a government commissioner for criminal conspiracy and a long string of other charges. But although the crash of their manufacturing enterprise has been terrific, they still come out, as befits their racial instincts, with a good half million dollars apiece—and everybody's happy.

The supporting cast is adequate, which is all it needs to be in a piece like this. Several individual performances are quite good, notably that of Allen Connor, as the former "pocket-picker" and ultimate inventor-hero of the plot.

Carlotta Miles, whose chief claim to fame, aside from a certain capitalization of her name in connection with a well-known brand of automobile tires, has been that she began her stage career as a leading woman, is cast as the stenographer-heroine.

Max Pollock is good as Pasinsky, the man who started the partners in the automobile business, and Anne Brody does well in the small part of Rosie Potash, Abe's wife.

Tilly, the hypochondriac, I did not like. No one else did either, though, and I presume she was necessary for a few laughs. Lula Wasley portrayed this picture of weeping womanhood-with-a-perpetual-pain, but it was considerably overdrawn in spots.

Included among those appearing in supporting roles were Oscar Guy Briggs as Schenekman, Harry Shutan, Maurice Cytron, Edward B. Cassidy and Harry Von Meter.

"Partners Again" is a show for which I cannot predict an immediate popular success. It will in all probability take some time for it to catch on, particularly at this season of the year.

At the same time, though, when—and if—it does begin to click, there is every chance that it will settle down to a profitably long run.

COMEDY AFTERPIECE WILL BE SEEN AGAIN

"The Foolies of 1926" will succeed "Amateur Night in New York Twenty Years Ago" as the comedy after-piece at the Orpheum. "Amateur Night" has created such a round of praise and popularity at the Orpheum this week that the artists on next week's bill felt that it was up to them to try an exceed the laughing success of this week, consequently "The Foolies of 1926" were born and rehearsals and preparations are rapidly going ahead in preparation for the opening Sunday.

All of the artists on next week's bill promise to take part and the list on the triple-headline program includes Nick Lucas, Eddie Conrad, Johnny Burke, Al Shaw and Sam Lee, Mickey Daniels and Mary Kornman, Lucille Balentine and her Four Boy Friends and others.

"ON THE STAIRS" HAS THEME OF MYSTERY

"On the Stairs," the mystery drama now playing at the Morosco, is said to have created a great deal of interest in the crystal gazing scene. The story deals with ghosts, haunted houses, India fakirs, a Swami and plenty of excitement. Gavin Gordon as the Swami and Charlotte Treadway as the heiress are seen in the leading roles.

The New York stars who will be seen in "Dancing Mothers" which opens at the Morosco, September 8, will arrive in Los Angeles the first of the week and will have a box party at the Tuesday night performance of "On the Stairs."

HATTON READY TO WORK

Raymond Hatton after spending a pleasant three weeks on a vacation will plunge into the work of making his next comedy with Wallace Beery, "We're in the Navy Now." Betty Jewel will play the leading feminine role in this Paramount picture.

In Playland's Realm

Mary Kornman,

Appearing on the new bill opening at the Orpheum Sunday. Mary will be remembered for her work on the screen as the vivacious little heroine of "Our Gang" comedies.

FORUM ARRANGES PREMIERE

Another brilliant premiere will be chalked up to the credit of Los Angeles tomorrow night, when players of the picture world attend the opening of Lois Weber's production, "The Marriage Clause," at the Forum Theater.

Inasmuch as "The Marriage Clause" is the first picture Miss Weber has directed in a number of years, her associates in the industry are planning to make ther "comeback" an event that will go down in local theatrical history.

The usual battery of generators, lights and motion-picture cameras will be on hand to register the activities on celluloid, so that the remainder of the world may have the opportunity of "seeing how it is done in Los Angeles." The pictures taken tomorrow night will be distributed throughout the world by the Universal Film Exchanges.

Among those who are reported to have secured tickets for the first performance tomorrow night are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. De Mille, Mr. and Mrs. Dustin Farnum, Laura La Plante, William A. Seiter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McRae, Reginald Denny, Francis Marion, Irving Willat, Marion Nixon, Billie Dove, Francis X. Bushman, Mr. and Mrs. William De Mille, Elinor Glyn, Grace Darmond, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Oland, June Marlow, Raymond Keene, Blanche Mehaffey, Melville Brown, Belle Bennett, George Seigmann and a host of others.

Sun Arcs Light Forecourt for Opening Night

An electrical display, one of the greatest which has ever ushered in a theatrical opening, is promised for the premiere with which Sid Grauman will introduce John Barrymore in "Don Juan," the Warner Brothers's classic directed by Alan Crosland, the 20th inst., in Grauman's Egyptian Theater.

The brilliant display which will herald to the outside world through the heavens that the function is on, will be featured by a gigantic fan of colors projecting a titanic rainbow into the sky from a battery of powerful searchlights mounted on the Egyptian roof.

By means of fifty sun arcs, the forecourt of the theater will be illuminated like midday for the arrival of the stars, directors, producers and other studio executives, who have made reservations for the premiere.

A large body of electricians, under the supervision of Frank Murphy, chief engineer of Warner Brothers' studios, is busily engaged preparing the wiring and the array of electrical equipment necessary for the elaborate effect planned.

Marking the first time in the history of the Egyptian, Hollywood Boulevard in the vicinity of the theater is to be completely illuminated for the premiere.

They're to Hang Nicola, but It's Just Publicity

To be "hanged" in front of a big building on a busy corner in a great city is something that most people do not have the pleasure of enjoying as does Nicola, the magician who will be the feature at the Hillstreet Theater next week.

This hanging bee comes as a defy to Chief of Police Davis or Sheriff William Traeger to tie him up in a straightjacket so that he cannot get away while "hanging." At any rate, Nicola throws this defy to any police officer in the country to tie him and hang and then try and keep him. To make good this threat Nicola will appear at noon next Monday in front of the Hillstreet where a scaffold has been erected in front of the Hillstreet Building for the purpose of hanging him.

He will be tied in a straightjacket and hanged from the fourth floor of the building and free himself and issues this challenge to any peace officer of Southern California to try and tie him so that he cannot get away.

GOLDWYN LOANS FRANCES

Frances Marion, said to be one of the highest-paid woman scenarists in America, has been loaned by Samuel Goldwyn to the British National Picture Company to write the scenario for "Mme. Pompadour," in which Dorothy Gish will star. Miss Marion is also working on the scenario for "Chains," which Goldwyn will produce. Her engagement with the British company caused her to leave unfinished the scenario for "The Beauty and the Beast," and Lenore Coffey has been employed to finish the script.

Russian Locale for Florence's First Star Role

Florence Vidor.

Norodin, to test her love, pretends to have been killed. Then follows tense dramatic action. The background for this dramatic story is the atmosphere of the stage, with performers constantly in action.

On the stage at the Metropolitan, Eddie Peabody is seen this week in "Au Revoir, But Not Good-By." Peabody also appears in a classical banjo concert.

Pantages Holds Contest Finals for Best Dancer

Alexander Pantages and Earle Wallace are seeking California's most talented dancer and to the one who is elected at the finals tonight at the Pantages Theater will go the prizes.

Alexander Pantages will offer one week's contract on his circuit of vaudeville and Earle Wallace will offer a life scholarship in his studio of stage dancing. Many other prizes including loving cups and dancer's apparel will be given to the winners.

"Expression" is the keynote of the qualifications and the girl who best expresses herself in the realm of the dance will have the best chance of winning one of the prizes. Preliminaries have been held every afternoon and evening and the finals are to be held tonight—the audience to do the judging in both the preliminaries and finals.

MONTMARTRE SERVICE FOR FOX AT PICNIC

Eddie Brandstatter, cafe owner, has been engaged by Winfield Sheehan, general manager of the Fox films, to have full charge in staging the banquet for the picnic being tendered to all the employees of the Fox studios Sunday. Every employee of the studio, including executives, players, scenario writers, electricians and painter apprentices, will meet on true democratic grounds for the "biggest picnic on earth."

According to Brandstatter, every employee is going to receive the regular de luxe Montmartre service on "picnic day."

GOOSSENS REVEALS ENGLISH CHARM

Mme. Schnitzer and Young Composer Stir Large Audience to Enthusiasm

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The British folk-songs of Delius and Grainger conducted by Eugene Goossens, brilliant young English composer, were the keynotes of the successful concert at the Hollywood Bowl last night. Germaine Schnitzer contributed to the enjoyment of the evening by a scintillant performance of the time-honored Tschaikowsky concerto in B flat minor.

Goossens has that essential requirement of first-class conductors, an absolute knowledge of his scores. Being himself a composer of high rank other composers are in good hands when he wields the baton. There is no slighting of phrases, no slurring of rhythms. He is young in his enthusiasms and his conducting has that virility born of love and understanding of music for its own sake. Dignity and a graceful bearing are strong assets in his favor, and although he has been in America four years he has not yet acquired the baneful habit of "showing off."

Opening with the Polonaise from "Eugen Onegin" by Tschaikowsky, brilliantly played, Mr. Goossens followed it with a Dance Rhapsody by an English composer he admires greatly, Frederick Delius. It is not one of the most subtle of Delius's compositions but attractive rythmically and filled with that simple charm of the British countryside which old fork-tunes evoke. Except for the frequency of its repetitions, this number might become as popular as Grainger's "Molly on the Shore," which captivated the audience later in the evening. One felt that Goossens was just the person to give them both the piquant sparkle which made them delightful.

Germaine Schnitzer played the technically difficult Tschaikowsky concerto well. Her rhythms were so clearly defined and her melodic phrases kept so well within bounds that she and the orchestra seemed like one instrument. The orchestra's part in the success of the performance was a large one. The audience recalled the soloist many times.

Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish announced the interesting fact of a benefit concert for the Philharmonic Orchestra fund to be given Monday, the 23rd inst., with Mischa Elman as soloist. It has not been decided who is to conduct as yet, as the orchestra management is waiting for news as to the possible early return of Walter Henry Rothwell in time to participate in the performance, which it is hoped will add a large sum to the benevolent fund of the orchestra he has labored to perfect.

'Fixed' Scales Also Found in Norma's Picture

They are in "The Waning Sex," Norma Shearer's new starring vehicle which comes to Loew's State today.

They are the crookedest and largest, standing thirty feet high, as high as a three-story building, and are manipulated by scores of concealed springs and wires.

Ironically enough, they are the scales of justice, and are used for a symbolic sequence in the picture. But then, if justice is blindfolded, isn't it logical enough to assume that the scales may have been fixed?

The gigantic scales were made in the shops of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, and will appear in a mystifying piece of photography in the picture.

Cost Ran High but Worth It, Gilda Thinks

Gilda Gray says "Los Angeles first," even though it cost her $6000 to say it!

In other words, Gilda appeared in New York a few weeks ago and then insisted on coming to Los Angeles next, before showing in Boston, which meant a jump from one coast to the other and then back again. Otherwise, the tour would have gone from New York to Boston and on through the Middle West to the west coast.

Gilda, however, feels very kindly to Los Angeles. Two years ago she appeared first here on her national tour. As a result of her record-breaking popularity in Los Angeles, she was signed to a motion-picture starring contract by Jesse L. Lasky. She thinks Los Angeles is the greatest city in the world. And when they told her it would cost $6000 for herself and company of twenty-five to make Los Angeles the next stop after New York, she didn't hesitate.

Miss Gray is now appearing at the Million Dollar Theater in person and in her first screen vehicle, "Aloma of the South Seas."

TWO MACLOON PLAYS MOVE INTO THEATERS

"TIP TOES" AND "MADAME X" HAVE OPENINGS HERE NEXT WEEK

Lou. O. Macloon, theatrical producer and Lillian Albertson left for San Francisco last night. Macloon's production of "Cradle Snatchers," which was produced in Los Angeles, will open an engagement in the Golden Gate city at the Curran Theater on Monday.

The producer's musical comedy "Tip-Toes" will come from an eight weeks' engagement in the northern city on Monday. It will be presented at the Mason Theater.

Pauline Frederick in "Madame X," after breaking, it is said, every box-office record in San Francisco, will be offered under the Macloon banner at the Playhouse, starting Tuesday.

ADAPTS FILM FOR PRISCILLA

Anthony Coldewey has just completed the screen adaptation on "Jewels of Desire," Priscilla Dean's next starring picture for Metropolitan. With the signing of the director the supporting cast will be selected and production started in a week or ten days. Miss Dean is now getting her wardrobe together for the production after a short rest following the completion of "West of Broadway."

GLENDALE DITCH TRAPS MAN

Worker Held Prisoner by Cave-in Ninety Minutes With Only Head Above Sliding Sand

GLENDALE, Aug. 12.—Trapped by heavy timbers that fell on him when the walls of the sewer trench on East Broadway caved in this morning, Mack Kupilshe, 38 years of age, was pinned by the legs for an hour and a half while rescue squads worked to bring him to the surface before another sand slide could bury him.

Kupilshe was preparing to come to the surface from the narrow fourteen-foot trench when the timbers cracked beneath the rush of sand that had been dislodged by the traffic alongside the trench, and the ligaments on one leg are so badly torn that he may be permanently crippled.

His brother, Mike Kupilshe, working on the same trench, leaped into the hole and remained there to aid in the rescue at the risk of his own life until Mack Kupilshe was brought to the surface. Twice during the hour and a half that the rescue crews were working it was necessary to send down stimulants to the trapped laborer, and an air hose was led into the trench by the firemen who aided in the rescue in order that Kupilshe might have some means of securing air if a fresh slide occurred.

This is the second slide in the East Broadway trench in the past week, G. Jiminez, a Mexican laborer, having lost his life last Friday at a spot within a few feet of the scene of today's slide.

City Engineer J. F. Johannesen today issued orders to Contractor A. Giebish that all excavations must be timbered and that the trench must be cut open all the way, instead of being tunneled from one pole to another, as at present, in order to avoid any further fatalities.

CULTURAL CURRICULA DEFENDED

Mt. Holyoke College Dean, Visiting in Pasadena, Says Liberal Courses Needed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—Colleges and universities of today devote too much attention to technical and business training and often neglect the so-called liberal or cultural curricula, in the opinion of Miss Florence Purington, dean of women of Mt. Holyoke College, Mass., who is in Pasadena in the course of a trip through Southern California on her way to the Orient.

Dean Purington, formerly president of the National Association of Deans of Women, says Mt. Holyoke is not deficient in this regard.

"I believe," she stated today, "that a business training for college girls is good but the cultural courses should come first."

One of the chief problems facing her college, she said, is that of how to handle the large application lists received every year with the limited facilities at hand. Rather than increase its numbers, Mt. Holyoke is forced to exclude many to preserve the small-college atmosphere.

Miss Purington has been entertained extensively by Mt. Holyoke alumnae during her stay in Southern California. She will leave next week for San Francisco, sailing for Japan with Miss Caroline B. Greene, registrar of the college. They will proceed through the Orient and Europe, returning to this country next winter.

Jury for Trying Ventura Murder Case Selected

VENTURA, Aug. 12.—With unusual speed, the attorneys in the case of Jose Sandoval, charged with murder in the first degree of Julia Lopez on June 27, last, had completed at 11:30 o'clock today selection of the jury which is to hear the case in Superior Court.

That Dist.-Atty. Henderson and Asst. Dist.-Atty. Hollingsworth, who are trying the case for the people, will ask the death penalty, was intimated by their opening remarks to the jury.

Sandoval is charged with shooting down Julia Lopez, with whom he is said to have lived at 130 Meta street, following a jealous quarrel.

The woman died later from a bullet wound through her stomach and liver. She was also shot twice through the breast. In the fray, Sandoval shot himself through the knee and inflicted a wound in the heel of his 2-year-old daughter.

Jose Lopez, brother of the dead woman, arrived on the scene to see the denouement of the quarrel and held Sandoval, who continued to shoot his .32-caliber automatic through his clenched fist until the gun jammed and the officers arrived. Witnesses for neither side will be allowed in the courtroom during the trial, according to an agreement reached by the attorneys.

LARGE OXNARD AREA PUT TO VEGETABLES

OXNARD, Aug. 12.—Two thousand acres of carrots will be planted in Ventura county, this fall. Carrots mature in about five months and Oxnard carrots are in great demand on eastern markets where they usually bring a dollar higher prices than those raised in other sections. Two thousand acres of tomatoes also are being raised here and will be marketed in the east starting the first part of September. There also will be a heavy acreage to beets, lettuce, turnips, cauliflower, parsley, bell peppers, spinach and cabbage. The lima bean crop this year is estimated as 40 per cent larger than last year by Manager Ralph Churchill of the California Lima Bean Growers' Association. He estimates the 1926 crop as 1,100,000 bags, with continued favorable growing weather. Eastern buyers are placing many orders on new crop.

BAKERSFIELD ASSURED CHEAP ELECTRIC RATE

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 12.—Continued low rates for electricity are assured Bakersfield and Kern county residents by means of a vast saving to the San Joaquin Light and Power Company resulting from the connection of the power systems of the Great Western Power Corporation and the San Joaquin Light and Power Company, which will be consummated at a celebration in Merced Saturday evening, according to D. L. Wilson, head of the San Joaquin power company in Bakersfield. The advantages of the alliance will be felt by the local organization and consequently by local people, every year that a water shortage makes it necessary for the company to obtain power from sources other than its regular supply. In times past it has been forced to put the steam plants in operation, an undertaking that places it at tremendous expense.

VENTURA STARTS TO BUILD CONTOUR ROAD

VENTURA, Aug. 12.—A start on the contour road which is to skirt the hills above Ventura has been made on the old high-school property of Giovanni Ferro. A steam shovel has begun working on the west terminus of the road behind the site of the old school, and trucks are hauling the dirt to Seaside Park. Mr. Ferro said the road through his property will be a part of the contour road, and that he is having the work done at present to give impetus to the proposed start soon to be made on the entire project. Mr. Ferro, who is one of the City Trustees, said that actual work on the rest of the contour road for which an initial sum of $17,500 was recently set aside by the board, will be started probably in thirty days.

Thousands of poems have been received and every mail is bringing hundreds. Carrie Jacobs Bond will set the poem to music. The contest closes at midnight the 15th inst. The judges announced today by Harry Ticknor, president of the Tournament of Roses Association, are Mrs. Edward MacDowell, Peterborough, N. H.; Mrs. Aurelia Rinehardt, Oakland; Mrs. Grace Hyde Trine, Hollywood; John Steven McGroarty, Los Angeles, and James W. Foley, Pasadena.

MANY HOGS SOLD IN AUCTION AT HANFORD

HANFORD, Aug. 12.—Four carloads of fat hogs and feeders were sold here today at the weekly auction sale of the California Farm Bureau Marketing Association. Besides the large number of hogs sold, a feature was the large number of consignors, thirty. A large number of feeder hogs were offered, all being sold to other than the original local owners, keeping them on the local production list. The top price for fat hogs here was $14.60 per hundredweight, the same as the Tulare sale this week, while at Visalia the top price of $13.70 for the week was realized. Valley price for feeders was $16.50 for the week at the sale here today.

LANKERSHIM WOMEN START WORK ON CLUB

LANKERSHIM, Aug. 12.—The taking of motion pictures was a feature at the ground-breaking ceremonies at the site of the new Lankershim Woman's Club Building at Vineland and Ensign avenues. Officers of the club turned the first spade of earth for the new structure, to cost about $25,000, and which when furnished will be one of the best appointed women's club buildings in San Fernando Valley. Immediately following the ceremony George Williamson, contractor, set his crew to work preparing for the foundations of the structure. The design of the building is most unique, combining the Hopi Indian type of architecture with the old Spanish mission style.

No papers were attached to it.

BIG TREES GIVEN NEW LIFE LEASE

Final Action on Glendale's Eucalypti Postponed

Petition Against Destroying Bears 2000 Names

Inspection for Soundness to be Conducted

GLENDALE, Aug. 12.—Final action in deciding the fate of the giant eucalyptus trees on Lomita avenue was postponed for two weeks when the City Council today agreed to employ a committee of tree experts to determine whether these trees are sound or whether they constitute a menace to the lives of those in the vicinity.

The action of the Council came after petitions bearing the names of 2000 persons had been received, asking that the action of the Council in ordering the improvement of Lomita avenue be reconsidered and that the bids be rejected, without prejudice to the Council's right to take up the matter any time within six months.

The debate over the fate of the trees lasted for two hours, with Attorney Mattison B. Jones of Glendale and George H. Barnes of Los Angeles, president of the American Reforestation Association, leading the fight for the preservation of the trees, and with O. L. Kilborn, a Lomita-avenue property owner, in the van of the forces seeking the improvement of the street and the consequent removal of the trees. Kilborn declared that the claim that these are the oldest trees of their kind in the United States was unfounded, as accurate information showed that they had been planted in 1876.

Councilman W. F. Tower, favoring the removal of the trees, scouted the worth of affidavits that had been submitted by several forestry experts, including G. R. Gorton, deputy Horticultural Commissioner of Los Angeles county; Spence D. Turner, County Forester, and George H. Cecil, United States Forest Service, to the effect that the trees were sound, declaring that he "would sooner take the word of a woodchopper than of any college professors who sat in their classrooms."

CHECK FRAUD ASSERTED

Anaheim Merchant Files Complaint Against Unidentified Customer

ANAHEIM, Aug. 12.—That several Anaheim merchants were made the victims of a bad-check artist working an old game was reported today when N. W. Martinet, West Center-street hardware merchant, filed a complaint against an unidentified man who passed an asserted worthless check at his store in payment for a lawn mower.

The man, giving his name as Carl E. Wilson, ordered the lawn mower sent to an address on East Valencia avenue, tendering in payment a check drawn in favor of Mrs. C. E. Wilson and indorsed by Mrs. Wilson and signed by Carl E. Wilson on the First National Bank of Albuquerque, N. M., receiving the difference between the price of the lawn mower and the amount of the check in change. The amount of loss was not revealed in the complaint.

H. N. White, another hardware merchant of the city, turned down the sale of a mower to Wilson when the man refused to be identified. It is said that several other merchants were not so careful.

COMES WEST TO BUY FEMALE MOCKINGBIRD

VAN NUYS, Aug. 12.—L. E. Twelling, an auto tourist from Kirkwood, Mo., stopped here today on his way to Los Angeles to inquire if he could buy a female mockingbird. Two years ago, while visiting in California, Twelling picked up a male bird in the fledgling state and carried it back to Missouri. The bird has thrived and is a good singer. Twelling now wants a female bird to take back home again in order to raise some birds of his own. He says his neighbors have been so charmed with the singing of his bird at home that they have asked him to raise several broods and give them around the neighborhood.

BALDWIN PARK, Aug. 12.—The first issue of Baldwin Park's new weekly, the Baldwin Park Progress, appeared today. The paper is being published by Frank M. Colville, former editor of the Puente Journal and who last month resigned as secretary of the Monterey Park Chamber of Commerce to re-enter the newspaper field.

EAGER AUTOIST GLADLY PAYS

Judge Awakened at Night by Violator Who Wants "It Over With"

LA HABRA, Aug 12.—City Recorder Hart doesn't like to be forced to send out bench warrants for violators of the traffic laws, but, on the other hand, he finds that there is such a thing as being too eager to plank down on the municipal counter. Tuesday night the judge was awakened from a sound sleep by Edward Leppeh of Los Angeles, who demanded that he be allowed to settle with the city for an asserted violation of the speed laws. After hearing the details, Judge Hart assessed a fine of $25, which Leppeh paid. He said he was just about to start on his vacation and wanted to dispose of the case.

COLORADO'S DISCHARGE REASSURING

Menace of Water Shortage Temporarily Relieved, But Engineers Prepare Dam

EL CENTRO, Aug. 12.—The menace of a water shortage in Imperial Valley was temporarily removed today when reports received at the Imperial Irrigation District office from the Grand Canyon gauge showed an increase of 3000 second feet in the discharge at that point.

The Grand Canyon discharge yesterday was 8500 second feet and at Needles slightly over 8000 feet. This discharge, after deducting for loss due to seepage and evaporation between Needles and the Imperial Valley intake, would have been barely enough to supply Imperial Valley's needs at this time of the year.

Rains in the upper watershed during the past week and the resulting increase in the river's run-off, however, has for the present removed any danger of shortage.

Engineers for the district stated today that they were prepared if necessary to throw a weir across the channel below the intake and divert the entire flow of the stream into the irrigation system. The report today was so encouraging that it is not considered that the weir will be necessary before the end of the month.

Two years ago water was being rationed out to ranchers in August and September, but last year rains in the headwaters prevented a shortage.

Plans Maturing for Dahlia Show at Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 12.—Plans for Santa Monica's annual California dahlia show, to be held in the municipal auditorium at Ocean Park during the first four days of September, are maturing rapidly, according to M. C. McKenney, secretary of the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce, of which Herman Michael, just elected Mayor of the city on a recall ballot, is president.

Finance Commissioner Frank A. Helton was instructed yesterday by the City Council to purchase a suitably trophy for the grand award. The Santa Monica dahlia show has become an event of unusual beauty and attractiveness because of the profusion of dahlias on display. These superb flowers are said by members of the show committee to grow under ideal conditions in this section of the State, which accounts for the large entry list of blooms noteworthy for mammoth size, wonderful coloring and texture.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR BIG DOG SHOW

LANKERSHIM, Aug. 12.—Plans are now complete for the Lankershim dog show that is to be conducted in the old Bonner cannery building on Friday and Saturday, September 10 and 11. This will be the first exhibit here by the San Fernando Valley Kennel Club, and members expect to convert the event into an annual bench show. Officers of the club already have been assured that 750 dogs of all breeds will be in the coming show, and it is possible that 1000 of the best canines of Southern California may be represented before the final lists are closed. Officers of the exhibiting organization are Mrs. George Lewis, president; Mrs. Lily Elkins, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Brierly, secretary, and Mrs. R. G. Suits, treasurer. These officers, it is stated, are being backed by prominent Hollywood and Lankershim dog breeders, and the most competent judges in the West have been invited to preside and make awards.

STUDENT AT WHITTIER HURT IN AUTO CRASH

WHITTIER, Aug. 12.—Wendall Hunt, Whittier College student and son of prominent residents, is in St. Anthony's Hospital, at Pendleton, Or., with a fractured skull and broken leg, the result of an auto accident, according to a wire received here yesterday. Mr. Hunt and another college man, John Painter, made a nonstop run from Whittier to Boise City, Idaho, leaving here last Friday. They took turns at the steering wheel. At the time of the accident Hunt was apparently alone and was driving a Marmon car en route to Portland to visit relatives. Prof. Milo Hunt, the father, is a member of the local high-school faculty, former secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and prominent in civic and educational affairs. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt left immediately for Pendleton to be with their injured son.

FIGHT FOR CROWN IN PERSIA LOOMS

TEHERAN (Persia) Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—There are indications of interesting developments in Persia in the near future. It is learned from the most reliable sources that Salwar Dowles, the former Shah's uncle, has returned to Persian Kurdistan from Europe in order to put up a fight for the crown. He is supported by his father-in-law, the chieftain of the strongest nomad tribe, and many other influential connections.

TWO ACCUSED IN DEATH

Wealthy Hemet Rancher Charged With Carelessness in Killing of Mexican in Traffic Crash

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 12.—Belief that carelessness was responsible for the death in an automobile accident of Esques Chacon, June 29, last, caused Justice of the Peace Difani today to hold to answer to the Superior Court E. A. Unland, wealthy Hemet rancher, and Stewart R. Gibbs, also of Hemet on charges of manslaughter.

Death of Chacon came when his light roadster went into the ditch on the Idyllwild highway east of Hemet when cars driven by Unland and Gibb attempted to pass him, witnesses asserted at the preliminary hearing today. All three machines were traveling toward Hemet.

In telling his version of the tragedy Gordon Vance, who saw the accident, declared that the automobiles of Unland and Gibbs, moving approximately thirty-five miles an hour, attempted to pass Chacon at the same time. Chacon was on the right side of the highway, he said, Gibbs in the middle and Unland on the outside.

As Unland drew abreast, according to Vance, Gibbs swerved over, striking the rear wheel of Chacon's roadster, which went into the ditch. Chacon's car was badly smashed, the Mexican receiving a basal fracture of the skull from which he died at the County Hospital here the next day.

Delano Named for Community Civic Gathering

DELANO, Aug. 12.—The next community meeting to be sponsored by the Bakersfield Exchange Club will be held in Delano, September 23, as the result of a conference last night in the offices of the club. A large representation from the civic clubs of Delano was present to enter into enthusiastic discussion about the proposed meeting.

Ward Robertson of the Bakersfield Exchange Club presided at the conclave. He was accompanied by C. A. Barlow, president of the club, and Exchangeites Paul Derkum, J. T. Wingate and Herbert P. Sears. Program arrangements were suggested and C. A. Baer was named chairman of a committee which he will appoint in the near future to co-ordinate with the Delano men in the final plans.

Fred Borton was suggested as the featured speaker for the occasion and C. A. Barlow was requested to extend the invitation. Other addresses will be made by representatives from Maricopa, Taft, Wasco and Arvin.

Long Beach Man Leaps to Death From Oil Tower

LONG BEACH, Aug. 12.—L. E. Hoover, Long Beach oil worker, plunged eighty-two feet to his death from the top of an oil derrick in the Signal Hill field here to the derrick floor below. His body was found by fellow oil workers shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. His death, police reports stated, was the result of suicide. The plunge was made some time during thenight, police believe.

Hoover, who is 32 years of age, and lived at 1223 Umatilla avenue, left home yesterday morning after telling his wife he was going to visit a doctor. His failure to return to his home last night caused his wife to report him to the police as missing. This morning Ford Gilbert, 614 Termino avenue, passed the oil derrick on his way to work and discovefed the crushed and mangled body of Hoover on the derrick floor.

OPIUM SUPPLY TAKEN

Arrest of Chinese on Highway May Disclose Smuggling Ring

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 12.—Disclosure of an opium-smuggling ring operating the entire length of the Pacific Coast may result from the arrest of three young Chinese at Greenfield today after searching officers discovered fifteen five-tael tins of opium, valued at $1500, hidden in the car which they drove.

The arresting officers were Capt. Snell, chief of the county traffic squad, and Traffic Officers Clark and Hampton.

The youths declared they were students from Los Angeles and San Francisco, and gave their names as Herbert Wong, Frank Lew and Ivian Joo. They declared that they had been commissioned to drive the car in which the narcotics were hidden, from Fresno to Los Angeles.

Immediately following the opium seizure Federal authorities were notified and Federal Agent Scholpens rushed to Bakersfield to lead a raiding party at Weed Patch where four more Chinese were arrested with narcotics and an opium-smoking outfit in their possession. They gave their names at the County Jail as Mar Chung, Wong Yick, Mow Sing, and Un Jen.

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 12.—Bernie Edwards, Jack Perkins and James Fernuccin, captured a few days ago by local police and deputies from the Sheriff's office, were before Judge Miller yesterday where they were held to answer to the Superior Court on charges of burglary, bail being fixed at $2000 each. Police charge that they visited several service stations in this territory and stole automobile tires and accessories to the value of several hundreds of dollars. It is stated that they confessed to the asserted thefts. Joe Miller, who is being sought by the officers as a member of the asserted "gang," is said to be the leader.

PIONEER IN NEWSPAPER FIELD DIES

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—Charles Ray, 91 years of age, formerly nationally known as the publisher of the Milwaukee Sentinel, and also a banker of prominence, died early this morning at his Pasadena home, 280 South Orange Grove avenue, where he had lived for twenty-one years. Death followed a long illness.

Mr. Ray, a close friend of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, the Philadelphia publisher, was born just outside New York City January 27, 1835, but removed to Wisconsin with his family when he was 4 years of age. He started his career in Milwaukee in the banking and later the grain business.

After forming the National Exchange Bank in Milwaukee, and acting as its president for ten years, Mr. Ray and a group of associates bought the Milwaukee Sentinel. As its publisher and before he was active in Republican politics and associated intimately with the leading men of that time.

Mr. Ray first came to California in 1887, and settled here permanently eight years later. Mrs. Ray died in 1922, and his only relatives are three daughters, Mrs. Malcolm McCallum of Milwaukee, Mrs. Angus Hubbard of Chicago and Mrs. W. K. Flint of Boston. Mrs. McCallum and Mrs. Hubbard are here now.

Funeral services will be conducted in Milwaukee, the date to be announced later. No services will be held in Pasadena.

SECRETARIES TO QUIT

Pomona Commercial Chamber Aides Plan to Resign

POMONA, Aug. 12.—With the announcement today by A. McCall Smith, field secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, that he plans to submit his resignation to the chamber directors to take effect November 1, and with the possibility that J. M. Paige, secretary of the commerce body, will be appointed to the superintendency of the city parks and playgrounds department upon recommendation of the parks and playgrounds commission, the local body is faced with the possibility that it will be left with the task of filling the important positions in the near future.

In announcing his plans today, Mr. Smith let it be known that he was making the change for monetary reasons only, even though in the event Paige assumed the parks superintendency, he would be advanced to position of secretary at an increase in salary. Smith recently resigned the position of secretary of the Community Chest which he held jointly with the field secretaryship, and at present is devoting his entire time to publicity work for the coming Los Angeles County Fair.

LA VERNE PLANS VOTE ON PARK BOND ISSUE

LA VERNE, Aug. 12.—The city Council last night took preliminary steps necessary for the calling of a special bond election for the purpose of voting funds to purchase and construct a $35,000 municipal park and playground, the date to be set at a later meeting. The Council selected the $21,500 Miller tract as the site of the improvement, upon which an option already has been obtained. If the election carries, La Verne will realize a long-felt desire, giving the city an important improvement, and as far as can be ascertained local sentiment will carry the project to a successful conclusion at the polls.

BUENA PARK CANNERY HANDLES TOMATO CROP

ANT-WAR FUND PLEA PLANNED

Pasadena Building Inspector to File Request

City to be Asked to Pay for Damage Survey

Stated All Buildings With Wood in Them Menaced

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—Chief Building Inspector Walter Putnam plans to go before the Board of City Directors, probably next Thursday, to request an allocation of funds to be used in conducting his projected survey of the exact extent of the ravages of a horde of white ants which are attacking the wooden buildings of Pasadena.

Meanwhile, he is continuing his preliminary investigation, which, he says, indicates that the safety of every building in the city which has wood in its construction is threatened, in some cases even to the point of collapse, unless vigorous countermeasures are taken against the invading insect army.

While Putnam declares that the only proper initial step in the fight against the ants' destruction is a sweeping survey of conditions in the whole city, he said today that the thoroughness of the probe would have to depend largely upon the amount of money granted by the city for the purpose.

When the status of the depredations is definitely established, the building department will be able more intelligently to proceed with its campaign of extermination, the chief inspector says. Hopes for a speedy and final solution of the problem are exceedingly slim, however, as the Federal government has been fighting the same insect in its tropical possessions for many years without achieving a final "cure." Fumigation and similar elementary measures have proved to be fruitless here.

Inasmuch as twenty-four out of twenty-five buildings examined by Putnam have shown evidence of ant attacks, the menace is believed to be very widespread.

CONFERENCE AT END

Young People of W.C.T.U. Close Annual Convention

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—The annual Southern California convention of the young people of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union opened here tonight with a banquet at the Holliston-avenue Methodist Church, attended by youthful representatives of the organization gathered from various parts of the Southland.

A strong plea for enforcement of all phases of the prohibition laws was made in the chief address of the evening, delivered by Rev. S. T. Montgomery, president of the Anti-Saloon League of Southern California.

Lum Trusty of Pasadena, State president of the young people's branch of the W.C.T.U., was toastmaster at tonight's affair which was devoted largely to social and entertainment features.

The conference, which closes Sunday evening, will be addressed tomorrow night by Mrs. Eva Wheeler, State W.C.T.U. president, and by Charles H. Randall, president of the State Enforcement League. Dr. Sara E. Wise will speak tomorrow morning on "Making Good."

Saturday afternoon there will be a picnic at Brookside Park and Saturday night, a religious playlet will be presented at the Holliston-avenue Methodist Church.

ELOPERS WIN OVER PARENTS BY HOUR

SANTA ANA, Aug. 12.—One hour's start over the bride's irate parents was enough margin for Enrico Valadez, 30 years of age, of Walnut, and Rosa Revera, 15, of Monrovia, when they eloped to Santa Ana this week. When Papa Revera discovered that his young daughter had fled with Valadez against his wishes, he notified the police, who in turn notified all of the county seats in Southern California to refuse a license to the couple. The warning came to Santa Ana an hour after the runaways had obtained a license here. The girl's age was said to have been misrepresented as 18, while Valadez posed as a young Lothario of 21. The police have not yet been able to locate the honeymooners.

POMEROY DECLINES POST IN OAKLAND

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 12.—Although Hugh R. Pomeroy of this city, secretary of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, has received a flattering offer to accept a similar position with the city of Oakland, he announces that he has decided to decline the offer. Mr. Pomeroy has charge of the planning work in Los Angeles county, with many of the projects under way, and he states that he will not be doing the county nor himself justice in leaving this work undone.

PLANE RESCUER COMPLETED

New Invention for Use by Falling Aviators Ready for Test Drop at Inglewood on 24th inst.

INGLEWOOD, Aug. 12.—A gleaming airplane of steel gray, upon which may hinge the future of aviation and which holds in its trim cockpit the balance of fortune for Harry D. Doucett, young navy inventor, was completed at San Diego today and was submitted to preliminary grooming for the trial test of "Wings"—giant parachute designed to save disabled planes—scheduled for Inglewood the 24th inst.

This was the word received here today by LeRoy Dixon of the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce, who is in charge of plans for the demonstration. After forty-eight hours of tuning and adjustment, the machine will be ready for the apparatus which, authorities claim, will revolutionize flying, if successful. The apparatus, called "Wings" in honor of the Paramount photoplay soon to go into production, consists of a giant parachute or "air cradle," carried in the tail fuselage of the machine and released by means of a lever in the cockpit. Air pressure forces it into inflation up to a point of suspension at the balance point of the plane, where it acts in a way similar to the parachute of an individual in floating the entire plane to earth.

Harry D. Doucett, enlisted man in the service of the United States Navy and stationed in the overhaul department at North Island, San Diego, conceived the idea. He is being backed by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

R. Carl Oelze, formerly a naval pilot, will make the test flight. Oelze is now in San Diego, and will supervise the conducting of the "dead weight" test scheduled for that city Saturday. In order to ascertain the strength of the giant parachute "Wings," it will be hurled from a speeding torpedo plane while attached to a 1000-pound weight.
